

Hatfield Assumes Office In Colorful Ceremony

SALEM (AP) — Mark Hatfield, 38-year-old Republican, was inaugurated as governor Monday in a colorful 90-minute ceremony in the House Chamber in Oregon's capitol.

Oregon's 29th and youngest governor, Hatfield found reaction to his message mixed. Democratic legislators, who have control of both houses, criticized it, claiming that Hatfield did not recommend enough new taxes to support his program. Naturally, Republicans were vociferous in their praise. The inauguration and organization of both houses went smoothly as clockwork. There had been fears that the inauguration might be delayed by the argument over whether Hatfield or outgoing Gov. Robert D. Holmes should name the secretary of state. But that argument is headed for the state Supreme Court now. The House Chamber was packed for the ceremony, and the crowd overflowed into the corridors. Hatfield and Holmes were given hearty ovations as they entered the chamber.

Prison Escapee Refuses Waiver

VALE, Ore. (AP)—The last of five prisoners who overpowered a jailer and escaped from a Kansas county jail Dec. 29 has refused to waive extradition, and will be taken to Portland by federal authorities.

He is Ronald Dale Smith, 21, who was captured here Saturday by Sheriff's Deputy Frank Elfering and an FBI agent. Smith was arrested on a Kansas warrant charging unlawful flight from the Reno County Jail in Hutchinson to avoid prosecution for burglary. Smith told officers he had been in this area about a week when he was arrested. He said he boarded a bus at Wichita, and stopped at Salt Lake City before coming here to visit friends.

Four former governors were there. They were Charles A. Sprague, John Hall, Douglas McKay and Elmo Smith. As Hatfield finished taking the oath, he signed the commission appointing Howell Appling, 39, secretary of state.

Alabama Circuit Judge May Hand Over Documents

CLAYTON, Ala. (AP)—Circuit Judge George Wallace, courted a jail term for contempt, was expected to hand over voter registration records to a second county grand jury today.

Agents for the U. S. Civil Rights Commission, though armed with a court order, probably will meet the same pattern of defiance in adjoining Bullock County today as confronted them here in Barbour County Monday when Wallace refused to show the records.

Commission agents, arriving for court-ordered appointment to check the records for evidence that Negroes had been discriminated against, found Wallace was placing the files in custody of a hurriedly assembled Barbour County grand jury.

Another grand jury reportedly was ready to be empaneled in Bullock, although the agents have a mandate ordering Wallace to open files of both counties. Wallace left the decision on whether the agents could inspect the records up to the 18 Barbour jurors. The jurors agreed to let the investigators "examine these records jointly with us," but the agents declined the offer.

A commission spokesman said the agents rejected the proposal "because we have no authority to deal with the grand jury. Our authority is to deal with Judge Wallace."

The 39-year-old state jurist, who previously had impounded the records in both counties and refused to surrender them to the federal government, will face a hearing in Montgomery Wednesday before U. S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr.

Johnson, who set the hearing to see if his order had been obeyed, said he anticipated no action before Wednesday. "I want to give Judge Wallace every opportunity to comply with the order of this court," he said.

OMEN
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—Officials couldn't find the clapper for the bell which convenes the Utah legislature. So Secretary of State Lamont F. Toronto banged it with a hastily procured monkey wrench to open the 1959 session.
