No Bitterness Or Sorrow Related By Defeated Coya

WASHINGTON (AP) — Coya Knutson kicked off her high-heeled pumps, put on some old comfortable flats and avowed she had no bitterness or sorrow in defeat.

A House committee had decided against investigating further her complaint that she lost her bid for reelection to Congress from Minnesota because of a malicious conspiracy.

The 45-year-old Democrat contended political foes were behind her husband's widely publicized "Coya come home" appeal.

"Of course you feel hurt, you know," she told a reporter who came to her office Wednesday after the five-man special House committee decided unanimously "no further action is warranted" in the case.

"But I've had a lot of rough things in my life — you can't sit down and feel sorry for yourself, she said. "Sometimes the more you get kicked around the more you can do."

Mrs. Knutson said she knew the demands of public office when she was elected to Congress in 1954. She was reelected in 1956, but was defeated last month by Republican Odin Laugen.

"I know what a woman is up against in a job like this," she said. "I went into it with my eyes open."

Mrs. Knutson said she may take her case to the voters two years from now, in the 1960 election.

She also said she might ask the new Congress in January to investigate. Her chances with such a formal contest seemed slim.

In its report, the special committee, set up to consider election complaints and check on campaign spending, agreed that "exploitation of the family life of the Knutsons was a contributing cause of her failure of election."

But the committee said it found no direct evidence involving Laugen in any conspiracy to capitalize on the Knutsons' marital woes. Laugen has said he did not mention those Knutson troubles in his campaign.

But husband Andy Knutson told the committee two days ago that political opponents of his wife duped him into issuing the "Coya come home" plea.

In the interview, Mrs. Knutson declined to say whether she and her husband are living together now. "That's a personal question," she said.

Moose Plans Yule Drive

Santa needs help, say members of the Loyal Order of Moose, Lodge No. 1106 and Women of the Moose, Chapter 467 who sponsor the annual "Operation Santa Claus."

While the public has been generous to date in dropping new toys for needy children in the red barrels placed in the shopping districts, toys are still needed if all children are to be remembered. Last year 335 boys and girls received toys through this nationwide effort of the Moose organizations.

The Moose Lodge look over the "Share a Toy" program five years ago when rehabilitation and distribution of toys was given up by the city fire department because of lack of room. This year's slogan is "One for Them. One for You."

The Moose-sponsored Christmas tree lot on Balsiger property at Main Street will be moved again this weekend to provide cash to buy candy and fruit and toys for two-agers not provided for under the plan to receive toys in barrels.

The garden clubs of the district made wreaths and other Christmas decorations for the Moose to be sold to raise money for the project.

Santa Clauses, riding trucks donated by Central Oregon Fast Freight, Division of Consolidated Freightways, will distribute the gifts on Christmas Eve. Trucks will be manned by the freightline's drivers.

Those working with the program urge all shoppers to remember the Spirit of Christmas and to make it possible for every child to receive a toy. No toys or cash leave the Klamath Falls community.

Man Surprised By Car Contents

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — When O. E. Clewis opened the trunk of his car to stow away suitcases, he found:

An Army captain's uniform coat, a steel helmet complete with liner, a canteen and cover, a gas mask and carrying bag, a bar-racks bag, a computer for aerial navigation, a hand grenade, a rifle grenade and a 60 mm. mortar shell.

Clewis told police he took the car to a dealer to have a heater installed Monday and hadn't looked in the trunk since.

SOFT HEARTED
CORUNNA, Mich. (AP) — Stanley E. Lee is free on $500 bond awaiting sentence on a charge of armed robbery. The bond was posted by the owner of the tavern he admitted robbing of $40.

The tavern owner said he felt sorry for Lee, an expectant father unemployed since last May. He said he might give Lee a job if he is placed on probation.

Schools Plan Yule Slates

MALIN — The Malin schools have announced the dates of their annual Christmas programs with the grade school play, "Christmas is All This" to be given Friday afternoon, December 19, at 2 o'clock in the grade school gym. All students in grades one through six will take part. The play was written by Mrs. Hae Wilson and the music by Mrs. Cleo Lowry. The public is invited to the school programs.

The high school Christmas cantata, "The Music of Bethlehem" by Holton, will be presented Tuesday evening, December 23, at 8 o'clock in the high school gym. The music will be sung by the mixed chorus under the direction of Mrs. Cleo Lowry.

Also on the program will be a piano duet by Mary Jayne Fisk and Marcia Kenyon, a piano-organ duet by Karen Rajanus and Shirley Bunnell, a group of seven carols by the junior high school chorus, and a selection by the band directed by Charles Dobry.

On Tuesday afternoon, December 23, all grade and high school students will enjoy a movie at the Broadway Theater. This is the annual treat for the students from the teachers. The buses will pick the students up outside the theater after the show to take them home.

Charles Hale, grade school principal, reports that $21 was collected by the grade school students to send a CARE package to Korea. Priscilla Leidholdt and Linda Kirkpatrick were in charge of the project.
