WASHINGTON (AP)—A 2,000-year-old working model of the solar system has just been identified in a Greek museum.

Group Holds Turkey Fete

GREENVIEW—A turkey dinner was held in conjunction with the annual Christmas party of the Greenview Women's Society of Christian Service recently at the home of Mrs. Mary Hamner.

The curious old relic was brought up from the depths of the Mediterranean by sponge fishermen on Easter Day, 1900. But it remained an object of curiosity in the Greek National Museum in Athens until it was identified this year by Dr. Price.

It is a highly precise mechanical model of the earth, sun, moon and planets, fashioned by some unknown craftsman about 65 B.C.—give or take 10 years.

It includes an intricate and precise set of gears, made to be turned by means of a small crank, keeping every heavenly body in proper position.

Money Groups Request Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—The World Bank and the International Monetary Fund want multibillion-dollar increases in their financial resources.

Quotas of the United States would be boosted almost four billion dollars under the plan recommended to the 68 member nations Monday by governors of the two lending institutions.

The United States governor of the World Bank, Secretary of the Treasury Anderson, proposed the increases last October.

The plan would increase the bank's authorized capital from 10 billion dollars to 21 billion. The new money would be pledged by member countries, not put up in cash.

A 50 per cent increase in the monetary fund's $9,193,000,000 pool of gold and currencies would be made through increases in the contribution of each nation. These quotas would be paid in gold and cash.

Under the proposal, the United States quota in the fund would be increased to $4,125,000,000 from $2,750,000,000. The American subscription to the bank would climb from $2,540,000,000 to $3,080,000,000. Congress would have to approve the increased United States quotas.

Confiscation Of Films Set

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—Movie films that do not bear the Kansas Board of Review's seal of approval will be confiscated after Jan. 1, says Mrs. Hazel Runyan, chairman.

They will be confiscated even though they are duplicates of movies previously approved by the board, she said.

A spokesman for the film industry said the proposal is a serious threat to a theater operator who unintentionally shows a film minus the seal.

Kansas is one of the three or four states that have censorship boards and film distributors may easily lose track of film copies that bear the required seals, the spokesman said.

Mrs. Runyan said the board has been ordered to enforce the law, and added that the board "has been sidestepped by the film companies in too many instances." She did not elaborate.

SCOUT NEWS

SCOUT COMMITTEE

YREKA — Bob Carlson of Yreka, new finance chairman of the Siskiyou District Boy Scout Council, reported on a new outlook in Boy Scout financing at the December meeting of the committee held recently in the Copco office at Yreka.

Carlson stated that the new system will be known as "Sustained Membership." This method of financing gives recognition to those who participate as members of an organization whose interest in the Boy Scout program is indicated by their donations.

C. W. Patton gave a report on the progress of the regular Boy Scout finance drive, which is in the process of being completed.

George Edwards of Fort Jones has accepted the office of vice chairman for the Scott Valley area. It was suggested that the district committee hold its regular March meeting somewhere in Scott Valley.

Charles Harris, chairman of the advancement committee, stated that he and his committee are working on a list of merit badge counselors to be published for the benefit of all Boy Scout troops. He also said that a form for recording all cour. of honor activities and procedures will be made available to all units soon. By use of this form, permanent records may be kept of all ceremonies.

A copy of these proceedings will be sent to the district publicity committee for publication in newspapers. In addition to this, it will be recommended that a report on all Boy Scout and Cub Scout activities be sent to this committee for publication.

Dom Favero, leadership training chairman, announced that a program on leadership training for all cub and scout leaders has been scheduled for March 11. The place for these sessions has not been decided as yet. Suggestions are needed as to the location for training of out-of-town leaders.

Favero also stated that there is a need for explorer group leaders for the new explorer program that is being started in this area.

Grant Hosford, vice chairman, attended a council meeting in Medford, at which time "Operation Ice" was discussed. It was reported that this outdoor winter campout will begin March 14, and will be somewhere in the Mt. Shasta area.

"Operation Ice" consists of two nights out with a hike of two miles, either on skis or snowshoes. Hubert Hamilton of Medford will be in charge. Also to accompany the boys will be an Army Air Force officer, trained in cold weather survival. This campout is limited to explorers only. More information will be forthcoming relative to this project.

It was decided to hold a recognition banquet sometime in February, probably during Scout Week, for unit leaders and other scouts who have put forth their time and efforts for Boy Scouting. Grant Hosford was appointed as chairman for the event.

