LA GRANDE — Eastern Oregon College bounced back to wallop Oregon Tech 84-57 here Saturday night to split a two game Oregon Collegiate Basketball Series. OTI won Friday night's game in convincing fashion 80-62.

The Owls return home Sunday to start work for their next OCC action Wednesday on their home court against Southern Oregon College. The Red Raiders are leading the OCC with a perfect 4-0 record after winning twice from Oregon College of Education over the weekend.

Saturday night's Eastern Oregon win was sparked by a pair of all-conference stars, Larry Howard and Tom Neel. Howard paced the Mounties in a second half runaway, scoring 16 of his 23 points. Neel, who sat out Friday night's game in a disciplinary measure by coach Bob Quinn, led EOC in the first half with 10 points, all from the field.

Oregon Tech moved ahead in the opening minutes of play 6-4, and looked as if it was out to sweep the series. With 13 minutes remaining in the first half the Owls led 17-7 but then their pace faltered.

Neel and Frank Chase started hitting from the field and with 5:18 left the Owls margin dwindled to one point, 25-24. A layin by Howard followed by a long push shot by the Mountaineer playmaker gave Eastern Oregon its first lead of the game.

OTI led 31-30 but a field goal by Neel and two free throws by Pasco Arritola gave Eastern a 34-31 lead and they led the rest of the way.

Howard's 23 points was high for the game followed by Neel with 17. Jim Ramseyer and Charlie Wilson led OTI's scoring with 16 and 14 points respectively.

Layher and Horton, who sparked OTI to their Friday night win were held to four points each by the Mounties in the Saturday clash.

Paul Layher and Jack Horton paved Friday night's Owl win. The victory marked the end of a seven game losing streak for Tech and was the fifth straight loss for Eastern Oregon.

Layher, who played his best game of the season, caught the eyes of La Grande sports fans as he put on a brilliant exhibition of scoring and rebounding. The Owls pivotman played the backboards as if he owned them, drawing 30 rebounds. On offense he was just as deadly, tossing in 24 points, hitting 11 of 22 field goal attempts. Layher's 30 rebounds established a new Eastern Oregon field house single game rebound record.

Horton, drawing his first starting assignment since joining the club, backed up Layher's scoring total with 119 points of his own. The former KUHS athlete also picked up 10 rebounds. It was Hortons' scoring punch and rebounding midway through the second half that pulled the Owls away from the last EOC threat.

Eastern Oregon moved ahead briefly in the opening minutes of play, taking a 6-2 lead. But Horton hit two free throws and Charlie Wilson a layin that tied the count at 6-all. Layher hooked in a shot and Horton swished another from the corner as OTI took a 10-6 lead.

The Mountaineers regained the lead, 15-14 with 12 minutes left in the half, but back-to-back field goals by Wilson and Jim Ramseyer pushed the Owls into an 18-15 heading and there they stayed. Tech gradually pulled away from the favored Mounties. With 5:15 left in the first half OTI led 27-19.

At halftime the score favored the Owls 39-29.

EOC drew to within three points, 43-40 and 47-44, but Horton found the range, hitting six straight points as the Owls moved back in front 53-45 with 10 minutes left to play.

Palmberg was pleased by the showing of Layher and Horton but also added words of praise for a pair of Tech reserves, Freshmen Leon Wilson and Jess McCutcheon came off the bench in the first and second halves to spark the Owls with crucial scoring and rebounding.

Layher led all scorers with 24 points; Horton was second with 19. Larry Howard scored 16 to lead EOC while Frank Chase, EOC, and Charlie Wilson, OTI, each had 15.

KUHS Pelicans Gain Revenge With Victory Over Cavemen

GRANTS PASS — The Klamath Union Pelicans established themselves as a major threat in the Southern Oregon Conference by defeating their usual nemisis, the Grants Pass Cavemen, 62-46, on the Cavers' home floor Saturday night, after dropping the Ashland Grizzlies 54-38 Friday.

For the Pelicans, who have suffered only one defeat so far this season, the victory erased the taste of the lone loss as they completely overpowered the club responsible.

Directed by guard Dean Dunson, who counted 18 points, the Pels moved out to a relatively easy 12-6 lead at the quarter post. The Cavers, however, were not to die so easily, and moved to within one point, 16-15, just before the second stanza was gone. A couple of quick buckets by high pointer Bob Petersen and one by Don DeLap and the Pels moved up to a 23-16 halftime bulge.

Early in the third quarter Dunson got away for a couple of quick two pointers and again DeLap contributed one, and the KU Whitebirds were on their merry way.

The end of the third stanza saw the Pels on the tall end of a 37-26 count.

A rapid-fire fourth period saw both clubs get red hot; the Pels collecting 25 and the Cavers notching 20. Before the frame was over the action got so warm that the over eager Cavemen piled up more fouls than could be considered good for them. Rex Benner, who drilled 13 points for GP fouled out in the fourth followed shortly by guard Dick Hayes.

