

Manzanita OES

Worthy Matron Gladys Chubb, Worthy Patron W. E. Anderson, and their officers honored Master Masons at the Manzanita Chapter No. 172 OES meeting Wednesday evening, November 12, in the Scottish Rite Temple.

Masonic Top Hats was the theme for the evening. The east was decorated with a large top hat, Masonic apron and emblem on a large stand that was made by Lois Murphy. Courtesy stars Lucille Wirtz and Mary Jane Sabo pinned top hat lapel favors on the escorted members and guests. Square and compass lapel favors were presented to all the other Masons.

Escorted to the East were Ray Grams, district deputy to the Grand Master of Oregon A.F. & M., and Past Patron of Manzanita Chapter; Paul Kincaid, worshipful master of Klamath Lodge No. 77; Joseph Lovell, worshipful master of Ponderosa Lodge No. 229; Ernest Wallin, worshipful master of Crater Lake Lodge No. 211; and Philip Blohm, worshipful master of Malin Lodge No. 194.

Escorted to the north were the master officers of the four Scottish Rite bodies, Albert Angell, venerable master of the Lodge of Perfection; Gus Vlahos, wise master of the Chapter of Rose Croix; George Grant, commander of the Council of Kadosh; and Jack Schulze, venerable master of the Consistory.

Escorted to the south were Worshipful Brothers James Hunter, Louis Fritsch, Alva Oldham and James DeWitt. Joe Lovell announced that masters of the York Rite bodies could not be present because they were having degree work.

The west was represented by all the other Master Masons present to display that the teachings of Masonry extends everywhere in the north, south, east and west.

The courtesy stars and line officers performed the ceremony of Masonic Light with one large lighted candle placed east of the Holy Bible on the altar representing the light of Masonry that has shed its rays down through the ages sending out beams of brotherly love, morality, tolerance and courage. From the large candle, five small candles were lighted receiving rays of fidelity, love, constancy, faith and loyalty for the daughters, mothers, widows, sisters and wives of Masons. Four more small candles were then lighted from the large candle and carried to the south, north, west and east completing the ceremony depicting that the light of Masonry has been shed through the whole world and the word of God shall stand forever. During the ceremony Ruffane Manning sang "Lead Kindly Light," "Follow the Gleam," "The Light of the World is Jesus," and "Star of the East" accompanied at the piano by Athel Roser. Mrs. Manning and Mrs. Roser are members of Cascade Crest Chapter in Chiloquin.

The Rainbow Girls, all dressed as Carmen Miranda in South American costumes and hats topped with tropical fruits, danced the South American Dance. They were accompanied at the piano by Worthy Adviser Kay Detroit.

The dining room was decorated by Dorothy Goehring with black top hats of various sizes, gold leaves surrounded with white chrysanthemums, and black and white candles sprayed with gold glitter. Black gavel was placed on some of the top hats.

Chicken sandwiches and cranberry salad were served by Mary Vlahos, Helen McCormack, Edith Barlen, Jane Barnes and Dora Austin.

Hostesses were Georgianna Clark and Etta Saunders.

The next stated meeting will be November 26.

Anniversary Observed By Former Residents

A golden wedding anniversary celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. Floyd H. Paup, 722 Grant Street, Medford, recently, is of much local interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Paup were married at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Sexton, at Ralston, Iowa, in a double wedding ceremony with Mrs. Paup's sister, Leona and Charles Davis. Another sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Linn of Boone, Iowa, planned a trip West to coincide with the anniversary observance. A brother, Robert Sexton, of Klamath Falls, was in the original wedding party and at the anniversary, also.

Mr. and Mrs. Paup came to Klamath Falls in 1937. All seven of their children are living. Edgar and Maynard Paup live at Medford; Lowell Paup, formerly with J. C. Penney store in Klamath Falls, now manager of the Penney store at Astoria; Maurice Paup, Klamath Falls; Marie Paup, Clarinda, Iowa; Mrs. Joseph (Evelyn) David, 5429 Harlan Drive, Klamath Falls, and Mrs. Jack (Kathryn) Roundtree, Roseburg.

A family reunion dinner party in the Rogue Room of Hotel Medford with places set for 23 was held the day before the open house celebration at Mr. and Mrs. Paup's home. Mrs. Paup was presented with her first orchid corsage and her husband with a 50th anniversary tie. Cards and favors and special flowers were arranged by Mrs. Roundtree.

At the Sunday reception, a special feature was a display of brides' books of the six married couples in the family. A "family tree" made by attaching family snapshots to a gold-sprayed laurel "tree" was presented to the celebrating couple by their children and grandchildren. A three-tiered cake was cut and the daughters-in-law assisted the daughters as hostesses for the afternoon.

Mrs. Olive Spencer of New Zealand came from the farthest distance for the afternoon. Numerous guests came from Portland, San Francisco, Northern California and Klamath Falls.
