Groups Hear Science Talks

LAKEVIEW—Science classes in the Lakeview High School, local organizations such as the Parent Teachers Association, the Rotary Club, Links Club and Soroptimists are all taking advantage this week of the visit of Albert G. Heppie, who is presenting special lectures and demonstrations under the sponsorship of the Atomic Energy Commission and the National Science Foundation.

Heppie is one of seven traveling teachers touring schools in several states. His mission is to stimulate student interest in science and scientific careers, but, as he stated, not to the exclusion of other phases of education.

In the classrooms at the high school this week he is demonstrating the "Use of Radio Isotopes in the Classroom." He is working with the science instructors to show apparatus which can be inexpensively duplicated for school work. Approximately 90 persons attended the PTA meeting Tuesday evening to view the demonstrations. The general public had advantage of his program at a meeting in the high school auditorium Wednesday evening.

This is the sixth in a series of 28 high schools that the traveling teacher is scheduled to visit. His home teaching position is in Sonoma, California, where he is instructor in chemistry and physics.

Housing Aide Gives Talk

DUNSMUIR—Steps toward qualifying for an urban redevelopment grant were outlined for Dunsmuir's Redevelopment Committee and members of the planning commission and city council by Dick Mitchell, representative of the Federal Housing Home Finance Agency on Monday evening.

Age and obsolescence account for most blight problems, Mitchell told the group assembled for a dinner meeting at the Mt. Shasta Ski Bowl Lodge.

Following a survey of the community needs on the basis of upgrading neighborhoods and the adoption and enforcement of building and housing codes, Dunsmuir should outline a program and set deadlines for certain goals, he suggested. Federal assistance with financing will then be available, Mitchell told the group. Mitchell was introduced by Francis MacEneaney, chairman of the Dunsmuir urban redevelopment committee.

RED STRIKES COSTLY LONDON (UPI) — Conservative P. W. Fairley-Jones told Parliament Wednesday night that Communist labor leaders cost Britain about 14 million dollars in strikes this year.

District was given recently by the Yreka Parent Teachers Association.

Adair Wilson, former mayor of Yreka and a past president of PTA, related the history of the present district from 1919, when the Yreka High School was destroyed by fire and Fort Jones joined Yreka to construct new schools. He said that the "situation has changed from early days when taxes from each area paid for its own schools."

He stated that Sen. Randolph Collier was author of a bill to make Yreka's secession from the district possible.

In accordance with Collier's bill, an attendance area with 17 million dollars or more in assessed valuation may request an election for withdrawal, after 10 per cent of the voters in the elementary district in which the high school is situated petition for an election. Following this, the approval by 31 per cent of the registered voters in the entire attendance area must be secured.

Robert Reynolds, superintendent of the Yreka Union Elementary School District, outlined the financial side of the secession, indicating that had the Yreka area been separate last year, it would have had $34,376 more for school operation than it did as a part of the Siskiyou district.

Dr. Jere Hurley, Siskiyou District superintendent, had presented to Reynolds, cost - of - operation figures, disclosing that $313,103.48 was expended for Yreka High School in 1957-58, whereas, with a $1.25 tax rate in the Yreka area, Yreka High School could have been benefited with an expenditure of $347,479 had it been separate at the time. The latter figure, according to Reynolds, included about $69,875 in state aid which the hypothetical district could have been entitled to. Assessed valuation at present of the entire Siskiyou District is about 45 million dollars.

Stanley Balfrey, principal of the Yreka High School stated that the enrollment has been expanding at a rate of 50 a year, which at that rate would create the need for one and a half rooms more per year.

According to Balfrey, the attendance currently at Yreka High School stands at 623 students, and he expects an increase to 687 in 1959-60. Also by the 1965-66 school year, the attendance will be up to a total of 914. Elementary attendance in the 14 - school district in the proposed area for secession stands at 1,738 in 1957-58.

At the present time, in spite of the new high school, Yreka High School students are using the old building, and Balfrey expects that it will be used more in the near future. He took no definite stand for or against the secession.

Al Tebbe of Yreka, president of the Siskiyou Union District of Trustees, issued a warning against the Yreka secession if the current construction program is completed, which is jointly financed by local bonds and a state apportionment.