Petersen collected 20 points for first place while DeLap was second with 18. In the third position was Caveman Jim Olson who hit for 17.

The Pels hit a neat .350 from the field after big Bob Lewis set the trend with a pair of quick opening buckets; the Cavemen were a little behind with .300.

An air-tight Pelican defense held up most of the way, forcing the powerful Cave quint to shoot from the outside; their effort fell short.

Grants Pass' full court press towards the last of the game against coach Dean White's substitute squad forced the game into a particularly rough stage. No damage was done, however, as the subs held tough.

The sharp-eyed KU squad hit 26 of 33 at the free throw line while Cavemen hit only 12-20.

The Pels start around again next weekend when they host the Black Tornado on Pelican Court.

Huskies Pummel Beavers

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) — The Washington Huskies rode Doug Smart's 31 points to a 69-59 Pacific Coast Conference basketball victory over Oregon State here Saturday night.

Smart, an agile 6-7 senior, displayed a deft scoring touch to the bumper crowd of 8,149. He scored on 13 of 16 field goal attempts, and most of Smart's baskets came as he eluded defenders for easy lahins.

But there were two other big factors in Washington's triumph.

With six minutes remaining, an Oregon State rally cut Washington's lead to 58-53.

Then Smart started hauling the Huskies away with a layin, and John Pariseau, a little backcourt substitute, finished the job.

While the Huskies held OSC scoreless, the 5-9 Pariseau sank four free throws and one field goal in the next two minutes, and Washington was out of danger and out in front 66-53.

Washington was outscored 26-25 on field goals, but the Huskies took advantage of ragged OSC's 21 fouls and sank 19 points from the free throw line.

Washington had a splendid field goal percentage of .532, sinking 25 of 47 attempts, and showed the form that made the Huskies the pre-conference title favorite.

The Huskies, after a bad conference start, now have a 3-3 record.

Joseph Grabs Kegle Lead

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Joe Joseph wrenched the lead of the All Star Bowling Tournament away from Billy Welu Saturday night in the 11th of the 16 final rounds.

Joseph took three of four games from Ray Bluth of St. Louis, outscoring his man 829-777. This important triumph pushed Joseph's Petersen point total to 214-12 and enabled him to pass the lagging Welu, who scored 214-09.

Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., increased her point spread over the rest of the women's field in the 11th round and appeared to be on her way to her seventh title in the event.

Her point total is 104-20.

Donna Zimmerman of Akron, Ohio, second in the women's field, has 96-36 points.

Yreka Miners Whip EP '5'

YREKA — The Yreka Miners blasted their way to a 77-31 victory over an Oregon A-2 school, Eagle Point, in a non-conference test played on the Yreka floor Saturday night.

For coach Dick Edwards' Miner quint the win was victory number 12, with only one defeat to mar their record.

The Yrekans paced by 6-6 Bill Wilson who sunk an amazing 36 points to top them all, leaped off to a 24-8 lead at the end of the first period then moved out to a 41-21 bulge at the halfway rest.

A strong Pointer challenge in the third period saw the Yreka margin dwindle to 12 points but at this point the Miners took hold again and made the affair no contest.

The number two man in the score column was Jim Peters who added 16 to the Yreka cause and Jim Turner of Eagle Point was next with 10. Turner sprained his ankle late in the second quarter and forced the Pointers to do without his services for the balance of the game.

The superior height of the Miners showed up strongly as Wilson and Allen Eddy completely dominated the backboards.

In the B game the Miners rapped out a 28-20 win over the young Eagle Point five.

Dunsmuir Five Thumps Etna

DUNSMUIR — Coach Dave Blount's Dunsmuir Tigers stepped out of conference Saturday night and picked up a 42-35 victory over the visiting Etna cagers for their troubles.

Dunsmuir, paced by high pointer Dave Sirianni, who potted 16, had to come from behind after being down 10-8 at the end of the first quarter to outscore their foe 19-9 in the second canto. The half ended 27-19 for the Tigers.

A three point third period sealed the doom of the Etna five. The Tigers collected 12 points and never looked back. They were shaken up, however, as they switched places with Etna, collecting only three tallies themselves, in the last quarter. The edge was enough, however.

In the B game the Tigers won 46-23.

Mustangs Nip Modoc Braves

The Malin Mustangs saw a nine point, two-minute to go lead fall away to a miserly one point just as the whistle sounded to jump back into the win column with a 45-44 decision over the Alturas Modoc Union Braves Saturday night at Malin.

Paced by guard Randy Miller who hit the record for a total of 13 points, the Malin five watched what seemed like a leisurely pace in the first half turn ultimately into a real donneybrook in the fourth stanza.

Malin started off late then caught up just in time to end the first period on the tail end of a 12-10 count. By halftime the score was 28-19 for Malin and their worries were considered over. This was not so.

The Braves, paced by Marv Fountain, who collected 14 points, got the bit in their teeth and moved up strong in the last period. Time ran out on the Braves, however, before they could collect another score.

