
Colts Place Six On All-Pro Roles

NEW YORK (NEA)—Five years ago, Baltimore had no professional football. A ragged bunch of disenfranchised Dallas Texans came to the headwaters of Chesapeake Bay to regroup as the Baltimore Colts.

But in 1958, the Baltimore Colts, champions of the Western Division of the National Football League, placed six men on the All-Players All-Pro team, named today by NEA Service and Herald and News.

They added five more on the All-Pro second team, determined in a valid poll of the toughest jury of all, the players of the 12 teams.

Gino Marchetti, one of the two remnants of that Dallas team, drew more votes than any other man, a mark of respect as the greatest defensive end.

Ray Berry, the self-made pass receiver, hauled in more ballots than any other member of the offensive platoon. This is the first time that the skinny kid from Southern Methodist with the contact lenses received any kind of all-pro attention.

It was a year of turnover in all-star selection.

Ten new men were inaugurated into the all-pro class in this fourth annual players' poll.

Del Shofner, playing his first year in football as an end (he was in the defensive secondary last year for the Rams) joins Berry on the receiving line. Jim Parker of the Colts, a sophomore tackle, teams with veteran Rosy Brown of the Giants.

Ray Wietecha of the Giants gets long-merited recognition at center, and a new halfback tandem of Colt Lenny Moore and Ram Jon Arnett displaced perennials Frank Gifford and Ollie Matson as the first team halfbacks.

On defense, Bob Gain of the Browns and Gene Lispcomb of the Colts at the tackle spots and middle linebacker Sam Huff and safety Jim Patton of the Giants were all-pro debutants.

The Rams, with Arnett, Shofner and guard Duane Putnam, challenged the offensive supremacy of the Colts, who placed four.

Honors were more evenly divided on defense, with the Giants, Lions and Colts each grabbing a pair of positions.

The Eagles, Cardinals and Forty-Niners were the only clubs shut out in first team selections.

Little League Park Plan Gains Backers

Klamath Falls Little Leaguers saw their dreams of a local Little League Baseball Park, major league style, come two steps nearer to reality upon learning of a pair of fund-raising benefits slated here in the near future. Proceeds from each event are ear-marked to go toward the eventual construction of a new home for the Little Leaguers.

Members of the Klamath Falls Exchange Club are well along with their advance ticket sales for the big Ken-Jensen circus scheduled for the old armory on March 28, according to Noel Flynn, president of the Exchange Club, the sponsoring group.

The circus, a West Coast organization, has appeared previously in a number of Oregon cities, sponsored by various civic groups and clubs. In many cases the circus has made return appearances, noted Flynn.

As a result of the Exchange Club's idea another local group of sports enthusiasts and business men have scheduled a mammoth amateur boxing program to be held in the armory on January 22.

In both cases the entire amount of money earned by the sponsoring organizations, after the deduction of the bare minimum of expenses necessary to the production of the events, will go into special funds to be held until the proper time in the plans for the Little League Park.

Handling the matchmaking chores for the 12 bout amateur card is Buck Davidson, well known local promoter who is donating his services, as are a number of other prominent citizens who are working toward making the program a success.

A squad of Police Athletic League fighters from Lakeview, including a pair of state champions, will furnish the opposition for a number of local boys who have expressed their desire to perform.

There is room for more Klamath Falls fighters and training facilities to help them ready themselves for the scrap are being arranged, according to Davidson. Boys who are interested in trying out for spots on the program should contact Davidson at TU 4-8736.

A meeting of all persons interested in helping with the production of the boxing show is scheduled for 3 p.m., Tuesday, December 30, in the offices of Bob Bonney, KF Park and Recreation director, located in the city hall.

Fumblitis, Weather Aid Blue Triumph

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Rainy weather gave the Rebels a sharp attack of fumblitis and gave an invading team of Yankee all-stars the breaks they needed Saturday to turn the Blue-Gray game into a 16-0 triumph for the North.

It was the Northerners' second victory in the past three games in the all-star series, but they have won only seven of the 20 games in all.

The raw 45-degree weather kept the game on the ground for the most part and stymied the Gray's vaunted passing attack built around Virginia Tech's Billy Holsclaw.

With a 13-0 lead late in the final period, Purdue's quarterback Bob Spoo booted a field goal from the 13 to wrap up the scoring. Spoo had directed the Blue throughout much of their victorious march.

The Blue scored in the first period on a 53-yard punt return by halfback Duane Wood of Oklahoma State, and again in the second on a 9-yard pass from Spoo to end John Crowl of Purdue.

Spoo missed the extra point after the first score, but end Jim Wood of Oklahoma connected the next time.

The Gray lost three fumbles which proved disastrous. Holsclaw was shaken loose from the ball on the Gray 24; Bob Broadhead of Duke let the ball get away from him on his 43, and Theron Sapp of Georgia fumbled on the Blue 34 after breaking loose for a 16-yard gain.

South Blasts North In Orange Bowl Tilt

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Buddy Humphrey, a spectacular aerial artist from Baylor, passed for five touchdowns and sneaked for another Saturday night to guide the South to a 49-20 rout of the North in the Shrine's 11th annual college all-star game in the Orange Bowl.

