Federal Funds
By FLOYD L. WYNNE
The expression "money from Heaven" is well known to everyone. Freely translated it means money from an unexpected source with little or no strings attached.

However, bank officials indicated that it was questionable as to whether or not they could loan the city $60,000 without a vote of the people over such a period as 20 years. Then, it boiled down to two choices. Either accept the federal funds, build the structure their way, paying extra ourselves for anything we wanted that they didn't, or not build it at all.

Mrs. York was injured recently when a stray bullet, passing through her kitchen window struck her in the arm as she prepared the family dinner. Monte saw the excitement on the street, watched the arrival of neighbors and the state police, the scurrying cars, and spotted the wounded woman's son.

anything besides mixing in international diplomacy. But it was too late. For Montgomery, off on a do-it-yourself mission to Moscow, had put his foot in it again—this time in a televised interview in which he ranted the field from criticism of President Eisenhower's World War II leadership to Eisenhower's leadership as president and finally to criticism of U. S. policy in general.

Consideration of a new terminal began when facilities at the present structure became completely inadequate, and things had reached the point where we were ashamed of the building. Finances were scoured, and it was determined that $50,000 could be used of present finances, $25,000 of this was already in an airport reserve fund for such a building, and another $25,000 could be borrowed from the city property fund, and repaid from airport revenues.

I don't know whether the federal terms can be met. But, it gives you an idea of what happens when you start reaching for some of that so-called "money from Heaven." It also brings you up to date on the proposed new terminal building.

A night or two later young Monte's father, head basketball and baseball coach at Klamath Union High School was reading the Herald and News and decided the unnamed young humanitarian was his own son. The story came back to the newsroom via Wayne Scott, H&N sports editor, who tossed it in a news desk, a call to Monte's mother filled in details and another human interest story was ready for the blue pencil.

British newspaper, which already had expressed fear over the consequences of Monty's self-imposed mission, threw up their hands in horror. "Muddled, mischievous and irresponsible," one newspaper said. "A small boy putting his thumb to his nose," said another.

So, prospects of a matching fund from the federal government were explored. It was either this or put the entire matter of the financing up to the people for a vote on a bond issue. The matter could not have been voted on before next year, and the possible federal funds expire as of June 30 this year.

As automobile manufacturers get car seats lower and lower and declare such conveniences as running boards completely obsolete, both men and women find it a little difficult to get in and out of the modern vehicles.

School Election
Klamath Falls (To the Editor)—It has come to our attention that a letter, dated April 27, was signed by the president of the Shasta PTA advocating the election of the incumbent member of Klamath County school board.

Meanwhile, the object of all this discussion had reached Moscow, seen Khrushchev once and made plans to see him again before departing, innocent as a child, on his return trip home. The London News Chronicle said Montgomery's remarks "will delight Moscow." They probably did.

It was determined that some money was not appropriated from the funds, and that if Klamath Falls applied they would have a good chance for approval. The $50,000 was finally approved, with two conditions. First, the plans had to be approved by May 15, and secondly, the money had to be allocated by June 30.

Manufacturers say the obvious answer is to make lighter-weight garments which retain the same warmth qualities as the heavier, bulkier clothing. Chemistry has come to their aid and offers a unique, soft, pliable, foamy material to use for interlinings instead of heavy materials.

We feel that candidates for the school board should run on their qualifications and beliefs as expressed by themselves without any undue influence from principals or teachers. There are many problems with which a school board member will be faced where the influence of faculty members in obtaining his election can be a serious embarrassment.

For Montgomery, though retired and now a private citizen, still is a world figure and Britons well knew his ability at unfortunate remarks. Well - meaning though he might be, he still unwittingly could supply grist for the Moscow propaganda mill in its drive to further separate the already-divided allies.

Plans were drawn, and then the Los Angeles FAA office took issue with the Seattle FAA office, and demanded over 1,200 square feet in the terminal building. They also declined to participate in any construction of a second floor in the building. They also required that the terminal be built behind the present terminal building, and had some other requirements as to changes of lavatories and widening of the lobby, and cutting down of the first floor restaurant space.

CHICAGO — Thruston B. Morton, asked whether he is having trouble handling the two jobs of senator and Republican national chairman: "My only complaint so far is that I haven't had a chance to get a haircut."

At a special meeting involving the mayor, council, chamber of commerce aviation committee, and sportsmen's pilots, the picture was restudied. The old often-used phrase, "Well, if we don't take the $50,000 some other city will," was used time and time again.

Spaceman May Be Killed By High-Energy Explosion

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The man responsible for last year's U.C. nuclear explosions in outer space said today a high-energy blast there would kill a space traveler by radiation. Prof. Nicholas C. Christofilos of the University of California joined with Air Force scientists in the first scientific symposium dealing with "Project Argus."

Revival Set For Dorris

DORRIS—A revival will be held in the First Baptist Church in Dorris, starting May 1 through May 10, the Rev. W. B. Russell, pastor of the church, announced this week. The Rev. C. E. Bolin, minister of Northgate Baptist Church of Seattle, Washington, will be the evangelist. The Rev. Bolin is a graduate of Golden Gate Baptist Seminary and has held pastorates in Oregon, Washington and California. He is a member of the executive board of the Oregon-Washington Southern Baptist Convention.

HAWAII SURPLUS
HONOLULU (AP) — Gov. William F. Quinn says Hawaii's government will have a surplus of about nine million dollars more than expected for the current two-year period and the next. He told a news conference Tuesday he hopes the Legislature will use the surplus for capital improvements and pay raises for government employees.

ACE TV TIPS

- WHAT ABOUT TV ANTENNAS?
● If a "hank" of wire or a "coat hanger" brings you a snow-free, ghost-free, steady picture, we'll be the first to congratulate you on being in a strong signal area where reflections and interference present no special problem!
● A better type of antenna for local reception is the type called "rabbit ears" . . . since it may be rotated as well as lengthened or shortened, it affords the owner a means of signal selectivity impossible with the above types.
● Since no set can perform better than the signal it receives such complaints as "snow," "ghosts," "excessive interference," "rolling," etc. may be due to an inadequate antenna system — or a good antenna system may be in need of repairs!
● A yearly inspection of your "outdoor" antenna system, whether made by you or a service technician, helps to insure that the starting point of your TV entertainment is right. The most common type of "outdoor" system consists of an antenna mounted on a mast with a "lead-in" wire connected between antenna and set. A fast check will suffice to make sure that lead-in wire connections are tight and not corroded, that the antenna has not been shifted by the wind and that the lead-in wire itself is in good condition.
● Rotator antenna systems and those employing "booster" amplifiers will take more care and knowledge to check out . . . prompt expert service from "Antenna" to "Zet" (TV zet) is as near as your phone, call ACE TV TU 4-3581 or drop by at our modern service center at 1140 Riverside Dr. to discuss your TV problems with our technicians.
