Reds May Soon Announce Man In Space Experiment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union probably will soon announce the successful return of a human passenger on a rocket flight, a report issued by the House Space Committee has predicted.

On the United States side of the space timetable, a missile expert says four unmanned interplanetary shots are planned this year. The Rand Corp., which does space research for the Air Force, made the forecast about the Soviet flight. A broad study Rand completed for the House committee was made public Thursday night.

In issuing the 252-page document as a "space handbook," the committee under House Majority Leader John McCormack (D-Mass) called it the most comprehensive work of its kind for laymen.

The report said American intercontinental ballistic missile rockets can be adapted to rocket-manned flight probably within less than five years. It added the Soviets will have as much or greater rocket capability in this period.

The Rand study also made these points: Launchings of hundreds of sat-
