UF Leader Notes Losses Of Pledges

United Fund Treasurer Leo Molare called attention to the pledge losses sustained by the fund under employe payroll deduction plans in Monday's regular meeting of the board of the organization, held at the Willard Hotel. Molare distributed copies of the result of a study of uncollected 1958 pledges compiled during the new year, which showed that 40 odd firms had pledged losses of over $25 each and that the losses from these firms amounted to $6,161.31. The total amount of pledges from the approximate firms was $34,467.83, so the approximate loss involved is 18 per cent. Losses from other types of pledges ran much lower; the total loss for the year was $7,523.32. The treasurer said he believed the loss on payroll deduction plans was due to the fact that as an employe changes jobs, he is not signed up for payroll deductions on his new job; nor is his replacement signed up for a deduction on the old job. The board accepted Molare's recommendation that a special committee be set up to study pledge losses. The board also accepted the recommendations of the nominating committee and named Ron Phair to be second vice president of the organization, replacing Frank G. Grogan, who succeeded to the first vice presidency when Rollin Cantrall moved from that position to the presidency. Cantrall replaced Ralph Hemmesch as president when the latter moved from Klamath Falls. Other recommendations of the nominating committee, also adopted, were to fill vacancies on the board of directors. For terms ending in 1960, Paul Cruikshank was named to replace Ralph Hemmesch, Thayne Cole for Capt. Virgil Esworthy and Homer Richey for Jai Krosch. For terms ending in 1961, Max Ruge replaces Dick Moehl and the Rev. Robert Greene, Ben Thompson, four vacancies expiring in February, 1959, were left unfilled. Mrs. George Clark was appointed chairman for the annual meeting, to be held the first week in February. Dick Laudenschlager, chairman of the 1959 United Fund-Red Cross drive, read a report from the committee headed by Thayne Cole, on the results to date of "Operation Blitz"—the drive cleanup operation. With total receipts of $2,943.90, "Operation Blitz" had brought the total for the 1959 drive up to $125,342.77. Margaret Sheridan, chairman of the budget committee, reported that her group would hold a noon meeting at the Willard Hotel on January 19, and that meetings with United Fund Agencies would begin January 21. These meetings will be necessary to set new allocations. In view of the fact that the drive fell nearly $23,000 short of the $150,000 goal, Molare had reported that the first 1959 disbursements to the agencies had been prorated on the basis of the original allocations. Frank Tucker asked everyones present to think how new strides toward the $150,000 goal could be made during the year. He said that this goal figure represented a "bare minimum" of what was needed.

SMOKE-FILLED TAVERN Only a smoke-filled room developed Wednesday morning at the Drumstick Tavern, 1038 East Main Street, when shot blocked a pipe leading from an oil floor furnace. The city fire department answered a call to air out the place just before 6 o'clock.

within a month or so after they begin driving. "If what we do about them is effective," Mathews said, "by the time they're 16 they should have this recklessness out of their blood, and by the time they're 17 they should have calmed down." Last year's statistics showed there were three violators aged 13, two aged 14, 19 aged 15, 147 aged 16 and 210 aged 17. Mathews said 76 per cent of the teen-aged violators arrested in 1958 came in only once. The total of 291 arrests represented 283 different teen-aged drivers. The majority, 215 or 76 per cent, came into the juvenile office only once. Two appearances were made by 49 drivers, three citations each were issued to 12 drivers. Three drivers were cited four times each and four youths were cited five times during the year. The seven youths who appeared four or five times each earned lengthy license suspensions. Suspensions were imposed on other drivers as well. During 1958 courts suspended the licenses of six drivers for more than 60 days. The licenses of 39 young drivers were suspended for 60 days or less, and the licenses of 14 others were partially suspended. Of the total offenses, 17 cases were transferred to Klamath County District Court and two other cases were transferred to municipal court. But the majority of all cases were heard in juvenile court. Is juvenile court a good place to handle these drivers? "The juvenile court can't impose fines, it can only suspend licenses," Mathews said. "But I think that method perhaps is better than imposing a fine which parents could pay and which would mean very little to the young driver. If a teen-ager really wants to drive, but his license is suspended, he'll feel it." Last year was the first for which extensive statistics were maintained by the juvenile office. These are some of the other facts found throughout the year. Violations resulted in 31 accidents, bringing injury to four persons, hospitalization for one, no fatalities, and $7,296 in property damage.

Judge Sets Jury Trial

Dan Harlow Cox, 24, accused of giving liquor to a minor, pleaded not guilty in district court Wednesday and will reappear for jury trial January 27. Cox, 39 Main Street, was implicated after city police spotted one car pushing another at 1 a.m. New Year's Day and found the boy in the front car under the influence of alcohol. The boy, police said, told officers Cox had given him beer, and provided a statement to that effect for liquor control authorities. Cox was arrested last Friday night on a complaint filed by the boy's mother. At his hearing before District Judge D. E. Van Vactor today, Cox entered his plea of not guilty, was advised to get an attorney, and was remanded to jail in lieu of $400 bail. In another district court action, Ronnie Virgil Haskins, a 19-year-old placed on probation in September for stealing from a car, was sentenced to 60 days in jail after having violated his probation. Officers said Haskins had gone to California without obtaining permission, and was about to leave again when he was arrested. Haskins and two other teen-agers were caught by City Patrolman Ray Howard, who saw someone poking into a parked car and rushed into, clad in a bathrobe with a gun in one hand and a flashlight in the other, to see what was the matter. The stolen property proved to be a fishing rod belonging to Jimmy Thomas, 1937 Oregon Avenue.

