

May 10, 1959

Mother's Day

Society

by Helen Bechen

Herald and News
Klamath Falls, Oregon

FIVE REASONS why Mrs. George Brosterhous typifies the modern, young mother are these handsome children. Audrey Brosterhous combines her sense of humor with her vivid personality in managing the house, taking part in school and community affairs, being a comrade to her husband and bringing up their family.

When the head of the house, George Brosterhous, returns home, he is greeted on his arrival by, from the left, Eric, 10; George Jr., eight; and Greg, nine. Kristen, who is six years old and the only daughter, is seated by her mother, who holds the youngest member of the family, John, three months.

Not far from the George Brosterhous home at 533 Eldorado, are the homes of the children's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Brosterhous and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Honzel.

— Photo by Kettler