SP Pays First-Half Tax; Files Letter Of Protest

YREKA—The first half of $137,139.11 tax payment, levied against the Southern Pacific Company by the County of Siskiyou, was paid last week in the amount of $72,135.17, accompanied by a letter of protest from the railroad's tax commissioner, F. B. Magruder.

Magruder stated that the tax is based on an assessment that is "void, illegal and constructively fraudulent." A similar communication was posted to the city of Dorris, protesting payment of $416,900.

The action was seen by I. D. (Babe) Taylor, Siskiyou County assessor, as the first step toward a court test of the ways and means of assessing utilities compared with other California properties.

A similar action had been taken by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company at the town of Pinole, Contra Costa County, California, and the utilities are acting in concert.

Taylor stated that if this action is successful, "it will break the taxpayer" (taxpayers other than utilities), by adding more to their share of the property tax load. The protest of the railroad was based upon legal and constitutional requirements for tax equalization in California, and the contention that its railroad property (as distinct from land holdings) is being assessed at 50 per cent of value by the public utilities commission while county assessors like Taylor, are assessing other property at an average of only 23.7 of value.

If Siskiyou County refuses to give the Southern Pacific $72,135.17 of its money back, it would result in a suit by the company trying to force such payment, according to Taylor.

The action is in conjunction with a statewide controversy on methods of assessment. According to county assessors the State Board of Equalization is not assessing the utilities at 50 per cent, of value, but at a figure less than that. On the other hand, the state board maintains the county assessors are failing to understand their methods.

According to Taylor, the protest against Siskiyou County taxation can be disproved on one basis—the board of equalization had found his assessments to average 25.1 per cent of market value of property instead of the 23.7 state average upon which the railroad based its protest.

County taxes also paid by the Southern Pacific Land Company were not protested, the first half amounting to $47,349.59. The land, unlike the railroad facilities, is locally assessed at a presumably fair rate of value.

As the county's biggest single taxpayer, the California-Oregon Power Company paid the county earlier in the week, its $437,923.28 for the whole year, with no protest.

City's Vandals Still Operate

City police are investigating five instances of vandalism which were reported to them over the weekend.

Mrs. Vern Hassler, 419 North Tenth Street, told police Friday morning that someone had broken a window out of the rear of the canopy of her pickup, while it was parked in front of her residence the previous day.

Mrs. Walter Henry, 1122 Lincoln Street, told police Saturday morning that a Colorado spruce tree which her family had planted three years ago by her mother's grave in Klamath Memorial Park, had been cut down the previous night.

Sunday morning, Henry Sweetman, 749 North Ninth Street, told police that during the night someone had fired a BB shot at the picture window on the Prospect Street side of his home. The window was chipped.

Also on Sunday, Emma M. Dunham, 435 Oak Street, reported that the front window of a house belonging to her at 1841 Manzanita Street, had been broken prior to 9 p.m. on Saturday.

The most recent report, made Sunday afternoon, came from Charles Johnson, 1412 1/2 Crescent Avenue, who stopped by the station to say that the top of his car had been dented by a rock sometime after November 27.

Larceny Charge Jails KF Man

Kenneth E. Ward, 35, 130 Martin Street, was arrested by state police Friday night on a charge of larceny from an auto, and lodged in Klamath County Jail.

According to police, one of their officers was "keeping an eye" on an out-of-state car which had been parked on Highway 33 between Klamath Falls and Merrill for several days.

Police say that the officer had stopped to check the car shortly before 8 p.m. Friday. He came back by the same spot a few minutes later and found Ward, seated in his own car, nearby. Police alleged that Ward had in his possession property which had been in the parked car a few minutes earlier. The glove compartment of the out-of-state car had also been forced during the policeman's absence, the report charges.

DEEPER TROUBLE—When state police picked up 19-year-old Gerald R. Lalo, Chiloquin, Saturday night on Highway 82, they charged him with driving while intoxicated and carrying concealed weapons, and lodged him in the Chiloquin jail. Lalo got even deeper into trouble on Sunday, when the owner of the vehicle he was operating at the time of his arrest signed a warrant charging that the car had been taken without permission, state police report. Lalo was scheduled to be arraigned in the court of Justice of the Peace Walter Zimmerman Monday.

STOLEN BIKE—Gordon Darling, 1518 Nimuz Street, reported to city police that his boy's red and white Montgomery Ward bicycle, six months old, had been stolen during the night from Thursday to Friday.

Local Soft Drink Company Wins Performance Award

The local Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company has won an award for fine performance from The Charles E. Hires Company every year since 1954 when the company started its awards program.

This year, however, it made top position by achieving the perfect 110 per cent record in bottling. Only six bottling companies in the nation were rated at 110 per cent among a total of 367 plants which bottle Hires Root Beer. Among the six were the Eugene and Chehalis, Washington, plants, giving three equal top awards in the Pacific Northwest.

The record was achieved by the plant under the supervision of Charles Bridges, according to Mario D. Pastega and Leo J. Bocchi, co-owners of the Klamath Falls plant.

Bridges has been with the firm for the last 12 years. He has been winning awards for excellence since 1950 when he took the top Nesbitt's Orange bottling production award. He also won a Squirt award earlier this year. He is a graduate of Henley schools and served overseas in World War II with the Air Force. He is married and has two children.

The Hires Company keeps a careful, accurate month-by-month check on quality of bottled Hires Root Beer. Not only is each plant required to send in complete samples of syrup mixture, carbonated water, caustic solution and bottled product, but Hires representatives pick up in-store samples and mail in to the headquarters laboratory periodically so there is a double check. The extra 10 per cent beyond the perfect 100 per cent for performance is awarded for promptness in submitting samples and accurate record keeping.