Present in addition to those mentioned were Del Pilliar, district vice president; Lee Morford, council member at large; Lawrence Hastings, I.R. for Troop 47; Lonnie Johnson, district scout executive; H. M. Hendryx, publicity chairman, and Cliff Thompson, district committee chairman.

AT THE MUSEUM

By IRENE SEELY
Santa Claus has certainly been good to the Klamath County Museum this month. We have received three gifts of considerable interest from three widely different sources. The first one came in from the Herbert Applegate Post of the Spanish-American Veterans. Only one of the original charter members of the post is still living, Thomas M. Bieler, Klamath Falls. He is the present commander of the post. The post is no longer active so the members decided that the Charter and Muster-roll should be placed in the museum. Included in the gift is a picture of the post members wearing original uniforms. There is also a flag of 44 stars which once flew over Klamath Agency when Oliver Klamath was the Indian Agent. Later it was used by the post. These gifts were received through the efforts of Mrs. John Simmonds, whose husband was the post commander before his death.

The second gift came from T. G. Zinn Jr. It is a certificate from the postmaster general of the United States authorizing John T. Irish to act as postmaster at Snow, in 1898. Snow was a pioneer community located on the old road near Pinehurst. The name was later changed to Snake. Of special interest is the fact given by Zinn of the finding of the date, 1806, carved on an ancient juniper tree near this old community. The usual date given for the first white visitor to the Klamath Basin is 1825, when Finnan MacDonald spent a season trapping for the Hudson Bay Company. Zinn says the carving has been distorted by the growth of the tree and partially filled in by bark, but is easily recognizable.

The third gift is of particular interest to deer hunters. It is a particularly fine mounted specimen of a mule deer. This spread of horns has been given a rating of 172 1/2 points by the Boone and Crockett Committee of Records, and is above the standard required to rate as an outstanding trophy.

The Boone and Crockett Club was organized in 1887 by Theodore Roosevelt at his home in New York. Its objective was to work for game and forest preservation and to encourage sportsmanlike methods of hunting. As part of this later objective, the club has set up certain high standards which a specimen must meet before it can be registered as an outstanding trophy.

The animal was shot by Cleo Phillips, 667 California Avenue, Klamath Falls, on Andy Bodner's place near Hildebrand in the season of 1932. It dressed out at 234 pounds. Although this is not a record, particularly for size, the general excellence of the head and the horns is easily seen.

Another item of interest received by the museum, though it cannot be claimed as a Christmas present, is the specimen of soft board presented by the Johns-Manville Corporation. The museum already possesses the shovel with which the cornerstone of the building was laid and this piece of the first product of the mill will make an excellent exhibit.

We also have a long-term loan that will interest the art collectors of the county. Jim Worden of the Pony Pass Motel brought in a wampum belt and a frame of beautiful arrowheads. The belt is based on an exceptionally thick piece of buffalo hide, with an unusual pattern in blue beads. The points were picked up by Worden on the Rogue and the lower Klamath Rivers.

We'd also like to call your attention to our Christmas tree. The two ladies trimming the tree are Samantha, whose dress dates from 1860, and Abigail, who wears a gown of 1880.

FLAGSHIP NEARS BASE LONDON (UPI)—The fourth Soviet Antarctic expedition's flagship Ob has reached the coastal ice cover edge near the Russian base at Mirny, the Soviet news agency Tass reported today.

Missing Family's Vehicle Believed Seen In Troutdale

PORTLAND (AP)—The search continued today for a station wagon similar to one owned by a Portland family of five that vanished Dec. 7.

The car was seen in a service station in nearby Troutdale Monday night, and police began at once to hunt for it.

Roadblocks were set up at Cascade Locks, 45 miles east of here, on the theory that the car had headed up the Columbia River Gorge.

The roadblocks were finally called off, but the Multnomah Sheriff's office continued to search for the station wagon.

Police said it resembled the one in which Mr. and Mrs. Ken Martin and their young daughters vanished after setting out to find a Christmas tree.

Ed Whitman said he sold $1 worth of gas to two men in the car—and called police after the men acted nervous.

"It was a cream-colored, red-trimmed 1954 station wagon," the 31-year-old Whitman said. "In the back of the car there were clothes on hangers."

"When I first went to the car, the driver just sat there. He was blank. Had on a black leather jacket. He was... say 25 to 35," said Whitman, who recently moved to Portland from Pendleton.

"I didn't see the other man close enough to describe him. The driver just shoved a dollar out of the window and said 'Gimme a dollar's worth.'"