Humphrey, who has been drafted by the Los Angeles Rams, worked with the poise and accuracy of a pro as he passed to Billy Stacy of Mississippi State for three touchdowns and to Bobby Renn of Florida State and Bill Poole of Miami for two more.

The five scoring throws set a record for the North-South series and the three touchdown catches by Stacy wiped another record off the books.

It was the seventh victory for the South in the series featuring outstanding senior college players. And it was the most one-sided of all the contests. The North has won three games and one ended in a 21-21 tie.

Humphrey's one-man show submerged great performances by several other players, including three Northerners — Al Jacks of Penn State, Gary Prahst of Michigan and Army's Pete Dawkins.

Jacks and Prahst made a passing combination that gained heavily for the Yankees and Dawkins was a hard man for the Rebels to stop.

Humphrey was voted the game's most valuable player in a poll of sportswriters. Dawkins was named best for the North and Stacy was given the sportsmanship award.

Mississippi Earns Gator Bowl Victory

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Mississippi beat Florida 7-3 Saturday in the Gator Bowl football classic with all the scoring coming in the opening minutes on a gray, drizzly day.

Jim Anderson, who came in as a substitute when the Ole Miss ace fullback, Charley Flowers, was injured, scored the game's single touchdown after Mississippi had swept 70 yards downfield on the kickoff.

Florida, with its slender quarterback ace, Jimmy Dunn, contributing a 56-yard kickoff return and a 14-yard end sweep, promptly surged back to Mississippi's 11. There Ole Miss held and with the ball placed down on the 17, Billy Booker kicked a field goal for 3 points.

Ole Miss was favored to win by one touchdown and the game ran just about true to form. Mississippi was particularly effective in its ground game. Its big line repeatedly held Florida in the closing minutes of the game when a quick kick by Bobby Green, touched accidentally by several Mississippi players, was recovered by Dave Hudson on the Mississippi 10.

The kick, longest ever in the Gator Bowl, was good for 76 yards, but Florida couldn't cash in.

There were 41,312 tickets to the game sold and despite the threatening weather, almost that many fans showed up.

In defeat, the 142-pound Dunn stood out as the best player on the field. His passes were accurate, his running was sharp, and when he had to kick he performed superbly. But he was no match for the big Mississippi line when the goal line got in range.

Talbert Said Yankee Scout

BRISBANE (AP)—Bill Talbert, former U.S. Davis Cup captain turned informal baseball scout, said Saturday the New York Yankees have not made a firm offer to Norman O'Neill, Australia's crack test cricketer.

This report was circulated after Talbert met with O'Neill in Melbourne last week to discuss the possibility of the cricket star having a tryout with the world baseball champions.

"This has been ballooned up far beyond its proper proportions," Talbert said.

"The Yankees merely are interested in finding out some things about this young man.

"I am not an expert but only a fan.

"Someone else would have to look him over to say whether or not he has promise of making the big leagues."

O'Neill, 21, from Adelaide in South Australia, plays baseball in the off season in one of the few Australian leagues.

He hit .400 last year and played shortstop for his team.

There was lots of talk regarding the height that Oregon Freshman basketball carried this year. But when the Oregon State College basketball press book finally made its way to the public, there were a few raised eyebrows.

Listed on the OSC rosters are nine different basketballers 6-5 or taller. And six of these are 6-6. The tallest Rook hoopster is Jay Carty, 6-6½, who hails from China Lake, California. Bob Niles, ex-KUHS cager, is listed at 6-6.

Five of the nine tall Beaver freshmen are out-of-staters, four from California and the other one from Washington.

Rook coach Paul Valenti will not have much trouble finding a starting lineup to average 6-6 if he so chooses.

Although varsity coach Slats Gill will lose 6-8 Gary Goble this year, he will again have plenty of height, which has graced his basketball teams in the past. Plus all of the tall timber under Valenti's guidance this year, Gill also has 6-9 sophomore Karl Anderson, 6-5 sophomore Steve Flynn and 6-6 sophomore Ernie Johnson all due back in 1959-60.

East Texas Staters Stop Missouri Valley

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — East Texas State converted a fumble and intercepted pass into two quick touchdowns in the fourth quarter Saturday and upended Missouri Valley 26-7, in the Tangerine Bowl.

The score was close at 12-7 until the Lions struck for the two scores only 63 seconds apart. The outburst carried the Texans to their second straight Tangerine Bowl championship and halted an 11-game Missouri Valley winning streak.

End Don Holley ignited the Lions with nine minutes left in the game when he pounded on a Missouri Valley fumble on the Viking 39. Six plays later quarterback Sam McCord fired a three-yard touchdown pass to halfback Dan Malone. McCord passed to Norman Roberts for a two-point conversion and East Texas was out front 20-7.

Four plays later Lion halfback Tony Mandina intercepted a Jim Queen pass and raced untouched 53 yards to the final touchdown.

