KLAMATH AGENCY—Over 150 persons attended the Klamath Reservation Jaycees' Fourth Annual Crab Feed Awards Dinner at the Masonic Hall in Chiloquin Saturday night, January 24. This banquet is held annually during National Jaycee Week to honor the area's Outstanding Young Farmer and Junior and Senior citizens.

Dale W. Williams, 24, who farms and ranches 810 acres at the junction of state Highway 66 and the Sprague River Highway, was presented the plaque as this area's Outstanding Young Farmer by the 1958 winner, Gordon Givan. Williams is married and the father of a baby boy born on January 21. He spent three years at California Polytechnic College, where he majored in animal husbandry.

The Distinguished Service Award was presented to Chester Jack as the young man of the year for the reservation area by Joe Jackson. Jack is 35 years of age, married, and the father of two teen-age girls. He has lived in this area since the close of World War II and since that time has been very active in community affairs, especially in the field of youth activities.

The Senior Citizen Award, which is presented to an outstanding citizen of the community over 35 years of age, was this year given to Wayne Collins of Chiloquin by the PTA president, Mrs. Virginia Doak. Collins was honored for his work with the youth baseball teams and his efforts spent in improving the Spink Memorial Park in Chiloquin, among his other contributions to the community.

Edward Strong, Jaycee first vice president, was the recipient of the Key Man Award as the outstanding Jaycee member of the year. This presentation was made by Jaycee President Gordon Givan.

The early days of the Oregon State Jaycee organization was one of the topics of the evening. County Judge "Charlie" Mack of Klamath Falls, Mack, who was the first state president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce gave much credit to his early training in the Jaycees for his success in later life. Judge Mack also spoke on the coming prosperity of the northern end of Klamath County and his recent appointment to the State Tax Commission.

Master of Ceremonies for the banquet was O. W. Corbett, national director for the State Jaycees, of Burns. The invocation and benediction were given by the Rev. Harley Zeller of the Williamson River Community Church. Lloyd Peters, treasurer and recorder for Chiloquin, gave the welcome in behalf of the city.

The crab dinner was prepared and served by the ladies of the Eastern Star.

A PANEL DISCUSSION with parents will be conducted by the counseling staff of Klamath Union High School at Tuesday's program of the Parents and Patrons in the KU cafeteria beginning at 8 p.m. Paul Angstead will present a five-minute summary of the counseling and guidance program. Counselors shown are, left to right, Angstead, Francis Scapple, Mrs. Gladys Herron, Edward Stonebreaker, Mrs. Dorothy Adams and Andrew Knudsen.

Stockman Jack McAuliffe, 74, Dies In San Francisco

FORT KLAMATH—John Patrick (Jack) McAuliffe, 74, prominent stockman of Lake and Klamath counties in Oregon and Tehama County in Northern California, died January 30 in St. Francis Hospital, San Francisco.

He had been in ill health for two years, and critical for the last several months. He submitted to major surgery early in 1958 but returned with Mrs. McAuliffe to Fort Klamath and continued to handle his cattle operations.

Mr. McAuliffe was born in Meelin, County Cork, Ireland, and came to the United States in 1905 to settle at the age of 21 in Lakeview where he engaged in production of both cattle and sheep. He moved to Bly in 1914.

JOHN PATRICK McAULIFFE

He was married to Nora O'Connor in Chicago and the couple returned to Oregon and the Wood River Valley in 1920 where the family has since lived with the exception of winters spent in California.

In 1952 he retired and divided his Fort Klamath and Northern California holdings at Cottonwood and Ft. Bidwell, between his two sons and daughter, keeping a 2,500-acre ranch on Upper Klamath Marsh and his home in Fort Klamath. Two years later, tired of inactivity, he bought 1,000 acres of meadowland on Klamath Marsh and leased 4,000 acres of Indian Tribal Land for continuing his cattle business.

He was a member of the Wood River Pioneers and Old Timers, of Klamath Falls Lodge No. 1247, BPOE's, Mt. McLaughlin Council No. 2255 Knights of Columbus and attended St. Carmel Catholic Church, Chiloquin.

