

FINE FREE DAYS have brought the installation of this receptacle for returning books, in front of the city library. Both the city and county libraries have declared a fine-free period which runs through Saturday, February 21. Books which have been taken without proper formalities, or kept too long, may be returned without even facing a librarian, during this period. Also, each library is accepting the return of books belonging to the other.

Karloff Kin Trial Slated

GUILDFORD, England (AP)—Mrs. Diana Bromley, 34, niece of actor Boris Karloff, has been ordered to trial on charges of strangling one of her sons and drowning the other.

Mrs. Bromley was charged in Magistrate's Court Wednesday. No date was set for the trial.

The woman is the wife of Thomas E. Bromley, a Foreign Office official attached to the British Embassy in Washington 1946-49. Her father is Sir John Pratt, British diplomat, authority on the Far East, and brother of the stage and screen star, who dropped the family name and took the stage name Karloff.

At the preliminary hearing, Prosecuting Attorney M. J. Jardine told the court Mrs. Bromley dragged her sons—Martin 13, and Stephen, 10—after they came home from school last Dec. 16 for the Christmas holidays.

He said she laid the unconscious boys on a bed in the garage, backed in a car to pump out carbon monoxide fumes, and lay down with them.

After a while she realized they were still alive, said Jardine, and she then killed Martin by strangling him with a belt. She carried Stephen upstairs to the bathroom and drowned him.

The attorney said Mrs. Bromley hacked at the boys' throats after they were dead, then cut her own throat and tried to drown herself in a lily pond.

Bromley, returning home that night with Christmas gifts, discovered bodies of the boys and then found his dark, attractive wife wandering in the woods. She has been in a London hospital since.
