Grand Officers Honored By OES

MALIN — The annual district meeting of the Order of the Eastern Star was held Thursday evening, March 26, in the Malin Masonic Hall. Chapters participating were Prosperity 160 of Malin, Cascade Crest, 159, of Chiloquin, and Manzanita, 172, and Aloha, 51, of Klamath Falls.

Honored visitors for the occasion were Mrs. Daisy Thomsen of Hood River, worthy grand matron, and Chester Felt of Burns, worthy grand patron of the grand chapter of Oregon. Addendas were given by each chapter as special tributes to Mrs. Thomsen and Chester Felt, who both presented messages of the grand chapter of Oregon.

Other honored guests introduced were Mrs. Leitha Murphy, member of the jurisprudence committee of the grand chapter of Oregon, and Mrs. Martha Powell, grand representative of West Virginia in Oregon.

Worthy matrons and patrons present for the special ceremonies were Cordella Hoback and Layton Hoback of Cascade Crest, Gladys Chubb and W. E. Anderson of Manzanita, Gwen Pierson and Everett Miner of Aloha, and Madeline Depuy and Homer Depuy Jr. of Prosperity. All officers of the four chapters were also present. There were about 150 people in attendance.

Refreshments were served following the meeting at tables attractively decorated with arrangements of pink daisies.

The Elegant Look Of Spring Suits

NEW YORK (NEA)—In the 1959 spring suit, the high waistline is handled as a suggestion rather than an actuality. It is gently indicated by double-belted, by short jackets which swing free of the body and with wide belts which circle but do not cinch a youthfully high waistline.

The extremes are gone, both in line and fabric. Fashion has, this season, come of age. Even checks and plaids, which are heavily always with us in spring, are handled with restraint and elegance. Small checks are clear and concise and bold plaids are well-mannered, never shrieking. And neutral tweeds take on a totally different look when they're shot through with vivid streaks of gold, turquoise or green.

The whitened or fizzy look of woollens is one of the prettiest things about the new suits. If you're wondering how a woolen can look fizzy, think of the top of an ice cream soda. It's exactly this look of fizzy whiteness over color.

The suit with its own blouse is important. And there's a sound reason for this. Many women find, once they've bought a suit, that it's difficult to find exactly the right blouse for it. So designers have created blouses that carry out the line of a suit and follow out its perfection. Many of these are matched to the jacket lining but this isn't always so. Collars are wide and notched or wide and curving or simply do not exist. When the collar disappears, the suit has a high neckline bound in self-fabric.

BUTTONS

Mother-of-pearl buttons return to fashion favor in the new Paris collections. Some are flat and very nearly two inches wide. They are done in both colors and white.

Shoes Step Out In Color Array

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Women will step brightly this spring in the most brilliant array of colored leather shoes ever to season fashion.

As spring suits and hats take on rainbow hues this year, shoes follow suit in all colors of the spectrum—greens, reds, blues, pinks, even orange tones.

Shoes that will step out with new suits, afternoon dresses or evening gowns continue to have the elongated look of the pointed toe, although there are some modifications in a slightly flattened vamp, with the extreme point slightly clipped or squared.

The laced squared toe also is a new treatment for tailored and leisure shoes.

Heels also take on new variety. The high needle heel is still with us, but also available are other shapes—the flat squash heel, the stacked leather heel, the baby Louis heel and the deeply curved French heel, almost spool shape.

It is in leather colors and textures that shoes make news this spring, however. Two-tone combinations are newly important for both street and dress wear. Tailored pumps often have toe and heel in contrasting color and texture, such as a white calf shoe with black patent leather trim, or one of colored suede with toe and heel of slightly deeper toned polished leather.

For cocktail and evening wear color insets or contrasting bands are often used.

The new colored leather shoes may exactly match the costume, or may provide a note of contrast. For instance, a suit of mul-ed green might be worn with shoes of lemon yellow or, guaranteed, as well as with such neutrals as bone or cottonwood.

The city suits of black and navy are perfect foils for brilliant colors or accents, such as bright red shoes and handbags.

With shoe silhouettes simple and clean of line, the new colors and leather textures take on more importance. This spring women may choose almost any hue of shoe in a variety of leathers—calf, kid, suede, patent or reptile.

A GOOD IDEA

The wise mother makes it a practice to have each child locate his clothing, books, overshoes, and other school paraphernalia in the evening. The next morning he can get off to school without wear and tear on mother's nerves. She will not have to insist on this too long before he forms the habit.
