

BEEF in Savory Sauce with Noodles is a splendid winter entree. It is so easy, too, by using Nalley's Beef Stew. Nalley's fine food flavors have been favorites in the Pacific Northwest for a long time and the company is now in its 41st year of making meal preparation easier for homemakers.

WINTER ENTREE

Winter winds haven't been so sharp in the Klamath Basin as during normal winters, nor has the Basin been plagued with snow, but hearty dishes still taste mighty fine during the late winter months.

Nalley's Beef Stew is a good case in point. Although it is a year around dish, beef stew is usually asked for by the family more frequently during the winter.

Open a can of Nalley's Beef Stew, heat, and then serve with home made noodles and a tossed salad and you have a quick meal.

Of course, it's quicker if you use packaged noodles, but making them yourself is fun and they have that solid goodness that just "goes with" Nalley's Beef Stew.

NOODLES

There is a basic recipe for home made noodles. To each whole egg used, add the amount of liquid which half of one eggshell will hold. Use cream, milk or water for the liquid. Add a half of teaspoon of salt (you'll have to salt the water they are cooked in and then salt the final dish, anyway).

Beat the eggs and cream and then add flour to make a soft dough. Divide into at least two parts and roll out each part and cut into noodles. We use a floured pastry cloth and a covered rolling pin and cut the noodles with the kitchen shears, dipping the blades into flour now and then. The soft noodles are ready to cook as soon as cut and they are more tender if you don't have to work too much flour into them.

Cook in a large pan of rapidly boiling water until just done—6 to 10 minutes, as a rule, if they aren't too thick—but don't overcook.

Drain, dress with butter and serve with Nalley's Beef Stew, piping hot.

For two people, start with two eggs—but you may find you're a four-egg-noodle family.

GENIE

Genie, Colgate-Palmolive Company's new "complete" detergent, is recommended by the maker for all household cleaning and laundry, including the automatic dishwasher. It carries long lasting germ protection and disinfects the dishes during the winter common cold season.

Follow the directions on the label on the bottle for best results. It will clean spots from cloth, painted walls, ceramic tile, and aids in laundry.

Lipstick stains on white linen napkins are a cinch with Genie. Just rub them with a little full strength liquid as it comes from the bottle, then toss them into the automatic washer and out they come.

Heel marks on the floor yield readily to an application of Genie. Be sure and rinse well when using on floors or painted walls.

Genie will remove paint from paint brushes. Again, follow the directions on the bottle.

Remove old wax from the floors with Genie. Be sure to rinse asphalt and rubber tile floors thoroughly after use.

DREAMING of a free Florida vacation, Harold Crocker, head of the produce department at Piggly Wiggly Store in Klamath Falls, donned swimming trunks, sun glasses and a big straw hat to emphasize the liquid sunshine contained in the beautiful Snoboy Indian River Grapefruit which are on sale all over Klamath Falls this weekend. The sun lamp was set up to take his mind off the 24-degree weather (above zero, of course) outside when the picture was taken on Wednesday morning by Don Kettler, staff photographer of the Herald and News.

Snoboy Grapefruit

Florida Citrus Bandwagon promotion is being put on by all of the 150 branches of Pacific Fruit and Produce, according to Wilbur Siegner, local Pacific Fruit manager.

The promotion brought the equivalent of approximately two carloads of Snoboy Indian River Grapefruit to Klamath Falls for this weekend. It is timed for the peak of perfection of the crop and this year's yield is excellent, Siegner said.

Pacific Fruit has offered a top prize of an all-expense-paid Florida vacation for two for the best Snoboy Indian River Grapefruit display in a retail market. The accompanying picture of Harold Crocker and the display he built at Piggly Wiggly Store here will be entered and judged on originality, effectiveness and eye appeal. February 16 is the deadline for receiving entries so announcement of the winner is a month away. There are 10 second prizes from Snoboy for grapefruit displays. The lesser prizes run clear down to a packet of Florida sand and a supply of Florida picture postcards to mail to friends.

The carton of 40 Snoboy Indian River Grapefruit which Crocker is holding will be given away on Saturday after a drawing to be held at 5:30 p.m. in the store. There is no obligation to buy anything to participate in the drawing.

See the individual grocery ads in today's paper for other store promotions and drawings.

DICK PENNEMAN, Southern Oregon representative for Colgate-Palmolive Company, was in Klamath Falls last week arranging distribution for the AD dinnerware offer. New AD packages (The Advanced Detergent) like the one shown here all carry the "Royal Maytime" dinnerware offer. A coupon on the back of the package shows how you can complete your dinnerware set.

Don't forget simple stewed fruits for dessert. Crisp cookies served along with them add a pleasant contrast in texture.

THEY'RE HERE NOW!

SNBOY INDIAN RIVER GRAPEFRUIT!

Good? Sure! You can tell by every plump, meaty section you spoon into. You can tell by every sunny drop of juice. (Sweet, with a lively zip that invites you back for more.)

These are the grapefruit worth their weight in golden flavor because they're picked for flavor. SNBOY wouldn't have them any other way. And once you've sampled some we've got a good strong hunch you'll agree!
