

Announcing...Texaco's giant new Puget Sound Refinery

now serving the great Pacific Northwest

BIG is the word to describe Texaco's new 45,000-barrel a day refinery at Anacortes, Washington. Each of the largest tanks in the photograph can store almost 10-million gallons of petroleum products! And imagine a 30-inch pipeline that can handle 1½-million gallons of oil per hour! Also, a refinery that processes a daily average of about 2-million gallons of Sky Chief Supreme gasoline and other petroleum products! This is one of the world's most efficient refineries!

MORE JOBS... MORE PEOPLE! This new refinery is Texaco's second on the West Coast—lending the strength of another major manufacturing enterprise to the economic growth of the Pacific Northwest. It employs hundreds of people, with much of its substantial payroll to be spent with local merchants.

Texaco people are settled happily in their new community. They like living in the Pacific Northwest. They enjoy its scenic beauty, recreational facilities, and the fact that it's a great place for all-around family life.

WE'RE GLAD TO BE HERE! This giant new Puget Sound Refinery symbolizes Texaco's faith in the continued growth of the great Northwest. We are glad to be here with such an important addition to our nationwide operations... and to contribute to the motoring pleasure and the well-being of so many people.
