GILCHRIST HIGH NEWS

By RUTH FORSTER

A Hawaiian theme was carried out in the annual high school junior-senior banquet and prom recently.

Preceding the dance in the gymnasium, a banquet was served to 57 persons at The Snack in Gilchrist. Banquet decorations were jungle vines hanging from the corners of the room to a large crepe paper orchid on the chandelier. Centerpieces were crepe paper palm trees on either side of large crystal bowls containing floating candles and baby orchids. Each guest was presented with an orchid.

Junior class president, Chet Emery, welcomed the seniors, their parents, faculty and guests with a speech entitled "Aloha." Following the banquet, senior class president, Sue Roland, told of the adventures of her class from the first grade through high school. Principal Vern Roehke spoke on life in the Islands.

Banquet guests were Carol B. Howe, county superintendent of schools, and Mrs. Howe, and school board members, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Koski and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Osborn.

A chalk drawing of Hawaii's famous Waikiki beach and Diamond Head, drawn by Leeann Curtis, covered the stage, dominating the far end of the gym. A beached row boat against a background of sky and ocean was placed at the front of the gym. Fish net draped over bamboo curtains formed a backdrop for the band. Gym pillars were decorated with palm trees with clusters of hibiscus and anthurium at the base.

The prom king and queen, Merwin Jordan and Sharon Huddleston, were presented with orchid leis.

Committee chairmen for the event were Leeann Curtis, banquet; Kay Taylor, decoration; Darlene Simmons and Kay Taylor, king and queen.

ALL DRESSED UP for her first birthday is Virginia Keady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert G. Keady of Bonanza. Proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mettler of Langell Valley and Mr. and Mrs. Eli South of Klamath Falls.

Theta Theta Rho Marks Founding

Theta Theta Rho Girls Club No. 8 celebrated its 25 anniversary by holding a well attended silver tea at the IOOF Hall, May 9.

The evening began with a welcome by Florence Warrington, president of Theta No. 8. Jackie Keaton, accompanied by Suanna Whytal, entertained with a ballet number.

Retha Kirby, adviser of Theta No. 8, then introduced the distinguished guests of the various branches of the Odd Fellows, both local and statewide. The Theta Rho Clubs from Central Point, Medford and Merrill were well represented also. At this time, a number of gifts were presented to the club in recognition of its having attained 25 years as a club, the Klamath Falls one being one of three in Oregon to reach 25 years.

Following the introductions, two members of Alpha Omega No. 48 of Merrill entertained with a calypso dance, and Maxine Kramer of Klamath Falls followed with a baton twirling act. Six of the Merrill girls pantomimed the record "Three Cool Cats."

Mary Ann Neat, Donna Fay, Deanna Silvestrin, and Waynette Waller of Theta No. 8 then assisted in presenting the past advisers and assistant advisers of the club. This was done with a short history of the club, narrated by Sharon Odell, giving the names of those women who have served as advisers for the past 25 years. Each of the women was presented a gift by Lynn Kirby, daughter of Retha Kirby. Advisers present for the occasion were Helen Blanas, Harriett Estes, Genevieve Pierce, Bernice McCracken, Retha Kirby and Donna Odell. The club received many notes of congratulations from others who have served as advisers, but who could not be present for the event.

Following the tribute, everyone retired to the attractively decorated dining room for refreshments. Prosperity Rebekah Lodge No. 104 prepared the refreshments and decorations under the chairmanship of Genevieve Pierce, secretary of the local lodge.

Elective officers of Theta No. 8 for this year are Florence Warrington, president; Ruth Ann Leib, vice president; Barbara Harper, recording secretary; Donna Fay, financial secretary; and Mary Jean Blackwell, treasurer.

Jessen-McCulley Vows Exchanged In Alturas

ALTURAS—One of the prettiest weddings of the spring in this city was that of Irene Dorinda McCulley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis McCulley, and Robert Warren Jessen on Saturday evening May 2. The Rev. Karl E. Olson read the seven-thirty o'clock candlelight service in the Alturas Federated Community Church.

Tall white tapers and white satin rosettes marked the pews. Large white daisies were used in the altar vases. Tall candelabra at either side of the altar held white tapers. Palms and tall baskets of white stock and white gladioli completed the setting for the nuptials.

The bride's gown was of Chantilly lace and tulle, fashioned with a fitted bodice, the neckline of which was Sabrina, with a full floor length hoop skirt. A jeweled coronation headpiece held the fingertip illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and small white rosebuds as she entered the chancel on the arm of her father.

The prelude and wedding march were played by Mrs. Richard Meyer, who also accompanied Mrs. William Goulden, aunt of the bride, when she sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Candlelighters were Robert Goulden, cousin of the bride, and Launa Shippen of Cedarville, also her cousin. Launa wore a full skirted white frock over yellow taffeta and a white flowered headpiece. Janet McCulley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McCulley, was flower girl for her cousin, while Kenny Goddard carried a heart shaped satin pillow bearing the rings. Janet's dress was of pale blue nylon over matching taffeta. Her pale blue basket held white rose petals.

Bonnie Cannon came from Sacramento to attend her former school friend as maid of honor. She chose a pale green nylon chiffon over matching taffeta. The matron of honor, Mrs. Dick Hooker of Canby, California, wore pale yellow chiffon over matching taffeta. Sandra Kahman of San Francisco, California, cousin of the bridegroom, as bridesmaid, chose pink for her frock which was similar in material and style to the other attendants.

Eric Jessen of Davis, California, was best man for his cousin. Ushers were Don Anderson of San Francisco, close friend of the bridegroom, and George McCulley, brother of the bride.

The bride's mother wore pale gray lace over rose taffeta with rose accessories. Mrs. Dorinda Goulden, maternal grandmother of the bride, chose a mauve lace afternoon dress and white accessories for the occasion. Mrs. Jessen wore a blue sheath silk dress.

The new Mrs. Jessen is a graduate of the Alturas schools and attended Pacific Union College at Angwin, California. She is employed in the Modoc National Forest office in Alturas.

Her husband, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jessen of Oakland, was graduated from the University of California at Berkeley before his assignment with the Modoc National Forest. His forestry career was interrupted by a tour of duty in Germany with the armed forces, from which he recently returned to Alturas.

Mrs. C. E. McCulley, aunt of the bride, registered the guests at the reception in the church parlors immediately after the wedding.

Mrs. Harry Wilson served the wedding cake after the bridal couple cut the first slice. Mrs. Molly Ann Powell presided at the punch bowl.

The newlyweds will be at home in Alturas at the Rusyn Apartments after honeymooning in the southwest.

YOU CANNOT CATCH GOOD HEALTH

You cannot catch health from the outside of the body any more than you can expect to regain health by putting something into the body from the outside. Health is the result of normal function of the body from within.

When the body is worn down from any cause, whether it be exhausting work or disease, it will be found to be self-recuperating. In exhaustion, due to work, sleep and rest are the only necessary recuperating forces.

When the body is exhausted by disease, it becomes self-recuperating when the cause of the disease is removed. Life impulses travel the nerve lines and when the chiropractor, by his adjustments, frees the nerves for 100 per cent transmission of impulses, nature seldom needs any other aid.
