

Police Seek Bank Robber

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Police widened their search for a stocky man of Filipino descent today in connection with the $2,000 holdup of the First Western Bank of Montgomery St. here.

Officers said the gunman may have been the same man who held up a bank in Delano last Friday.

Teller Mrs. Donna Johnson, 21, said the robber handed her a note Monday which began, "I have a gun. I want . . ."

Unable to read the rest of the scrawled message, Mrs. Johnson said the gunman moved a hand toward a pocket as she hesitated and said:

"I have cancer. I don't care if I shoot up the whole place. I want some money to get my mother out of the hospital. We Filipinos don't believe in killing, but I will if I have to."

Mrs. Johnson said she pushed a sheaf of bills toward the man, who then ran outside and drove away in a yellow Cadillac coupe.

Electric Industry Aide Sees A-Power Advance

NEW YORK (UPI)—The next decade will witness the advent of competitive nuclear power in the United States, spokesmen for the electric utility industry predicted today.

The development of private nuclear power has made great strides in recent years and should pick up speed when plants now under construction and planned go into operation, they said.

Francis K. McCune, vice president of General Electric Co., and general manager of its Atomic Products Division, said nuclear-electric power will be economically competitive with conventionally produced power in higher fuel cost areas by 1965.

"By 1970," he added, "we will have plants producing power for 3½ mills a kilowatt-hour, which will be competitive with 25 per cent of the fossil fuel power plants being installed at that time."

He predicted that as widespread competitive nuclear power becomes available, the electric utilities in most areas of the country will be generating power at costs well below those of fossil-fueled plants—those burning coal, oil and gas.

At the present time, industry sources noted, 131 electric power companies are participating in 27 nuclear projects. These projects include three plants in operation, nine under construction or contract, three in various stages of planning and 13 research, development and study groups.

Of the three already in operation, only one—the Vallecitos plant operated by Pacific Gas & Electric Co. at Pleasanton, Calif.—was financed entirely by private industry.

Spokesmen for the industry also noted that of the nine projects under construction or contract, only three are being built entirely with private funds.

Those three are Commonwealth Edison's 180,000 kilowatt Dresden station near Chicago; Consolidated Edison's 275,000 kilowatt Indian Point station near New York City, and Pacific Gas' 60,000 kilowatt Humboldt Bay station near Eureka, Calif.

The first two projects are slated to go into operation next year, while the Humboldt Bay plant is scheduled for completion in 1962.

In the remaining six projects under construction or contract, the electric utilities are receiving assistance from the Atomic Energy Commission.

Fraternities To Disband

STANFORD (UPI)—Two Stanford University fraternities have been ordered to disband until next fall and five others placed on social probation as a result of a wild drinking party in Los Altos Jan. 30.

Calling the party "a serious breach of acceptable social conduct that demands stringent action," Dean of Men William G. Craig Monday ordered the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity to close its doors until September and the Zeta Psi organization to close until June. Zeta Psi was placed on probation for two years, while Phi Gamma Delta received one-year probation.

Also placed on one-year probation were Beta Theta Pi, Sigma Chi, Phi Delta Theta and Delta Kappa Epsilon.

Los Altos police and state Alcoholic Beverage Control agents raided the party at the Los Altos Union Hall. They reported finding minors drinking and said students threw rocks at them.

Craig overruled a motion by the University's Inter-Fraternity Council to place Phi Gamma Delta and Zeta Psi on social probation and have members perform work at a Palo Alto convalescent home.

ILL HEALTH OFTEN DUE TO FALLEN ORGANS
By Dr. C. W. Davis

Another term for fallen organs is ptosis. Many people suffer from this condition unknowingly. The organs most commonly prolapsed are the stomach, intestines, and the uterus. Constipation can be due to prolapses of the colon. Prolapses not only produce abnormal function of the organs involved, but also affect the surrounding tissues upon which they rest by interfering with their normal circulation and function. The most common cause is lack of nerve supply to the affected muscle supporting the organ. Severe injuries and overexertion are other causes. When the muscles lack nerve impulses they lose their tonus, or in other words, they lack elasticity, thus relaxing and causing the organs to drop.

Relaxation of blood vascular walls as in varicose veins is sometimes brought about in same manner.

Chiropractic adjustments reach the cause of most of these conditions by removing interference with the transmission of nervous impulses causing the muscles to draw up and return the organs to their normal position.