This has been a big week in the world of sports. The underdog East whips the West in the annual all-pro bowl football game.

John Quinn, head man in the Milwaukee Braves front office, resigns to take over reins of lowly Philadelphia Phillies, replacing Roy Hamey who goes back to the New York Yankees.

Earl "Red" Blaik stuns the country by announcing he is resigning his West Point football coaching job.

Brian London upset by Henry Cooper to shake up top-ranking heavyweight contenders list.

The Supreme Court upholds ruling against IBC bringing to an end the boxing "monopoly."

It was interesting to see Philadelphia's Norm Van Brocklin, the ex-Oregon and Los Angeles Ram football quarterback, come back to the coast and show the "home folks" he is still the old pro when it comes to directing a football team. Van's passing and field generalship played a big roll in the East's upset last Sunday at Los Angeles—on the same field where he had many similar glorious days while with the Rams.

Quinn's action came as no big surprise to many who have followed the inner workings of baseball. When the Braves hired Birdie Tebbetts to his new lofty spot in the Milwaukee organization and gave him authority that Quinn had—or should have had—then it was just a matter of time before John Q. would find something else. And the move to Philly was likely since Hamey was on the hot seat and was interested in getting back with a winner—the Yankees.

Blaik's move shocked sports people at all four corners of the earth. There was no inkling that he was about to bow out as the Cadets athletic director and football coach. There is wild speculation now on who will be in line for the job. There are four names mentioned as possible replacements. They are Terry Brennan, ex-Notre Dame coach; Forest Evashevski of Iowa; Frankie Albert, ex-San Francisco 49er coach; and Paul Dietzel of undefeated LSU. Of the four, Dietzel's name seems the least likely since he has just been given more money at LSU, a longer contract, and he has 30 returning lettermen coming back next year.

When London lost a decision to Cooper, the list of challengers for Floyd Patterson's heavyweight title staggered. London was slated to be the next foe to take a crack at the champion, but it will be some time now before he steps into the same ring as Patterson. Cooper, like all challengers, issued a guarantee demand within hours after the win, as if Patterson's future depended upon his (Cooper) meeting the champ.

The IBC seems to have taken its last step. The highest court in the land has voted in favor of an earlier court ruling against the commission that has controlled the major share of the boxing game including most of the champions. Patterson's manager Gus D'Amato, who has been having a running battle with the IBC, was pleased with the rulmg and now has hopes of his heavyweight king seeing more action.

It's all in a week's living.

ORLANDO CEPEDA
. . . winter league's big bat

a 2-0 football game to Miami. Oregon players and rooters had a field day crying "we wuz robbed." Well, it looks as if they were right.

According to Dick Strite, Eugene Register Guard, the game movies finally arrived in Eugene. And these movies not only proved the Oregon claims correct, but they also brought about new charges on the matter.

Strite called the disputed win, "Murder in Miami!" He added, "Three questionable plays were rerun several times until we were satisfied that the officiating was so bad the men in the striped shirts could have been charged with robbery on the two Oregon touchdowns that were called back.

Of the two nullified TD plays, Strite relays:

"On the 18-yard keeper touchdown run by Paul Grover, guard Joe Schaffeld was charged with holding. Not only was his charge legal, but the official who called the penalty made his move like a sneak thief. Grover was at the five-yard line before the official managed to work his hanky out of his pocket and allow it to drop. The hanky was not thrown to the ground nor tossed into the air — but dropped stealthily. He made no decisive maneuver to indicate the penalty until Grover's run was all over. . . .

"The seven-yard touchdown pass from Dave Grayson to Willie West was very definitely legal. The movies show the third down marker squarely at the Miami 7-yard line. When Grayson unlimbered his pass, his front foot was squarely on the 8-yard line—and although hit, his momentum took him toward the goal line. Not only was the touchdown in the end zone signaled reluctantly, but the official who called the penalty (an illegal forward pass beyond the line of scrimmage) was in no position to make the call accurately. . . ."

Merrill Quint Clobbers Tule

The Merrill Huskies regained a portion of their honor by licking the undermanned Tulelake Honkers 58-24 on the Husky court Saturday night after being knocked off the top spot in their league standings the night before by the SHA Trojans.

Using every player on his bench coach Al Keck's squad got away to an easy 18-7 lead in the first period and maintained the pace, stretching out 30-14 at the midway points.

During the third stanza the Huskies held their foe to only five points while picking up 17 for themselves, the period ending 47-19 for Merrill.

Bud Maupin poured in 20 points to top all the scorers. His nearest rival was teammate Brian Fields who spotted nine. The top point-producer for Tulelake was Billy Walker who counted eight.

At the free throw line the Huskies hit 8 for 14 but the Honkers could do no better than 4 for 11.

Every player on the Merrill bench broke into the score column. Bruce Brickner, 6-5 center, saw only limited Merrill action because of a cold that has been plaguing him.
