Micka Rites

tip muffs with red poinsettias, centered with gold beads and looped with twisted gold ropes of velvet.

Attendants, other than the maid of honor, wore frocks of emerald green, identical to Donna Lee's. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Larry Campbell, Echo, Oregon; Lou Ann Kandra, Merrill, cousin of the bride; Betty Haren, Wasco, and Gwen Adams of Portland, the last two Delta Zeta sorority sisters of the bride. Darla Micka, younger sister of Diane was junior bridesmaid. All wore pearl drop necklaces, gifts from the bride.

Small Noel Stephens was flower girl and her young brother, Kelley, was ring bearer. They are brother and sister of the bridegroom. Noel, whose name added a bit of glamour to the Christmas setting of the wedding, wore a full-skirted dress of white flocked nylon trimmed with red velvet bows. Her flowers, worn in a half-halo in her dark curls, were also red. Kelley carried the two rings on a lace-floated, white satin pillow. Noel carried red flower petals in a white basket.

Bill Trent, Dallas, Oregon, Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity brother, was best man. Ushers were Dick Armstrong, Salem, and Ron Johnson, Redding, also fraternity brothers. Stuart Miller, Malin, and Don Micka, brother of the bride, and Jerry Micka, also a brother, were junior ushers. Don Micka and David Johnson, Malin, cousin of the bridegroom, lighted the tapers during the musical interlude.

A cocktail length slim-line frock in the Empire mode, of golden amber lace over taffeta, was chosen by Mrs. Micka for her daughter's wedding. With it she wore a pleated chiffon, off the face hat with open crown. Autumn roses in shades to complement her gown, were worn at her shoulder.

Mrs. Hannish wore fern green lace over beige taffeta also made in the new fashion. Her tiny feather hat and accessories were beige and her flowers were pink elf rosebuds.

Guests went from the church sanctuary to the social rooms for the reception. Window ledges in the room were massed with fir tips centered with red candles and red satin bows.

A white cloth with net-covered flounce that rippled to the floor, covered the refreshment table. Red satin bows that caught the net, further carried out the color accent.

Red roses and white leaves traced the four-tiered white cake encircled with Christmas greens at the base and topped with green wedding bells and lilies of the valley. The confection was served after the first slice was cut by the new Mr. and Mrs. Stephens. Mrs. L. J. Hollister, great-aunt of the bride and Mrs. Lewis Kandra, Merrill, her aunt, Mrs. Jerry Micka was at the punch bowl. Mrs. Albert Micka was at the silver collar service. Both are Diane's aunts. Shirley Mock assisted with the guest book. The newlyweds honeymooned at points north including Portland and Longview and upon their return to Oregon are at home at 363 B Street, Corvallis. For traveling, Mrs. Stephens wore a navy, sheer wool suit with white chemise top coat and winter white hat. Her wedding bouquet orchid was pinned at her shoulder.

Diane is a 1957 graduate of Malin High School and later attended the University of Oregon where she affiliated with Delta Zeta. Ron, a graduate of Dallas High School, is presently a senior at Oregon State College, and president of his fraternity, Phi Sigma Kappa.

Out of town guests here for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Hollister of Calgary, Canada, great-uncle and aunt of Diane; Mrs. G. Kesler, Dallas, Ron's grandmother; Larry Campbell of Echo, Oregon; Margaret Best, Dallas, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hartman, Eugene; Mr. and Mrs. M. Popovich, Corvallis; and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Daniels, Grants Pass, aunts and uncles of Ron, with their families.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Johnson, Ron's aunt and uncle, assisted by his father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. Bonnie Stephens, Tulelake, were hosts at the rehearsal dinner on the eve before the wedding. The buffet dinner at the Johnson home in Malin was attended by 40 relatives, guests, and members of the wedding party.
