WALL STREET

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was irregular at the close today with industrials off on average. Trading was fairly active.

Volume for the day was estimated at 3,300,000 shares compared with 3,430,000 Wednesday.

Gains and losses of key stocks went from fractions to a point or more. Specially situated issues sprinted from 2 to 10 points.

American Motors was up nearly 3 points in heavy trading, later snipping a fraction from the rise. The company surprised Wall Street by declaring a 60-cent quarterly dividend, higher than expected.

Most other automotive stocks advanced, Ford rising more than a point. General Motors was easy. Tobaccos were solidly ahead with gains moderate.

Among wider movers, International Salt gained 10, National Lead 8, Texas Instruments and General Time about 4 apiece, Litton over 5, Zenith about 7 and Coca Cola and Colgate-Palmolive about 2 each.

American Telephone continued to back away from recent gains, dropping more than a point while AT&T "when-issued" was off close to a point.

U.S. government bonds eased a shade.

Lodges Hold Potluck Meal

FORT JONES — Saturday evening, April 25, Fort Jones Lodge 115 of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and Ora Rebekah Lodge 40 will sponsor a potluck supper for district members and their families. The dinner is given to commemmorate the 140th anniversary of the founding of the American branch of the IOOF.

The original establishment of the IOOF and the source of its name has been lost in the pages of time. Historians believe it originated sometime in the 1770's in England. It is known King George IV, while still Prince of Wales was initiated into the lodge sometime around 1780.

Thomas Wildely, an English immigrant, established an American lodge on April 26, 1819, known as Washington Lodge No. 1 and recognized by charter by the English organization.

During the 19th and 20th centuries the IOOF grew rapidly, lodges being established throughout the world. In 1959, membership was estimated at over one and one-half million, including members of nearly 9,000 Rebekah lodges.

The IOOF is a fraternal, beneficent society which has incorporated into its many activities establishment of a home for the aged, orphanages, shelters for the indigent, and similar charitable organizations. Every grand lodge in the United States sponsors one or more of these worthy charities.

'Bill Of Rights' Amendment Losing Southern Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — A "bill of rights" amendment written into the Kennedy labor regulation bill appeared today to be losing some of its Southern support.

Sen. John Stennis (D-Miss) told a newsman he was having second thoughts on the amendment and that he believed some of his Southern colleagues were, too.

The amendment, by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark), was adopted 47-46 Wednesday, largely on the votes of Republicans and Southern Democrats.

A host of other amendment proposals awaited action as the senators moved into what most hoped would be the final day of debate on the hotly disputed measure.

Remaining to be settled are three major issues:

1. Whether to write in a provision strengthening the Taft-Hartley law sections aimed at secondary boycotts.

2. Whether to insert a provision sharply limiting organizational picketing.

3. Whether to try to modify or knock out the bill of rights amendment.

The Senate acted on 18 amendments in an 11-hour session Thursday.

One of those adopted would forbid a railroad, trucker or other interstate common carrier from agreeing with his employe not to haul products of another firm involved in a labor dispute. The Teamsters Union has insisted on such "hot cargo" clauses in most of its contracts.

Sen. John F. Kennedy, chief sponsor of the bill, said he thought that amendment would reduce the demand for a ban on other kinds of boycott. But McClellan said he would seek one.

Stennis made his comments about the bill of rights amendment after a huddle of Southerners with Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex).

He said he believed some Southerners did not understand the full implications of the amendment. He said some of its provisions—including one to give the secretary of labor broad authority to seek court injunctions—have been compared with those in the 1957 civil rights bill, which Southerners fought bitterly.

Kennedy told newsmen he did not know what effort might be made to get the bill of rights amendment out of the bill. He said he remained strongly opposed to it as an unwarranted and improper interference with union operations.

The amendment seeks to guarantee seven rights to union members, among them freedom of speech and assembly. The secretary of labor could enforce it with court injunctions.

The AFL-CIO attacked the amendment, declaring it would "largely destroy the historic concept of a union as a voluntary association."

Space Scientists' Probes Likened To Darwin Idea

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Space scientists were likened today to the men who delved into the mysteries of time and found the earth older than they dreamed.

What the time detectives learned bolstered Charles Darwin's theories of human evolution.

"What the space adventures are doing will fall into place as a major part of the scientific intellectual panorama which began before Darwin, and of which he was such a dramatic figure.

Links in this chain of evolutionary pioneering were traced in speeches and interviews by many of the scholars attending the American Philosophical Society's annual meeting. This year the society is observing the 100th anniversary of the publication of Darwin's greatest work "The Origin of Species."

In the early 19th century, it was related, books on geology were gobbled up as books on space travel are today. Geology gave Darwin the frame and time pattern for his work.

But physicists calculated the earth could be only a few million years old. This was one of the main threats to Darwin's theories. It raised the question whether all the changes ascertained by Darwin could have taken place in such a relatively short time.

Although the question had not become a public issue, Darwin was worried. Some of his worries are reflected in the revisions he made from edition to edition of his books.

