Senator's Recent Illness Blamed By Morse For Rift

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse Wednesday night said the recent cancer illness suffered by Sen. Richard Neuberger was a factor in their recent rift.

Solons Scorn Plan Revise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both Oregon senators — Wayne Morse and Richard Neuberger — objected Wednesday to the revised Army Engineers program for development of the Columbia River Basin water resources.

The two Democratic senators agreed that the "308" report recommends projects which would threaten conservation.

Morse said the report, released Tuesday, proposes projects "which are not presently feasible for construction due to conflicts with sound conservation principles."

The two also blamed any shortcomings in the report upon the Eisenhower administration, rather than upon the Corps of Engineers.

Turning to the proposed High Mountain Sheep project, Morse said upstream storage was sacrificed by "confirming the give-away of the Hell's Canyon site before it is ascertained whether it is still feasible."

"High Mountain Sheep would foreclose future construction of the Nez Perce Dam, but under the corps plan this would be of no consolation to those interested in fish passage, because Lower Canyon Dam on the Salmon River would be substituted."

The proposed Bruce Eddy and Penny Cliffs projects in Idaho are unacceptable, Morse said, "because of interference with fish, game and wilderness in their natural state."

"When the break between Sen. Neuberger and me developed over a period of weeks in the last session of Congress, I tried on several occasions, including one breakfast meeting with my Democratic colleagues in the Oregon delegation, to work out a basis for reconciliation."

"My attempts failed. In such situations there sometimes comes a point at which it is best to simply agree to disagree and bring an end to personal relationships."

"Sen. Neuberger and I reached that point."

"At that time I was not aware that my colleague, Dick Neuberger, was seriously ill. In fact, not until I reached Pendleton, Ore., on Aug. 31, 1958, did I learn for the first time that he was suffering from a malignancy."

"It is my judgment that his illness explains psychologically even more than he may know his conduct toward me," Morse's statement said.

Morse said he had sent this telegram to Neuberger from Pendleton:

"Midge (Mrs. Morse) and I want you and Maurine (Mrs. Neuberger) to know that we are praying for your speedy recovery and a diagnosis that gives you a clean bill of health."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — British actress Tita Purnod says she is penniless and that her divorced husband, actor Edmund Purnod, owes her $37,000 in support and alimony.

She asked the court to find Purnod in contempt. Her lawyer Ralph Rosenstock said Purnod has earned more than $100,000 a year in the last two years but has sent Mrs. Purnod nothing for support of their two children.