The teams battled through a scoreless first quarter in which both were hampered by a steady drizzle and a muddy field. But both got their highly touted offenses in gear in the second period.

East Texas drew first blood when Joe Harbour jumped into the end zone from two yards out to end a 13-play, 89-yard drive.

McCord effectively mixed passes and runs in the march. His 24-yard heave to end Dee Mackey put the ball on the Viking 10 to set up the score.

Missouri Valley came right back with the next kickoff, moving 73 yards in 14 plays. Halfback Mel Rogers plunged over from the one. Ray Mosey's conversion gave the Missourians a 7-6 lead.

East Texas regained the lead with 1:32 left in the half when Ray Berry recovered a McCord fumble in the end zone. McCord had run the ball 16 yards before dropping it on the goal line.

'58 Iowa Bowl Team Differs From '56 Club

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI)—Iowa will send a different kind of football team against California in the Rose Bowl than it did two years ago when the Hawkeyes beat Oregon State, 35-19, but the results may be the same.

The 1956 Hawks were a mighty defensive club. They shutout four opponents, held two others to a single touchdown and depended largely on defense to squeak through the tight games.

The 1958 Iowa squad is an offensive powerhouse that will be tough for California to stop. Its defense is regarded as its weakness. Six of its nine opponents scored two or more touchdowns against the 1958 team.

Despite its defensive record in 1956, Iowa made a reversal in form and yielded three touchdowns to Oregon State in an offensive show.

OFFENSE SHOULD SPARKLE

This year's battle, too, should turn into a display of offense. Iowa averaged 26 points a game in winning seven, losing one 38-28 to Ohio State, and tying the Air Force Academy, 13-13. California's Golden Bears scored 195 points to 234 for Iowa and averaged 19.5 points a game in a 7-3 season.

Speed and Randy Duncan's All-American passing are the keys to Iowa's winged-T attack. Halfbacks Ray Jauch, Willie Fleming and Bob Jeter can go the distance from just about any spot on the field.

Duncan is good on both the long and short passes and he has a fine set of ends to throw to in Don Norton, Bob Prescott, Jeff Langston, Allan Miller and the injured Curt Merz, who led the Hawkeyes in pass receiving.

FLEMING TOP RUNNER

Fleming is Iowa's most dangerous runner. Only a sophomore, Fleming rode the bench until midseason. Then he scored at least two touchdowns a game in the latter half of the schedule.

Fleming is agile and fast. He also can drive for the extra yard when he's tackled.

Fullbacks John Nocera and Don Horn provide good power running for Iowa. Nocera, the team captain, started in the Rose Bowl two years ago and was the regular fullback last year.

But he was injured early this year and Horn, only 5-9 and 187 pounds, took over for him. Nocera found when he returned to form that it was difficult to dislodge the tough little Horn, a junior, and the two alternated at the fullback position for the rest of the season.

Record Seen For P-A Games

CHICAGO (AP)—A record number of entries is expected for the third Pan American Games which will be held in Chicago Aug. 27-Sept. 7, 1959.

Preliminary estimates made by Michale J. McDermott and Ralph Metcalfe, cochairmen of the sports committee for the Chicago games, indicate more than 1,300 men and women athletes will compete.

The United States probably will field a team of 300 men and women. Mexico and Canada have indicated they each will send teams of 200. Brazil's expectations are 170 and Argentina has high hopes of sending 200.

LSU Named Team Of Year

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Louisiana State University's football Tigers Saturday were named Team of the Year in The Associated Press' annual year-end poll.

They beat the New York Yankees, world champions in baseball, and the Baltimore Colts, Western Conference winners of the National Football League, in a close battle of the ballots.

LSU received 61 first place votes from the panel of 220 sports writer and sportcasters and a total of 306 points. Points were counted on a basis of three for first, two for second and one for third. The Yankees were just five points behind with 301. The Yanks had 56 first place nominations. The Colts attracted 43 first place votes and 226 points.

The Tigers won the Southeastern Conference crown, the national college championship in The Associated Press poll, finished as the only undefeated and untied team in major college competition, and posted their first all-winning record in 50 years.

Pros Open Winter Slate

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The 1959 winter golf campaign gets underway next week when the nation's leading professionals tee off in the 33rd annual $40,000 Los Angeles Open.

The site again is the Rancho Municipal Course in West Los Angeles, where Frank Stranahan won a year ago.

A pro-amateur celebrity event will be held Dec. 30. The tournament proper will start Friday and wind up Monday, Jan. 5.

Entered are the 15 top money winners in PGA ratings for 1858, and the "big three" of the year, Dow Finsterwald, voted "PGA Golfer of the Year," National Open Champion Tommy Bolt and Masters Champion Arnold Palmer.

Navy Switches Baltimore Game

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Navy will play none of its home football games in Baltimore's Memorial Stadium next year.

Alarmed by dwindling gate receipts, Naval Academy officials Friday announced that the only remaining 1959 game scheduled for Baltimore, against Maryland on Nov. 7, will be played instead in the new Navy-Marine Corps Memorial Stadium here.

Length of life of lower seeds varies considerably, depending on the type of flower.
