This past college football season presented the sports public with a great many surprises, some disappointments and a great many upsets. But that is to be expected in this day and age of modern athletic programs which supply our country with many enjoyable hours of recreation and entertainment.

Glancing over pre-season outlooks and predictions of things to come that were made last August and September, one will find that one or two clubs failed to "produce," while others "sneaked in" without any fanfare. That's what makes the sports world great.

Louisiana State, the country's number one ranked team in every poll, wasn't even rated in the pre-season rankings. In fact, LSU's 1958 Southeastern Conference, American Hallmark Billy Cannon proved the "experts" wrong.

LSU rolled up an undefeated and untied season, and completed its football year in the Sugar Bowl against Clemson.

Another bowl-bound team that came as a surprise if you take pre-season ratings seriously was Forest Evashevski's Iowa Hawkeyes. Iowa was rated 12th in the pre-play picks by Dell magazine. Instead the 'Eves finished second in the final poll placements. Now Iowa is in California prepping for the New Year's Day clash with California in the Rose Bowl as the Big Ten champion and representative.

The third big surprise was the Falcons of the United States Air Force Academy. Coach Ben Martin's fly-boys were not mentioned in pre-season schedules. But the Falcons proved that their brand of football will have to be reckoned with in the future. The Air Force finished sixth in the nation this past season, which included a 14-1 tie with mighty Iowa.

Ohio State was expected to finish first (by Street and Smith), and third (by Dell). But the Buckeyes were eighth on the final list. Oklahoma's perennial powerhouse was tabbed second (by Street and Smith) and third (by Dell), but instead Bud Wilkinson's Sooners were fifth. The Oklahoma finish isn't low for any other team in the country except for the Sooners who have taken on the look and respect of the baseball New York Yankees. If you're from Oklahoma and you don't finish on top, your season wasn't successful.

Oregon State's Beavers were another team that let the pre-season peep pickers down. The Beavs were expected to roll up a real big season, stomping everything on the Pacific Coast and even finish as high as ninth (by Street and Smith) and 17th (by Dell) in the nation. But Tommy Prothro's club couldn't get untracked and finished with the worst Prothro record since coming to the Corvallis school.

As far as upsets, this was a big year. The little guy who wasn't supposed to have a chance had his big days. Texas pulled the rug from under Oklahoma in the big setback of the year, while Air Force's tie with Iowa and Tulane's win over Navy were two other big surprises. There were many others that didn't go to form, but there isn't enough space or paper to list them.

The cry wait 'til next year is ringing loud and clear. As far as the top rankings go, LSU will undoubtedly be the pre-season choice next year. The Tigers had 33 let-terms, only three were seniors. And Cannon will be back.

This next week will be a big one.

George Miller, Oregon Tech football line coach and head track mentor, passed on some information that will be of some interest to local sports fans.

George gave us a clipping concerning the Rocky Mountain College basketball team. And playing for the RMC Bears this year is Larry Pretty Weasel, the flashy cager who caught all of the eyes at last March's annual Klamath Reservation All-Indian basketball tournament at Chiloquin.

Pretty Weasel inquired about Oregon Tech, but decided to stay closer to home for his college education. Rocky Mountain College is in Billings, Montana.

KUHS Pelicans Win Two On Coast Trip

By WAYNE SCOTT
Herald and News Sports Writer

COOS BAY — The Klamath Union High School Pelicans turned what seemed to be certain defeat into last second triumph by dumping the North Bend Bulldogs 48-47 for 1958 victory number four here Saturday night after slipping past the Marshfield Pirates 74-72 for win number three Friday night.

The North Bend conquest, which was put on ice by Don DeLap with a two-pointer in the last 15 seconds, seemed almost anti-climactic after the thrilling double overtime win the night before over the Pirates.

The Marshfield test which featured Dave DeLap in the starring role, saw the Pelicans' 13-point deficit and win in the sudden-death extra period while in the North Bend hassle, which was the see-saw affair, they blew an early fourth quarter five point lead and struggled to grab the marbles in the closing seconds. Pel coach Dean

White, in his first year as head coach at KU, received the Marshfield win as a present on his 29th birthday. After the game Saturday night White said, "It was the best birthday gift I have ever received—but tonight's ball game, well, I just don't know. We all seem to just let down. Maybe our birthday party (Marshfield game) last night took too much out of us. A lack of coordinated offense tonight was our main problem. Still, I am not dissatisfied with anyone on the squad, can't very well be—if they keep winning. All in all, we played far better ball last night than we did tonight, but North Bend was out to get us, and they almost did."

Saturday night Don DeLap hit for 17 points to become high scorer for the night while Tom Younker of North Bend potted 16. In the number three spot was Pel Boo Peterson with 11.

