RABBIT REPELLENT

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI) — Cornell scientists say they have come up with an effective repellent to keep rabbits from nibbling away at expensive plants and shrubs during the winter. Mix seven pounds of powdered resin in one gallon of ethyl alcohol and let it stand in a warm place for a day or two. Then paint it on the dry bark before snow sets in. A gallon of this mixture will treat about 100 small trees and last all winter. But if only a few trees or shrubs are involved, the scientists suggest using chicken wire for "tried and true protection."

SAFETY EXPERT

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI)—Television station WRAL-TV was filming a farm safety show which featured demonstrations by extension service experts. A corn-husking expert was talking about safety as he approached the mechanical husker. Suddenly the cord of the microphone about his neck became entangled in the whirring machinery. The cord drew him closer and closer to the de-husking blades. Horrified cameramen leaped to his rescue just in time. Station officials withheld the name of the expert. The scene was deleted from the film.

BLIND WOMAN ANSWERS TELEPHONES
SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI) — Mrs. Lillian Skutt, blind since birth, earns her living by operating a telephone answering service. In her work she uses 12 telephones and can distinguish the ring of each.

CHANGE OF SCENERY
NEW YORK (UPI) — The location chosen for filming "Rough Riders," a new TV series set in the 1860s, was changed after just one day because commercial airliners kept passing overhead.
