Mandatory Whipping Bill Passed By Delaware Solons

DOVER, Del. (AP)—Delaware's Legislature, concerned by an increase in the crime rate, has passed a bill making whipping mandatory for people convicted of robbery.

The bill says: 20 to 40 lashes for the first offense and not less than 30 for each subsequent conviction.

The House passed the Senate version Wednesday 22-3. Gov. J. Caleb Boggs, however, declined comment when asked what he thought of the bill.

He said he would decide early next week about signing it.

If he does sign, it will be the first time in the history of the state that whipping has been mandatory punishment for a crime.

In the old days whipping was used to punish wife beating, theft and a variety of other crimes, but it was always imposed at the discretion of the judge. The present sentence for robbery for example, is a fine of not less than $500 and imprisonment for 3 to 25 years, plus not more than 40 lashes if the judge wishes.

The most vocal opponent of the bill was Rep. Paul F. Livingston (D-Wilmington), the only Negro member of the House.

For seven years there have been no official whippings in Delaware. He can never lift his head up any more." But Rep. R. Allen Cannon (D-Nanticoke Acres) argued that the bill would serve as a deterrent to robberies. He cited a wave of them recently in the southern part of the state.