Funeral services will be held from Sacred Heart Church, Klamath Falls, February 2, when Msgr. Timothy P. Casey will recite a requiem mass, for the repose of his soul. Recitation of the Holy Rosary will take place at Ward's Klamath Funeral Home Sunday night. Concluding services and vault entombment will be in Mt. Calvary Cemetery.

Survivors include his widow, Nora of Fort Klamath; sons, Patrick of Fort Klamath, and Joseph of Cottonwood, California; a daughter, Mrs. Jack Conlan, Red Bluff, California; brothers, Dave of Redding, California and Maurice of Anderson, California; sisters, Mary Fitzgerald of Lakeview, Eileen O'Keefe of Ukiah, California, Margaret Quinlan, Hannah Burke, Dora Kenneally and Kathleen Aspel of Ireland; also 19 grandchildren.

Active pallbearers will be Bob Fitzgerald, Don Fitzgerald, Con Taylor, Con Lynch, Mitchell Tiltonson and Jack Hennessey. Honorary will be Russ Tisdale, Grant Perry, Loren Miller Sr., Dorman Turner, Dr. Arthur Sullivan and Tom O'Connor.

Welfare Panel Powers Hiked

PORTLAND (AP)—County welfare commissions will be given more authority in an administrative change announced Friday by the Oregon Public Welfare Commission.

Beginning in April, each county will be responsible for its social security case decisions. Instead of reviewing each case, the state commission will review the county's operations in this field only every three years.

The state commission adopted a $3,226,964 budget for the first quarter of 1958, including $1,638,000 for old age assistance, $1,023,403 for aid to dependent children, $535,769 for aid to the disabled, and $28,992 for aid to the blind.

More than 200 languages are spoken throughout the world, each with its own vocabulary, according to Encyclopedia Britannica.

Man Granted Venue Change

DUNSMUIR—Gerald Chester of Dunsmuir, charged with a traffic violation by the California Highway Patrol, was granted a change of venue from Dunsmuir Justice Court to Yreka Justice Court on Thursday in a memorandum issued by Judge James Allen, Siskiyou County superior judge.

Chester's attorney, J. P. Corra, asked for the change on the grounds that "a fair trial of Chester without excessive penalties could not be had before Dunsmuir Judge A. A. Smith."

Smith denied the request on the basis that the change appeared primarily for the convenience of the Yreka attorney and transporting the reimbursing witnesses for their time and travel would be an unnecessary expense to the county.

The matter was heard before Judge Allen on Monday with District Attorney Albert H. Newton Jr., presenting the judge's contentions.

Chester, involved in a minor automobile accident, was informed a complaint against him had been signed by the California Highway Patrol. He was not issued a citation as the officer did not witness the accident. He has never appeared in justice court to answer the charge.

A plea of not guilty was entered in his name by his attorney prior to the request for the change of venue.

DRAIN SLIDE POOL

PORTLAND (AP)—City engineers are to begin draining an underground pool of water beneath a slide at Portland's new hillside zoo Saturday.

The pool was discovered Friday. Earlier, engineers had said underground pools were the cause of a 20-acre slide at the four-million-dollar zoo.

Alien Pupils Visit Yreka

MONTAGUE—Thirty-six foreign students from International House at the University of California, Berkeley, arrived in Yreka January 30, for their annual weekend visit to Montague and Yreka as houseguests of Montague and Yreka Rotarians.

The students are all attending the university on various types of scholarships. They were accompanied by Mrs. E. S. Carlson, director of public relations at International House.

A variety of plans for entertaining the guests was outlined by a joint committee for the Montague-Yreka Rotary clubs, which included Elmer M. Martin and W. S. Swigart Sr., of Montague; with Ed Marlow and Harry Crebbin of the Yreka club.

Purpose of the annual visit was to afford the students an opportunity to live with an American family over a weekend, where they studied the American way of living. When the visitors were not busy following the set schedule of the committee, hosts took them on trips around Siskiyou County, and visited historic sites and other places of interest.

Council Studies School Morals

PORTLAND (AP)—Charges of immoral conduct in the area around Couch School were taken to the City Council Friday by a group of Northwest Portland residents. They presented a petition signed by 175 persons.

The council took no action on the petition, but demanded that the delegation state specific instances of improper conduct. The councilmen asked the delegation if the matters had been referred to the Police Department.
