

ADD A DASH of Jamaica rum to Babas just before serving. It can be done at the table with the new Myers Rum dasher bottle. For a lacing of rum in the coffee, pass the bottle for each guest to add his own to taste.

BREEZE

Lever Brothers Company has scheduled advertising in the Herald and News to announce its new offer accompanying every purchase of economy size Breeze detergent. Watch for the ad next week.

There are Cannon Mills kitchen towels packed free with each economy size of Breeze. The towels come in modern pastel stripes in different shades and are suited for many household chores.

Face cloths and bath towels are packed with the regular and king size boxes of Breeze detergent.

The makers of Breeze are currently featuring a consumer offer keyed to the "holiday-depleted" budgets and the "pre-income-tax" economy period. You can get a free regular size package of the popular detergent simply by mailing in a single box top from any of the brand's three different sizes.

BABA AU RHUM

Baba au Rhum is one of those desserts considered so complicated and difficult that the very serving of it sets a hostess apart. Actually, Baba need not be difficult. Ordinarily it is a yeast-raised cake, but it can be made with baking powder instead. The important thing is to soak the rather porous cake with a syrup made of Jamaica rum, sugar and water while it is still warm, then sprinkle the cake liberally with more rum just before serving.

Brand new on the market is a gadget which makes soaking the Baba no trick at all: the Myers Rum dasher bottle, designed especially for kitchen use, with a top from which you can sprinkle a few drops or a few tablespoons of rum from a can! Need added rum as you wish. The bottle can even be used at the table, passed around at dessert time for a bit of rum flavor over ice cream, sherbet, puddings or for a lacing of rum in black coffee.

Even ready-baked Babas from

WITH SAUSAGE

Saute cling peach halves in a little butter or place them under the broiler with butter and brown sugar in the cavities and lightly brown to serve with breakfast sausage or pan fried ham.

If you are buying a scrub pail, buy one divided into two compartments so you have only one pail instead of two to carry around.

the bakery for the new gourmet rum just before serving to give them the proper rum-soaked consistency and flavor. The hostess in a hurry can take Babas from a bakery (or can), arrange them on a platter, press rosettes of whipped dessert topping around them and sprinkle the whole thing. Babas and whipped topping, with Jamaica rum from the Myers dasher bottle. Even the whipped topping becomes utterly delicious with a dash of rum.

BABA AU RHUM

3 eggs
1-3 cup sugar
1 1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
6 tablespoons melted butter
1/2 cup lukewarm milk

Beat eggs until light and frothy.

Add sugar gradually, continuing to beat after each addition. (If using a mixer, set at medium-low speed, keep in motion as sugar is added.) Sift flour and baking powder together. Add gradually to egg mixture, beating after each addition. When batter is very smooth, pour into 1 1/2 quart ring mold which has been lightly but thoroughly greased; fill a little more than half full. Bake at 325 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes until firm and golden. Let cool in pan five minutes, turn out and at once cover with two-thirds of rum syrup.
