Body Found Of KF Flier

The body of a former Klamath Falls man, Vincent W. Reece, 22, airman first class, Air Force, was found recently following a plane crash by Navajo Indians about 30 miles southeast of Gallup, New Mexico. The airman had been missing with a airman since December 29 when they left the San Francisco Bay Area for Elgin Air Force Base in Florida after spending the Christmas holidays with their families on the West Coast. They were unreported after leaving Flagstaff, Arizona.

Vincent Reece was a native of this city, a graduate of Klamath Union High School and winner of the district championship wrestling title in his senior year, when he also played on the KUHS varsity football team. He enlisted here in the Air Force, May 17, 1955, training at Parks AFB in California, continuing his training at the Engineering School, Great Lakes Naval Training Base near Chicago.

While the family lived here, his father, Warren L. Reece, was an officer on the Klamath Falls police force. His maternal grandfather, C. D. Long, was business agent for the AF of L before retiring. His mother, the former Gladys M. Long, owned and operated the Fremont Grocery for a time prior to September 1954.

His young wife, Charlene, married December 22, 1955 is employed in San Francisco. His parents, live at Reece' aven, Rt. 1, Box 2404, Zayante Road, Felton, California, where mail will reach them.

No explanation of cause for the accident was given in the report of the young flyer's death, sent to friends here.

Local Father Given Scare

Roy Weaver, 2041 Sargent Avenue, had a bad scare Sunday afternoon, when his 4-year-old son Chuckie told him to "Come see what's wrong in Donald's room."

Donald is the Weavers' 20-month-old son, who had been left in his room with an inhalator, because of a bad cold, while his father worked in the yard.

What the senior Weaver discovered, when he went into the house, was that the inhalator had boiled dry, and that smoke filled not only Donald's room, but the house as well. He grabbed the young boy and made for the open air, but Donald did not "come to" at once.

Weaver called the city fire department for the resuscitator, and while it was on the way, started to give artificial respiration himself. Donald's breathing was restored by the time the firemen arrived.
