Things Vice Versa
Claims Yankee Boss

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—There is an old story concerning what happened to the men who owned a stable of Thoroughbreds and a stable of harness horses which was cleaning up until suddenly he lost everything.

"It's simple," he explained. "The runners started trotting and the trotters started running. So I went broke."

It's that simple, too, with the New York Yankees.

"The pitchers suddenly ain't pitching and the hitters ain't hitting," opines Manager Casey Stengel.

But no matter what you hear, the wrinkled warrior isn't press-

PORTLAND (AP)—The Oregon Open golf tournament entered its final day this morning with a professional and two amateurs tied for the lead.

Chuck Silver of the University of Oregon and Jim Bourne of Seattle shared first place with professional Joe Greer of Yakima with 3 under par 141 for the initial 36 holes at the Columbia-Edgewater Country Club course.

Of the initial field of 200, there were 66 survivors. The elimination point was 153. Only 12 strokes separated the leaders from the bottom of the field.

Tied for runner-up first day honors were four professionals—Boots Porterfield, Grants Pass; Ockie Eliason, Tacoma; and Bob Duden and Tom Marlowe, both of Portland.

The defending champion, Dick Yost of Portland, is well down the list, and it appears there will be a new champion.

The leaders:

Joe Greer, Yakima, 71-70—141
Jim Bourne, Seattle, 69-72—141
Chuck Silver, U of O, 72-69—141
Bob Duden, Oswego, 72-70—142
Ockie Eliason, Tacoma, 72-70—142

142 Tom Marlowe, Portland, 69-73—142

Boots Porterfield, Grants Pass, 69-73—142

Bill Eggers, Portland, 71-72—143

Don Krieger, Portland, 70-73—143

Eddie Hogan, Portland, 69-74—143

Sam Cavalli, Portland, 69-75—144

Scores of other Oregon competitors included:

Chuck Hunter, U of O, 71-76—147

Harvey Hixon, Eugene, 74-74—148

Tom Shaw, U of O, 72-77—149

Keith Gubrud, U of O, 72-77—149

Wendell Wood, Eugene, 75-75—150

Walt Clint Jr., Salem, 76-75—151

Bob Gaspar, Cottage Grove, 75-77—152

Bob Prall, Salem, 79-78—157

George Weise, Pendleton, 78-81—159

Charles Sparks, Eugene, 78-81—159

Paul Sundin, Salem, 77-87—164

Clark Good, Klamath Falls, 83-85—168

Babe Carter, Eugene, 93-85—178

marked that the Owls cinder crew "could match Portland State in quality but not in quantity." The graying Ore Tech mentor was referring to the fact that the Vikings are two and three men deep in every event. The majority of the PST points in meets this year have come from second and third place finishes.

Top men for the Vikings this year, expected to give the Owls a rough time, are Len Lukens in both the mile and two-mile events, Gene Hedrick in the 440 and 880, Ole Adamson in the discus and shot put, Ron Loken in the pole vault and Bernie Jones in the high jump.

Ore Tech's Dick Hovevar, Howard Jackson and Norm Sawyer all have turned in good performances this spring, each breaking the school record in his respective event. Hovevar holds the high hurdle mark while Jackson and Sawyer have set new standards in the javelin and 880-yard dash respectively.

Other Owl tracksters who turned in promising performances against Southern Oregon two weeks ago were speedster Leon Wilson in the 100-yard dash and Dale Perkins in the discus.

Wilson, competing in the third track meet of his career won the 100 against SOC in 10.2 seconds. Perkins, improving constantly, placed second to the Raiders' Pedro Colley in the discus event to help boost the Owls to victory.

Other entries for Ore Tech against PST will be Sawyer in the half mile, Bill Barrington in the 440, Roger Moreland, who won both events against SOC in both the mile and half mile, Ardel Hamilton in both the broad and high jumps, William Hanson in the pole vault and Frank Wilson and Paul Layher in the shot put.

CLUB IS SOLID

Stengel naturally is worried and, as he does while winning or losing, spends his nights plotting and scheming for victory.

There is a great deal of lip licking and chortling around the league as result of the poor Yankee start. There have been all kinds of analysis, all jubilant, as to what has happened. The veterans have been labeled "long over the hill" and the younger members "overrated." The league overall undoubtedly is stronger but impartial observers still contend in the face of current adversity that the Yanks are all alone in the first division on potential.

Hank Bauer summed it up best when he said:

"See me in September."

The hunch here is that the rest of the league at that time will have to look upwards to make such a vision possible.

Case Unworried, Just Irritated

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Casey

Sengel isn't worried by his New York Yankees' slump but he seemed irritated Tuesday night

before the game with the Kansas

City Athletics.

A television camera crew approached the Yankee bench with microphone and camera.

"Get away from here," Stengel said. "You want me to come out and talk about this ball club and

I ain't going to do it. This is a good ball club. I make my living here on this bench not in the movies."

When the camera crew tried to put in a dissent, Stengel jumped up and headed for the clubhouse,

calling over his shoulder:

"I'll see you in Europe."

Bill Skowron led the Yankee hitters during the spring exhibitions with a .466 batting mark. He also led in triples, doubles, hits and in scoring runs.

The University of Washington

football team lost seven of its last eight games in 1958.
