Ghost Of Anti-Semitism Haunts Germany Present

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Editor
FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI)—A ghost of Germany past has come back to haunt the people of Germany present.

German courts are not exactly full these days of cases involving anti-Semitism, but there are enough of them to disturb both government and Jewish leaders alike.

There is not even proof that there is more anti-Semitism here than in many other places in the world. But because of the past, the recent rash of anti-Semitic occurrences in West Germany has sent a chill up the German spine and brought new guarantees from Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Adenauer, in an interview with West Germany's only Jewish newspaper, declared that the German people had reacted with disgust to events of the Nazi era and that this fact could not be invalidated by isolated acts of anti-Semitism.

He added that the policy of the Nazi regime toward the Jews had brought disgrace on "all of us" and would not be repeated.

Adenauer's reference was to the six million Jews who died in the gas chambers or by worse means under the regime of Adolf Hitler, and to the government's present determination to re-integrate West Germany's remaining 30,000 Jews into West German life.

Most West Germans seem to approach the problem today with

Change In O&C Policy Likely

PORTLAND (U)—Undersecretary of the Interior Elmer F. Bennett is expected to announce new allowable timber cuts on O&C timberlands in Western Oregon at a talk here Friday.

He will address the Western Forest Industries Assn. on the second day of its annual convention.

An association spokesman said Bennett also was expected to discuss policy changes affecting O&C lands.

Timber access problems will be discussed by Robert Wolf, forest consultant for the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee.

He will talk about his recent report on federal timber sales practices. The report said sales of more than one billion board feet of Washington and Oregon timber were delayed or not made because of access problems.

TOUGH EGGS
PETERS HOLLOW, Tenn. (UPI)—Folks here are just about ready to concede that farmer Ray Lowe has chickens that lay the toughest eggs in town.

Lowe, 42, won Peters Hollow's annual Easter egg fight Sunday for the third time in the last four years. He had the only uncracked egg left after 200 "contestants" bashed eggs against each other.

the grim fascination of a man drawn irresistibly to the edge of a cliff. He doesn't want to go there, but he does anyway.

There is no chance that the West German will be allowed to forget the atrocities of the Hitler regime. In the pleasant little town of Dachau a few miles from Munich, the gas chambers still stand as a grim memorial, as do others throughout Germany.

Written into the constitution of the West German republic are laws against anti-Semitism.

And the laws are enforced. Here are a few recent cases:

A Bavarian sanatorium attendant who said he'd volunteer for duty in death camps if they were reopened — three months in jail.

A textile salesman who said that the Jews should be wiped out — seven months in jail.

Two officials in the state of Hesse reparations office who allegedly sang anti-Semitic songs and made anti-Semitic statements in their office — suspended from their posts pending investigation.

A Frankfurt state's attorney who allegedly made anti-Semitic remarks — suspended pending investigation.

A teacher who cast doubt on the authenticity of the Anne Frank diaries — suspended pending investigation.

These cases, and others like them, tend to throw a harsher light on events here than elsewhere where there are no such laws. There are those here, including some Jewish leaders, who believe that so much attention may only encourage other incidents.

Others feel that even stronger counter-measures should be taken and that new means should be found to impress upon a new generation of German youth the inhumanities and ultimate failure of Nazism — that today's nightmare from yesterday should not become the reality of tomorrow.