John R. Browne, district manager for The Charles E. Hires Company, came up from San Mateo last week to make the award to Bridges, superintendent of the local Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company. The plaque brings to five the total of Quality Control awards on the wall at the bottling company.

Refreshments were served by Virginia Liskey and Milly Fotheringham to three Malin guests and 23 attending members.

Barbara McKoen, chairman of the skating rink project, reported that, to date, the project had been a successful one due to lots of work by the auxiliary members.

Margaret Moore, hospital chairman, was given a check to purchase Christmas gifts for Arthur Hill and other men at Camp White.

Members were reminded to send used toys to the Merrill Fire Department for distribution on Christmas Eve.

Kay Woods was initiated into the auxiliary during the meeting.

Study Shows Job Picture

Oregon's winter, back to normal after an unusual rainless start, has given the unemployment compensation commission its first true picture of the off-season employment pattern. November compilations reflect a still receding economy, but one considerably improved over a year ago.

Estimates from State Employment Service offices across Oregon tally 44,100 unemployed on December 1, compared to 50,600 last year at this time. Non-farm employment levels, notably in trade and manufacturing, are apparently on the return climb after severe drops a year ago.

Employment Service placement activities showed their annual seasonal decrease when compared to last month. But here too there is considerable increase over last year.

Non-agricultural placements totalled 3,370 this November. Though this was just slightly above November, 1957, it gains significance when recalling that placement activities occupied fewer working days this November—a month of many holidays. In considering the day-to-day average, for example, this November's placements show a 15.1 per cent increase over a year ago. Most notable gains were in the construction, lumber, and trade industries, which grew by 33.3, 50.9 and 47.1 per cent respectively.

Agricultural placements dropped to 2,357 during November, down 88 per cent from October. The decrease is normal at the end of fall harvests and various other farm activities.

Search Spreads For Youth Wanted For Killing Five

EL CAJON, Calif. (UPI) — A manhunt for a 16-year-old boy, believed to have murdered a mother and her four children, spread today throughout the Southwest.

Carl Eder, of Irondequoit, N.Y., who was befriended by the family, fled Friday shortly before Mrs. Lois Pendergast, 37, was found by her husband fatally shot in the hallway of their home.

The couple's four children, three boys and a girl aged 2 to 9, were found in other parts of the house and an adjoining garage with their throats cut. Two of the children had been disemboweled.

Thomas Pendergast, 39, the husband and father, said Sunday after undergoing a seven and a half hour lie detector test that he planned to devote his life to church and youth welfare work.

The aircraft plant worker's lie detector test results were being evaluated. Findings will be known sometime late today or Tuesday. Police Chief Joseph O'Connors said.

"It is only fair to clear this man to strengthen our case against the other (Eder)," O'Connors said.

The police chief said Pendergast's statements while being questioned with the polygraph "were consistent with what he told us before."

"I wanted the lie detector test," Pendergast said after the ordeal. "I believe in lie detectors. It is my witness next to the Lord."

Cars were checked at the nearby Mexican border for Eder. Roadblocks were manned at points along highways.

Yule Honors To Be Given

YREKA—Under the joint sponsorship of the Yreka Chamber of Commerce and California-Oregon Power Company, prizes will again be awarded this year in the Yreka Christmas decoration contest in the amount of $160.

Harry Crebbin, secretary for the Yreka Chamber of Commerce, announced Thursday that four prizes will be awarded for the best decoration in the residential classification, amounting to $115, and three prizes totaling $45, for the winning downtown or commercial decorations.

As explained by Crebbin, "any home, church or house trailer is eligible in the residential category," and he said that the entries could consist of just a decoration on a door, roof, in a window or yard, or could be a combination of all. Judging will be based on the general all-over beauty, or what catches the attention of the public.

In the commercial classification Crebbin stated that consideration of the judges will be on the general appearance of a store front and the decorations on the Christmas trees, which have been attached to the parking meters in front of the store.

All decorations must be in place by Tuesday night, December 23, when judging will take place by a secret committee of the Yreka Garden Club.

Individual prizes have been set up as follows: residential—first, $50; second, $35; third, $20; fourth, $10. Commercial, first, $25; second, $15; third, $5.

ROY DIES

HUNTER, Utah (AP) — M. B. Peterson stepped into the frigid dawn outside his home and found his 2-year-old son Zachary frozen to death on the lawn. The family was unaware the boy had left the house. The temperature had dipped to 22 degrees during the night.

Ex-Radio Man's Last Rites Set

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP)—Funeral services will be held today for Bertrand Silen, 38-year-old former radio man in the Far East whose glib postwar comeback won him the Headliners Award.

Silen, owner-manager of a radio station and NBC correspondent in Manila, was bombed off the air early in 1942 while describing a Japanese air raid.

After V-J day he began his first broadcast: "This is Ber Silen. As I was saying when I was rudely interrupted . . ."

Reckless Driving Jails Soldier, 18

An 18-year-old soldier from Ft. Lewis, Washington, was jailed Saturday night on charges of reckless driving and of being a minor in possession of liquor, following a rear-end collision at the intersection of Sixth and Hope streets.

State police report that the car, driven by Lawrence D. Duell, 6021st Replacement Company, Ft. Lewis, was going at a high rate of speed north on Hope when the car apparently stopped at the Sixth Street intersection. According to police, the Duell car hit the other vehicle and knocked it against a tree on the other side of Sixth Street, 88 feet away.

Both cars were considerably damaged, but neither Duell nor Robert E. Sims, 16, 3947 Summers Lane, driver of the other vehicle, was injured.
