

ESTHER TASKERUD

Home Group Hears Expert Tell Of Future

Miss Esther Taskerud, home extension specialist, Oregon State College, brought a hint of what is ahead for women of the future in her address on "Out of the Past, Into the Future with Extension."

She appeared before some 200 members of Klamath County Home Extension units at the annual Home-Maker's Festival held April 30 in the exhibit building at the fairgrounds.

Also on the program were Mrs. Harry Wiard, who spoke on "What the Extension Program Has Meant to Me;" and Mrs. Fred Ehlers, whose topic was "A Centennial Look at the Last Century's Cookbooks;" Ruth Gustavson, home extension agent, "Thoughts in Home-making."

Centennial greetings were by Francis Skinner, 4-H leader, Dr. Dallas McNeil, pastor of the First Methodist Church, gave the invocation.

Mrs. Bertil Shogren, led the group singing with Mrs. Francis Hamilton at the piano.

Theme of the festival was suggested by Mrs. O. L. Brown of the Poe Valley-Olene unit.

Units taking part included Altamont, Bonanza, Fairhaven, Keno, Conger-Fairview, Chiloquin, Crescent-Gilchrist, Merrill, Henley, Langley Valley, Midland, Poe Valley-Olene, Malin, Klamath Falls, Lindley Heights, Bly, OTI, Shasta-Homedale and Buena Vista.

Cover designs of the program were drawn by Mrs. Marie Bachman. The backdrop for the stage was painted by Mrs. Norman Risley.

Special exhibits were arranged by the Klamath County Library, County Alumnae Committee and the County Adviser Committee.

Tea was served at conclusion of the meeting.

Cleric Struck By Patient

NEW YORK (AP)—A 19-year-old mental patient who had escaped from a Brooklyn mental hospital entered a Roman Catholic Church Friday night and attacked a priest at the altar.

"I wanted to become a Catholic," was the only explanation offered by Harry Reeves, Negro, after he had been subdued. Police charged him with simple assault.

They said he entered St. Joseph's church in Brooklyn during a service, walked down an aisle, vaulted an altar railing, and began pummeling the priest, the Rev. William Bartley, 45.

A 12-year-old altar boy, Michael McGrath, came to the priest's aid and suffered a black eye and a cut on the head. The Rev. James McMahon, 31, who was in the sacristy, came out to help. He suffered bruises.

Father Bartley suffered a possible broken nose.

HAIRCUTS NEEDED

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Judge Waller R. Sohn of Dauphin County Court says that almost every boy in his court in any serious crime in the past year has needed a decent haircut.

"I tell the boy if he has any serious consideration or plan that he is going to reform and behave himself the first thing he has to do is get a decent haircut," Judge Sohn commented Friday.

FOREIGN STUDENTS were feted by the Mount Shasta Rotary Club Saturday, April 18, in the Black Butte Inn. From left, they are Brian Brocklehurst of England, a chemistry student; Olaf Tholander of Sweden, advertising and salesmanship; Helene Schencker of Switzerland, medical technology, and Hans P. Merz of Germany, civil engineering. All are students at the University of California at Berkeley.

Scott Valley Rec Center Pays 'Dad' Dillman Honor

By BERNITA TICKNER.

ETNA—Saturday night, April 25, was termed "Dad Dillman Night" by the Scott Valley Recreation Center. George "Dad" Dillman, retiring after serving the community of Etna for 16 years as peace officer, was the honored guest at a surprise party hosted by the teenagers of Scott Valley.

"Dad," as he is called by his friends, was presented a wrist watch bearing the inscription "To Dad Dillman, Best Friend Youth Will Ever Have. Love, SVRC." Bert Heil, president of the Scott Valley Recreation Center, made the presentation.

Prior to the presentation, Mr. and Mrs. Dillman were met at the door of the hall by their granddaughter, Lorena, and by Ardith Smith. The two girls escorted the honoree and his wife to a table decorated with ivy streamers and with a centerpiece of a large square white cake ornamented with the lettering "To Dad From His Friends."

The hall was adorned with crepe paper streamers. In the background plum blossoms spelled "Dad" above a large cardboard cowboy made by Judith Parker. He was the "father" of the Etna Rodeo and Pleasure Park and has always been interested in western activities.

After seating the guest of honor and his family, teen-agers sang a song with words arranged by Genevieve Heil to the tune of "Sweet Betsy from Pike." Carolyn Ayres accompanied them with piano music.

With a voice full of emotion he thanked the youngsters for their thoughtfulness and hoped that they would always remain kind and good.

Officers of the club, Bert Heil president; Kathy Voight, vice president; Virginia Bullinger, treasurer; and Rocky DeFaria, Voice of the People, served ice cream and cake. The ice cream was contributed by Bill Voight. Members of the Scott Valley Recreation Center furnished the cakes.

Dillman is retiring after serving for 16 years as U.S. marshal and as peace officer in Etna.