With the discovery of radioactivity, however, it was learned that the universe did not lose its heat as fast as had been thought. Physicists took this as proof of a greater antiquity of life. They admitted they had been wrong about the shorter time range. The shift opened up both past and future inexhaustibly.

"Darwin was pretty sure the age of the earth was greater than the physicists had guessed," said Dr. Loren Eiseley, author of "Darwin's Century" and one of the leading authorities on the famed naturalist. "He was ahead of his time. He realized that impressions of stability were due soley to our own short life span.

"Now we are tackling the wonders of space, another phase of the broad picture of man's evolution, physically and mentally. Certainly adaptability to new environments is part of the Darwinian story."

County Board Cautioned

YREKA—Siskiyou County Board of Supervisors received a warning at the Tuesday meeting from M. V. Maxwell, Siskiyou County farm adviser, that should California fail to renew the water rights on the Klamath, the result would be that the Los Angeles Metropolitan Water District would put in filings immediately after the California state rights expire on October 1.

Maxwell stressed the urgency of supporting a bill, authored by Assemblywoman Pauline Davis, to allow the establishment of county-wide water districts in the seven counties she represents.

According to Maxwell's explanation to the board members, the rights under the state water plan to a portion of the Klamath River waters must be renewed every four years by the Legislature, and that a heavy Southern California majority could fail to do so, therefor leaving the waters open to filings by Southern California.

The bill, as authored by Assemblywoman Davis, Maxwell stated, would allow the boards of supervisors to halt this by establishing the county - wide districts, should the necessity arise.

The farm adviser also disclosed that Assemblywoman Davis had deleted from her bill a provision for transmission and distribution of electric power, that such provisions generally received opposition from utilities in Sacramento.

The supervisors had previously heard objections to any such agency from officials representing the Tulelake and Butte Valley Irrigation districts, to which Supervisor Don Avery expressed himself stating that he felt the two districts displayed a poor attitude, calling attention to the fact that the county had provided $8,000 in matching funds for water engineering studies in Butte Valley.

McCloud Senior To Enter Quiz

McCLOUD — Donita Mary Sullivan, McCloud High School senior, has been named one of the outstanding students to represent Siskiyou County in the Central Valleys Mathematic Quiz. The selection was based on scores obtained in recent Mathematics Association of America contests.

The first step in the quiz will be a math test at Shasta Junior College in Redding on April 25. The two top scoring students will receive a $50 bond and the opportunity to compete in the finals.

The finals are to be held in May in Sacramento, at a date to be announced. The winner will receive a $1,000 scholarship and the runnerup a $500 scholarship to be will be offered. Fowler said tht paid on a pro-rated basis over a four-year period.

FIRE AIDE QUITS

McCLOUD — Russell Kirkman, assistant fire chief at McCloud has resigned because of illness and moved to Mount Shasta. Al Wright, former Los Angeles fireman, is to fill the position vacated by Kirkman. Wright and his wife will move to McCloud next week, Chief Tom Williams said.

Jobs Said Up In Yreka Area

YREKA—George Van Buskirk, manager of the Yreka office of California Department of Employment, disclosed in his recent report that employment is up, claims for unemployment benefits are less, but the prospects of future employment depends largely on how much rain will fall in Siskiyou County within the next four weeks to alleviate the drought situation.

He stated that the present general employment outlook is good, but that loss of agricultural crops from drought could have a bad effect, for as long as farmers are spending, it raises the entire economy in the county.

Van Buskirk's report reveals that new work applications at the Yreka office are considerably lower, having gone down to 89, from 140 in February, which is quite low as compared to the March, 1958 figure of 160.

Total number of applications for work is also less, from 1,041 in February to 770 in March. Both figures are less than those of March, 1958, which were 1,138.

Placements on jobs went up to 65 in March from the February figure of 28, the March 1958 placements being only 49. A reduction of new claims filed is revealed in the comparative figure of 117 in March to 365 in February, and which are below the March, 1958 figure of 146.

Total continued claims paid dwindled to 1,425 in March, considerably less than the 1,966 paid the previous month, and only a little over half the 2,401 March, 1958 payments.

Course Planned On Civil Defense

FORT JONES—A course in civil defense is being planned for interested people in Scott Valley. Allen Fowler, Fort Jones High School science instructor, will head the class. A preliminary meeting to discuss the topics to be covered and to set the dates for the classes will be held Monday night at 7 o'clock in Fort Jones High School.

Fowler reported that "20 confused people who want to learn something" must sign up for the course if the classes are to be continued.

The subject matter will be geared to the needs of the students. Meter reading, a bit of electronic physics, and all information requested by those taking the class will be offered. Fowler said that the curriculum will be flexible, and is designed to clarify questions which may arise about radioactive fallout and civil defense procedure.

The course will offer college credit if desired, and will be taught in three-hour lectures on five nights. The meeting Monday night will also determine if the required 20 people will sign up for the civil defense course.
