

Administrator Uses Paddle To Thwart School Rebellion

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The abortive teen-age rebellion at Bartlett High will soon be history, put down by a polished maple paddle swung by Principal John Barnes.

Three more young pupils are on the waiting list for seven whacks. Fourteen have felt the sting thus far. Judge Willard Dixon heartily approves.

The judge, at a conference with seven angry parents in his office Tuesday, rejected demands for assault warrants against Barnes.

Two of the mothers came armed with photographs of their sons' smarting bottoms. The judge, after expert appraisal, said he had acquired worse bottoms himself for less.

The boys needed the whacking, he ruled. He cited a State Supreme Court ruling that teachers have, to a reasonable degree, the disciplinary rights of parents while the child is in their care.

To a mother who said the Bartlett High paddling was too severe, even if warranted, Dixon said he figured he was a better man because of the paddlings he received.

To another who said Barnes furiously kicked his office desk out of the way to gain swinging room, the judge observed: "If he wants to take a running start, maybe he needs it."

Several of the boys, 15 to 17 and wearing injured expressions, stood in a corner during the conference.

Barnes said it all started when he removed a soft drink machine from the school cafeteria because too many lead slugs were turning up in the coin box.

In retaliation, about 20 boys tried to organize a cafeteria boycott. Those caught had the choice of taking seven whacks from the paddle or taking the matter up with their parents.

CARL WEIS, center, holding white hat, is director of Civic Affairs, Supreme Lodge of the World, Loyal Order of Moose, Mooseheart, Illinois. Weis who arrived by United Air Lines on February 19 was present for initiation of a class of nearly 100 candidates to membership in the Klamath Falls LOOM Lodge. He was greeted by a large delegation at the city airport including several Klamath Kurbstone Kowpokes. His visit also coincided with a membership drive now under way which has the slogan, "Let's All Pitch In." Left to right are Jerry Henniger, Fred Lawrence, "Wild Bill" Opie, "Slick" Mudder, slightly in rear, Klamath Falls Moose Governor Vane Kaley, Everett Kennaston, Carl Weis, Mel Robinson, Ralph Hunter, Al Nyback, Daisy Douglas, Marie Reese, Charles Skill, director of Moose Lodge for Oregon; Mrs. Pat Hescocock, Earl Sheridan and Web Hescocock.

Solemn To Mull Mortician Bill

SALEM (AP) — A bill to limit the amount of money that a mortician can claim from an estate was introduced today by Sen. Monroe Sweetland (D-Milwaukee).

Under present law, a mortician has a first claim on an estate in collecting payment for his services.

Under the Sweetland Bill, this priority claim would be limited to the first $200 of such costs. Amounts above $200 would have to be obtained after payment of other priority claims, such as doctor bills and taxes.

Sweetland said he knows of shocking instances in which most of the assets of small estates have been wiped out by funeral costs.