He and his family arrived in Scott Valley from Arizona in 1927. They settled on the Masterson Ranch near Callahan and, in years following, on several other Scott Valley ranches before moving to Etna in 1943.

Dillman has been instrumental in promoting the Etna Pleasure Park Association and its annual rodeo. He donated land for the park and rodeo arena—several acres of it—a few years ago.

The Dillmans are parents of nine children. The five who are living all reside in Scott Valley. Mr. and Mrs. Dillman have 17 grandchildren.

would always remain kind and good.

Officers of the club, Bert Heil president; Kathy Voight, vice president; Virginia Bullinger, treasurer; and Rocky DeFaria, Voice of the People, served ice cream and cake. The ice cream was contributed by Bill Voight. Members of the Scott Valley Recreation Center furnished the cakes.

Dillman is retiring after serving for 16 years as U.S. marshal and as peace officer in Etna.

He and his family arrived in Scott Valley from Arizona in 1927. They settled on the Masterson Ranch near Callahan and, in years following, on several other Scott Valley ranches before moving to Etna in 1943.

Dillman has been instrumental in promoting the Etna Pleasure Park Association and its annual rodeo. He donated land for the park and rodeo arena—several acres of it—a few years ago.

The Dillmans are parents of nine children. The five who are living all reside in Scott Valley. Mr. and Mrs. Dillman have 17 grandchildren.

With a voice full of emotion he thanked the youngsters for their thoughtfulness and hoped that they would always remain kind and good.

Officers of the club, Bert Heil president; Kathy Voight, vice president; Virginia Bullinger, treasurer; and Rocky DeFaria, Voice of the People, served ice cream and cake. The ice cream was contributed by Bill Voight. Members of the Scott Valley Recreation Center furnished the cakes.

Dillman is retiring after serving for 16 years as U.S. marshal and as peace officer in Etna.

He and his family arrived in Scott Valley from Arizona in 1927. They settled on the Masterson Ranch near Callahan and, in years following, on several other Scott Valley ranches before moving to Etna in 1943.

Dillman has been instrumental in promoting the Etna Pleasure Park Association and its annual rodeo. He donated land for the park and rodeo arena—several acres of it—a few years ago.

The Dillmans are parents of nine children. The five who are living all reside in Scott Valley. Mr. and Mrs. Dillman have 17 grandchildren.

With a voice full of emotion he thanked the youngsters for their thoughtfulness and hoped that they would always remain kind and good.

Officers of the club, Bert Heil president; Kathy Voight, vice president; Virginia Bullinger, treasurer; and Rocky DeFaria, Voice of the People, served ice cream and cake. The ice cream was contributed by Bill Voight. Members of the Scott Valley Recreation Center furnished the cakes.

Dillman is retiring after serving for 16 years as U.S. marshal and as peace officer in Etna.

He and his family arrived in Scott Valley from Arizona in 1927. They settled on the Masterson Ranch near Callahan and, in years following, on several other Scott Valley ranches before moving to Etna in 1943.

Dillman has been instrumental in promoting the Etna Pleasure Park Association and its annual rodeo. He donated land for the park and rodeo arena—several acres of it—a few years ago.

The Dillmans are parents of nine children. The five who are living all reside in Scott Valley. Mr. and Mrs. Dillman have 17 grandchildren.

With a voice full of emotion he thanked the youngsters for their thoughtfulness and hoped that they would always remain kind and good.

Officers of the club, Bert Heil president; Kathy Voight, vice president; Virginia Bullinger, treasurer; and Rocky DeFaria, Voice of the People, served ice cream and cake. The ice cream was contributed by Bill Voight. Members of the Scott Valley Recreation Center furnished the cakes.

Dillman is retiring after serving for 16 years as U.S. marshal and as peace officer in Etna.

He and his family arrived in Scott Valley from Arizona in 1927. They settled on the Masterson Ranch near Callahan and, in years following, on several other Scott Valley ranches before moving to Etna in 1943.

Dillman has been instrumental in promoting the Etna Pleasure Park Association and its annual rodeo. He donated land for the park and rodeo arena—several acres of it—a few years ago.

The Dillmans are parents of nine children. The five who are living all reside in Scott Valley. Mr. and Mrs. Dillman have 17 grandchildren.

GEORGE "DAD" DILLMAN

Phone Company To Give Service

HARLAN, Ky. (AP)—The Harlan County town of Smith has 19 residents and no telephones.

But in about six months all 19 should be able to make calls without having to go nine miles, to Crummins, to do it.

Smith residents have been asking for phones for 14 years. Southern Bell Telephone Co. promised to install them after the Public Service Commission requested some action.

A STREAM POLLUTION problem created by Ash Creek flowing into the McCloud River is being cleared up. Here, Bud Parker operates a bulldozer. Parker donated his time for the job. New channels were made in the sandy flat and a dyke built to store the muddy flow from the slopes of Mt. Shasta. Evaporation and seepage should restore the crystal clear water in the McCloud River. This is a project promoted by the McCloud Fish and Game Club.