The Pelicans got off to a slow start Saturday but despite the 12-point effort by Younker managed to sneak out a 15-13 lead at the end of the first frame. In the second period the Pel pulled out to a 21-15 lead before the bounce of the Bulldog squad came to life and ended the half on the long end of a 23-23 count. The Bulldogs hit a 500 during the first half while KU notched a 409.

A jumper by Don DeLap opened the third period and the battle was on. The period ended 36-35. The Pel seemed to take command in the fourth frame for a time but it didn't last as Wallace sparked a Bulldog surge that threatened. The last two-second drive by North Bend ended when Peterson tied up Younker under the basket in the jump, Peterson slapped the ball out of bounds as the horn sounded.

Dave DeLap was carried from the floor on the shoulders of his teammates, hailed the hero of the Pel's Friday night second overtime, come-from-behind victory.

The griddy guard, one of the Pelicans "little men," potted two rapid fire buckets in the last 20 seconds of regulation play to bring his team up from a seemingly hopeless 66-62 deficit, a 6-0 send the hard-played contest into overtime.

At the outset of the first extra period, brother Don DeLap took over sinking a long jumper from the top of the key to give the Pel their first lead of the entire evening, 68-66.

Marshfield regained command at this point, on a jump shot by Karl Coke but a pair of successful free-throws by KU's Bob Peterson, who sank a deliberate 10 of 12 gifties, again evened the match. Walt Hunter, the high scorer of the game, countered with a driving layin to give the Pirates a 72-70 lead with 50 seconds remaining. But again DeLap poured on the coal. This time it was Don who swished from outside to make it 72-72 with 30 seconds remaining. The tie lasted and the game was sent into its second extra period which was devised by coaches Dean White and Bruce Hoffine as a sudden-death round of play.

Gaining the tip, Dave DeLap drove toward the goal and in trying to get a shot away was fouled by the Pirates Gary Rossi. DeLap stepped to the foul line and amidst the screams of fans who feared the home team might lose what had appeared to be a sure thing, calmly sank both of his shots fully justifying the Pirate rooters fears.

In winning the third straight of their 1958-59 season, the Pelicans were forced to overcome a Marshfield lead of as much as 13 points in one stage of the game, and were never ahead until early in the first overtime.

Peterson was high scorer for the Pel with 18. Dave DeLap was next with 17, followed by Bob Lewis with 14. Don DeLap notched 13. Game scoring honors went to Hunter with 20. Rossi added 18 to the losers cause.

The Pirates, who were forced to do without the services of junior center Mel Counts, the flashy 6-8 pivotman who will be benched for the next three weeks with a bad back, were paced to a first quarter 23-17 bulge by Hunter's 12 points from the outside and Rossi's 10 from just about anywhere. Continuing their red-hot performance into the second stanza, the Bucs hit a blazing .530 from the floor and led 41-31 at the halfway rest, falling slightly from a 35-22 lead they possessed with three minutes of the period remaining.

The Pel defense and offense early in the third quarter and off the combined efforts of Lewis, making his first varsity start, Don DeLap and Peterson, the Whitebirds moved to within five points, 45-40 before the period was half way gone. Jim Hall's quarter hawtizer with one second left brought the Pel to within three counts 53-49 at the end of the third. A pair of freethrows by Peterson and a jumper by Don DeLap gave the Pel their first tie 53-53 with 5:07 left in the game. From here it was the DeLap twins battle.

Grid Clubs Seeking To Up Bowl Records

NEW YORK (AP)—Mississippi, Louisiana State, Syracuse and Louisiana hope to bolster their losing bowl records in post-season football games but only two of the four are favored to get a measure of revenge in the coming classics.

Mississippi and LSU are the choices to win their post-season contests while Syracuse and California are cast once again in the roles of underdogs.

Ole Miss (8-2), ranked 11th, is a six-point favorite over Florida (6-3-1), ranked 14th, in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., next Saturday, Dec. 27 (CBS-TV). Mississippi has a 2-3 record in bowl competition. Florida's record is 1-0.

Louisiana State (10-0), the nation's No. 1 team and only major unbeaten and untied outfit, is rated 16 points over Clemson (8-2) in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans New Year's Day (NBC-TV). LSU has a woeful 1-5-1 bowl record. Clemson is 3-2 in post-season jousts.

Syracuse (8-1), ranked 9th, is a 13 point underdog to Oklahoma's fifth-ranked Sooners (9-1) in the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla., New Year's Day (CBS-TV).

The Orangemen from upstate New York are 0-2 in bowl games and still twice over the 61-6 shelling they absorbed from Alabama in the 1953 Orange Bowl. They were nipped 28-27 by Texas Christian in the Dallas Cotton Bowl in 1957.

