

Meet Another Klamath Basin Grade "A" Family!

It's the R. H. "Kip" Nelson Family of Langell Valley

Typical of the industrious farm families of the basin who work 7-days a week to bring you the finest, freshest milk possible is the R. H. "Kip" Nelson family of Langell Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson and their 3 children, Patsy, 15; Marlene, 2; and Roger, 5, have operated their 510-acre dairy for nearly 9 years. They now have a milking herd of 75 fine Holsteins.

In the picture above, Mrs. Nelson is showing city-boy Donnie Allen the latest crop of calves — always plentiful around a dairy farm.