Directors for the 1959 year will be elected at this meeting. Mack has been president for the last three years. The nominating committee is headed by Bryant Williams, chairman. Members are M. G. Burke of Bonanza and Don Hurlbut of Tulelake. Last year 125 members marketed 14,000 fleeces through the Klamath Wool Pool. Farm flocks have been steadily increasing over the last few years.

School Board Schedules Discussion On Salaries For Monday, January 19

By LAMAR HOOVER The approach of budget-making time dominated Monday night's regular semi-monthly meetings of the Klamath Falls two school boards, which started off the evening by deciding, in joint session, that the annual salary discussion with school personnel would take place next Monday, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Roderick Greshong, a teacher at Pelican School and chairman of the Classroom Teachers' salary committee, told board members that the teachers would like to discuss salaries at a private meeting. J. C. Renie, chairman of the District 1 board, told Greshong that the question as to whether the meeting would be private or public would have to be decided in agreement with all members of the budget committees. This decision should be reached Thursday evening during the District 1 budget committee meeting, as the District 2 committee was to meet Tuesday. During this discussion, it was also decided that salary representations from other groups of employes—cooks, janitors, and maintenance and secretarial personnel—would be heard at the same meeting, time permitting. While the two boards were meeting together, Superintendent A. L. Gralapp presented them with two alternative calendars for 1959-60. The matter to be decided is whether the teachers' in-service training period should take place before or after Labor Day, which falls very late in 1959; September 7. If the teachers report after Labor Day, the following schedule would be established: September 8-11, in-service; September 14, students report; January 25, second semester begins; and June 10, school terminates. If teachers report before Labor Day, the calendar could be modified as follows: August 31-September 4, in-service; September 8, students report; January 18, second semester begins; and June 3, school terminates. Gralapp told board members that Carol Howe, county school superintendent, had informally expressed his own preference for the second alternative. It was decided to take no action until a later meeting, thus allowing members of the public a chance to express preferences. Whatever decision is reached, the 1959-60 calendar should call for the following holidays and vacations: Veterans Day, November 11; Thanksgiving, November 26 and 27; Christmas, December 24 to January 3, inclusive; and May 30, Memorial Day. Gralapp told members of both boards that the League of Oregon Cities was planning to introduce a bill in the State Legislature for a law permitting formation of "school patrols" similar to the student traffic patrols now existing in California and Washington. Assistant Superintendent Garry Robertson summarized for the board members the safety education currently offered in the local schools. In addition to driver training, given only through the study of textbooks, schools offer elements of safety education in the following courses: physical education and health, social studies, English and science. There is also first aid instruction, emphasized on the junior high school level. Robertson said that educators now believe that it is preferable to give safety instruction in different sorts of classes, rather than limiting such instruction to special safety courses. The joint session of the two boards concluded with a discussion.

Legion Oldtimers Schedule Meet

American Legion Oldtimers Night and initiation of new members will be held on Tuesday in the Legion Hall, North Eighth Street, starting at 7:30. Refreshments will follow the meeting. Oscar S. "Any World War II or Korean veterans who are interested are invited to be at the Legion Hall by 7 p.m. on Tuesday." "Doc" Nissen said, "Come and join your comrades of the late wars. We should have 500 more members here in Klamath Falls."

City Police Tell Burglary

City police reported that an intruder entered Bill's Tavern, 2045 Oregon Avenue, sometime between 1:30 and 3:20 this morning, but apparently took nothing. William Hilton, tavern owner, said he had gone downtown to eat and returned at 3:20 to fill beer cabinets, when he noticed that the back door had been forced open and the casing jimmied. He had apparently scared away the intruder who left unmolested $100 in the cash register. One accident was reported by city police. A 16-year-old driver was cited for following too closely when his car ran into the rear of a car driven by Billy Paul Dickey, 1304 Warden Street, who had stopped to make a turn on Alameda Avenue from Wall Street. These evidences of vandalism were also reported: William Howe, 1804 Lancaster Street, said 19 windows were broken in a shop at the rear of his home; Mrs. Dan Sedero, 2412 Reclamation Street, said someone had attempted to enter her house Sunday night but failed; Mrs. Howard Strode, 527 Eldorado, said her car aerial was broken off, and Ray Ward of Asphalt Paving Company said a rock was thrown into a building window. Arden Bowne, 313 High Street, said chrome lake plugs were stolen from his car and Phyllis Leach, 2121 Elva Street, said that in the last few days she lost her glasses, a blue framed pair in a plastic case.