Oklahoma, on the other hand, has a 6-2 bowl slate, including three straight in the Orange Bowl. California (7-3), ranked 16th, is the biggest long shot of the bunch. The Golden Bears are rated 18 points behind Iowa's second-ranked Hawkeyes (7-1-1) in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day (NBC-TV). Cal is 2-4-1 in the bowling, all in the Rose Bowl, and has lost in its last three shots. Iowa beat Oregon State 35-19 in 1957 in its one crack at bowl gravy.

In the fifth major bowl, Texas Christian's 10th ranked Horned Frogs (8-2) are favored by seven points over the sixth-ranked, unbeaten but one-tied Air Force Academy Falcons (9-0-1). They clash in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day (CBS-TV).

TCU has a 4-4 bowl record. This is the first post-season contest for the baby of the service institutions.

This one is a clash of the Marlins, Abe Martin coaches TCU. Ben Martin is the Air Force coach. Their only common foe this season was Iowa. The Falcons tied Iowa, 13-13. TCU lost 17-0.

Willamette, SOC Triumph

Willamette, hitting 50 per cent of its shots, defeated the Cal Aggies 72-51 for fifth place and Southern Oregon beat Chico State 74-57 for seventh place.

Dave D'Olivo led Southern Oregon with 24 points. He sank five straight before the half to give the Oregonians a 29-22 halftime lead and Chico State trailed the rest of the game. Mickey Boucher was high for Chico with 16.

KUHS Freshmen Top SH Jayvees

The Klamath Union High School freshmen defeated the Sacred Heart Jayvees Saturday night, 43-17 in a non-league basketball game played at Pelican Court.

Arizona State Drops Holiday Bowl Fracas

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Striking with deadly deception and blinding speed, Northeastern Oklahoma State defeated Arizona State at Flagstaff 19-13 in the Holiday Bowl football game Saturday.

The Redmen from Tahlequah drove 94 yards for a touchdown the first time they got the ball. They cashed in on shorter drives in the third and fourth quarters, to win the NAIA championship before 8,623 fans and a national television audience.

Arizona State scored in the third period after trailing 13-0 and tallied again in the final two minutes.

Fancy faking quarterbackbacks Johnnie Allen and Frankie Phelps engineered Northeastern's drives by masterfully mixing of passes and runs.

Allen and halfbacks Robert Jackson and Dan Smith repeatedly ripped off long gains with the help of the massive Redmen line.

The Oklahoma line also threatened two early scoring threats by suspended South Eugene High School from athletic competition.

The suspension went into effect at noon Saturday and washed out Saturday night's scheduled basketball game between South Eugene and Medford.

A wrestling match between South Eugene and Klamath Falls was in progress at the time of the OSAA announcement, and it was called off immediately.

Basis for the suspension was a complaint filed with the OSAA by John Cox, superintendent of Albany Union High School. He said that a group of South Eugene students had defaced a school bus which brought the Albany team to Eugene on Dec. 16.

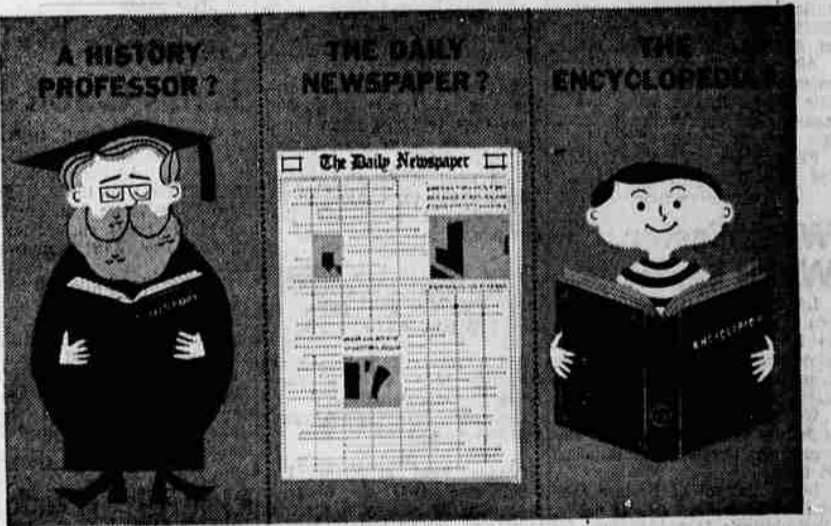

The suspension will remain in effect at least until the regular meeting of the OSAA Board of Control on Jan. 15, 1959. At that time it will be reviewed.

Northeastern 6 0 7 6-19
Arizona State 0 0 7 6-13