On The Record

KLAMATH COUNTY MARRIAGE LICENSES

Robert Stephen Grack, 21, and Shirley Ellen Itzigs, 21, Ogden, Utah. Clyde Wilbur James, 25, Oakland, California, and Margaret Susan Brown, 21, Jesse J. Smith, 34, and Joyce Anne Ray, 31.

DIVORCE PETITIONS

Richard T. Luttrell vs. Janice J. Luttrell, seeks divorce. William H. Faulk vs. Anna E. Faulk, seeks divorce. William Conrad Myers vs. Colleen Myers, seeks divorce. Pearl B. Wainamo vs. Carl J. Wainamo, seeks divorce. Wilbur Proffitt Willard vs. Kitty Lucille Willard, seeks divorce. Albert C. Bello vs. Savannah West, seeks divorce. Bertha L. West vs. Richard L. West, seeks divorce. Nancy Shaw vs. Leslie L. Shaw, seeks divorce. Alice J. Gallup vs. H. Marion Gallup, seeks divorce. Donald Dewayne Harris vs. Carleen Lois Harris, seeks divorce. James Barney vs. Louisa Mae Barney, seeks divorce. Priscilla H. Bettles vs. Joseph J. Bettles, seeks separation.

CITY BRIEFS

Regular Meeting—There will be a regular meeting of the Neighbors of Woodcraft, Monday at 8 p.m. in the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Altar Society—An election meeting of the Altar Society of St. Pius X Catholic Church will be held Monday, May 4, at 8 p.m. in the Shasta Grange Hall, corner of Shasta Way and Madison Street. Attendance is urged.

Garden Club Meeting—Mrs. William Georgesen will speak on geraniums to the Klamath Falls Garden Club meeting Monday, May 4, at 2 p.m. in the auditorium of the city library. There will be installation of officers following the program and tea will be served.

Nurses—There will be a meeting of the Licensed Practical Nurses Monday, May 4, at 7:30 p.m. in the city library. All members are urged to attend.

Civil Air Patrol—will meet on Monday, May 4, at Summers School, at 7 p.m. Anyone interested in aviation and rescue work is cordially invited to attend.

BPW—Business and Professional Women's Club members will elect officers at a meeting Monday at 6:30 p.m. in the Willard Hotel. Velma Tenney and Norma Richardson will be co-chairmen.

Transportation—Mills PTA will furnish transportation to and from the polls for Monday's school election for any Mills resident. Persons needing transportation, please call TU 4-8408.

MOVING? Call TU 2-5282 NORTH AMERICAN VAN LINES

Pollution, Silting Eliminated

McCLOUD—Because of cooperative efforts of the McCloud River Lumber Company, the California Department of Fish and Game, the McCloud Fish and Game Club and the United States Forest Service, a stream pollution and silting problem on the McCloud River has been eliminated, at least for the present.

Residents of this area, tourists and campers, water users and fishermen, were disturbed and inconvenienced last year, because of heavy silting of the McCloud River by the mud flowing into the river from Ash Creek, 10 miles east of McCloud. Protests were many. Vacations were cut short or spent elsewhere.

Last weekend the McCloud River Lumber Company donated the use of a bulldozer and operator for the construction of diversion channels and a dyke to prevent the mud from entering the crystal clear river. Work was done on USFS land.

Kinvon Young, McCloud River Lumber Company camp foreman, devoted an entire day to the project as did Stan Clark, Redding, Department of Fish and Game official. Robert McIntosh, forester for the lumber concern assisted. Bud Parker, bulldozer operator donated his time.

Tom Williams, McCloud Fish and Game Club fishing committee chairman, has conducted a ceaseless and time-consuming program to bring about the elimination of the pollution problem.

Visitors to the area may be assured of clear water in the McCloud this summer. Natural fish propagation should be restored, now that silt will not cover the spawning beds.

When that diamond, ruby or stone is loose and moving all alone, Don't groan... That's the time to bring it to ROY RUGE JEWELRY REPAIR For best alone setting 415 MAIN TU 4-5848

we planned this event months ago to bring you colorful spring dresses

at a value-packed

SEARS $5 ROEBUCK AND CO.

"Charge It" On SRC

Just think of it! Bright prints, colorful solids, dainty patterns... a whole big spring selection of cottons and rayons at Sears amazing low price. Pick your favorites from latest silhouettes in a wide array of colors... and take plenty! Womens, misses and junior sizes.

Satisfaction guaranteed or your money back SEARS

133 So. Eighth Phone TU 2-4481

Shop Thursday and Friday Till 9 P.M.

OPEN 24 HOURS A DAY

Klamath's Newest COIN-O-MATIC LAUNDRY

Big 16-lb. Double Load

30c

Single Load 20c
Fluff Dry 5c 5 MIN.

DO IT YOURSELF AND SAVE FREE PARKING

MERIT'S COIN-O-MATIC LAUNDRY

333 E. Main