Canine Terror Halts Postman

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (UPI) - Postmaster Lowell Chapman said today mail deliveries have been temporarily stopped to at least five householders in the 2500 block of Graysby Avenue because carriers have been bitten five times by dogs in the past 90 days.

The dog owners will have to pick up their own mail from general delivery until they can give assurance their dogs are properly tied, Chapman said. "Carriers are not required to jeopardize their safety in delivering the mail," he declared.

Motion Picture Academy Repeals Controversial Law

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) - The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences has repealed a controversial amendment barring Communists and "Fifth Amendment" witnesses from the annual competition for Oscars.

The action, revealed Wednesday would allow Communists and witnesses who pleaded the Fifth Amendment before government investigating committees to be eligible for Oscar nominations which begin next month.

California Weather

United Press International San Francisco Bay Area: Increasing high cloudiness today; cloudy tonight and Friday; high today 60-65; low tonight 44-50; gentle winds.

Northwestern California: Cloudy through Friday with occasional light rain in extreme north; little change in temperature; high today and low tonight Napa 54-44, Ukiah 62-44, Santa Rosa 60-39; coastal winds variable 7-15 m.p.h. except becoming southerly 15-30 m.p.h. north of Cape Mendocino tonight.

Sacramento Valley: Cloudy through Friday; little change in temperature; high both days 53-60; low tonight 43-50; gentle southerly winds.

A salamander can stand considerable drying, as much as 50 percent, and still recover.

Repeal of the amendment which had been in effect since Feb. 6, 1957, brought a blast from actor Ward Bond, president of the Motion Picture Alliance and a crusader against Communists in Hollywood.

"All these Fifth Amendment Communists are working now. We've lost the fight and that's all there is to it."

But Director George Stevens, president of the Academy's Board of Governors, defended the board's action which came Monday after a heated all-night session.

"This matter, this amendment," Stevens told United Press International, "has from the beginning been used only to harass the Academy. We're only interested in making awards based on merit."

The amendment, adopted two years ago when a "Robert Rich" - apparently a pseudonym - failed to claim an Oscar awarded him for writing the film story of "The Brave One," came under renewed fire this year over the eligibility of Ned Young, a screenwriter of the film "The Defiant Ones."

Young took the Fifth Amendment in 1953 while appearing before the House Un-American Activities Committee and would have been ineligible for an Oscar before the board's action.

The Academy Board of Governors found itself in somewhat of a quandary when it was pointed out that Young had collaborated on the script with Harold Smith, who was eligible for an award. The Academy finally labelled the amendment as "unworkable."
