Klamath Falls Notables See AF Fire-Power Show

Three Klamath Falls men, Walt McIntyre, manager, Worldwide Travel Service; Elbert Stiles, owner, Beehive Truck and Car Rental Company and George Callison, KFJI-Radio news director, were flown to the Air Proving Ground Center, Air Research and Development Command, Eglin Air Force Base, Florida, last week as guests of the Western Air Defense Force, where they joined some 6,200 other Air Force guests and members of the 28th Joint Civilian Orientation Conference to witness a breathtaking demonstration of the Air Force fire power capabilities.

Under a hot Florida sun, burning through cloudless skies, they saw a split-second, hour-and-a-half demonstration of the part played by the Air Force in maintaining global air superiority in defense of the free world. They came away convinced that defense is in good and extremely capable hands.

The demonstration was divided into three parts: a display of many of the weapons now employed by the Air Force; the planes for taking those weapons to an enemy, and the men through whose teamwork the whole thing is made possible.

Among the weapons shown were the unbelievable Gatling gun that burps out 20-millimeter cannon shells at the rate of 6,000 a minute! A six-second burst (600 rounds) from a weapon mounted on a cement pad in front of the stands, left two three-foot piles of casings at the side of the smoking gun. . . tore to shreds a parked aircraft a few hundred yards away.

There was the fantastic Sidewinder missile, guided by an infra-red or heat-seeking device. (A lighted cigarette would suffice if there were no greater heat source to home on.) An F-104 Starfighter, in level flight in front of the stands, released two five-inch rockets, and seconds later, fired two Sidewinder missiles. Before the rockets had traveled more than a few hundred yards, the deadly Sidewinders tracked them down and destroyed them.

Just about every plane in the Air Force stable was put through its paces at Eglin—the whole century series, including the F-105 Thunderchief and the F-104 Starfighter; the latest transport and cargo planes and the Air Force's strategic jet bombers, the B-47's and B-52's.

The six B-52's which flew by the viewing stands had left Tinker Air Force Base, Oklahoma, earlier in the day on a routine training mission which included the fly-by at Eglin and simulated bombing attacks on six American cities on the way back home!

How good are the planes? Armed with 20-millimeter cannons, bombs, rockets, missiles and napalm tanks they obliterated every target placed on the range for their use. An F-105 tossed a 750-pound bomb thousands of feet into the air, reversed its flight direction and was miles away when the bomb exploded.

A Starfighter cracked the sound barrier in tree-top level flight in front of the stands, then streaked up to 45,000 feet to intercept a flight of four F-102's—all in about one minute.

Two RF-101 Voodoos whooshed over the grandstand at 500 miles per hour taking still photographs of the startled spectators. Several hundred copies of the picture—which showed the same definition a photographer could expect with his camera on a tripod—were flown back to the stands by helicopter from the photo lab, miles away, a half hour later.

Accusations Rejected

TOKYO (AP)—Japan today told the Soviet Union it cannot adopt a policy of neutrality in world affairs.

The Japanese government rejected Soviet accusations that nuclear arms have been brought into Japan.

It said Japan's defense forces will not be armed with nuclear weapons and the government "will not consent to the introduction of such weapons into the country."

The foreign ministry delivered a note to Soviet Ambassador Nikolai Federenko, replying to a Soviet note of May 4. The reply accused the Soviets of trying to interfere in Japan's internal affairs.

The reply also said a Soviet bid for a nuclear free zone in Asia is an issue that should be settled by the nuclear powers — not Japan.

The Japanese reply also rejected the Soviet contention that the U.S.-Japan security treaty is a threat to Asian peace. It said the treaty is wholly defensive.

Speed Of X-15 To Be 4,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government officially disclosed Friday the expected speed of the X-15 rocket research airplane — 4,000 miles an hour.

Ira H. Abbott, of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told the Aviation Writers Assn. in a prepared breakfast talk that the X-15 will "leap out of the atmosphere into space much as a fish jumps out of water."

The X-15 currently is undergoing exhaustive captive flight tests under the wing of a B52 jet bomber.

Juvenile Delinquency Is Primarily A Sport

WASHINGTON (AP)—Juvenile delinquency—sickness or sport? Primarily it's sport, says a research report published this week—sport, adventure and a way of life.

The big majority of delinquents, according to six experts in the field, are essentially normal youngsters. They're just running with the gang and doing what comes naturally.

The study commissioned by the National Education Assn., disclosed that only 25 per cent of the nation's juvenile delinquents demonstrate any degree of emotional disturbance. And only a few of these could be helped by psychiatric treatment—the rest are either immune or allergic to it.

The six authors of the report include a pediatrician, a criminologist, a psychologist, a psychiatrist, a sociologist and an authority on cultural anthropology.

According to these experts, 85 per cent of all delinquents come from lower class families.

As the experts drew their line, class status is largely a matter of family aspirations rather than personal possessions. The report set forth no hard and fast rules by which a family might be classified, but it did offer some guidelines.

In the case of the lower class youngster, for instance: It is unlikely that his parents will belong to service or fraternal organizations.

His family probably spends its income on present pleasures, rather than saving for the future. He may quit school, or intend to quit, as soon as it's legally possible.

He may use poor English, such as "ain't," "I seen him," or "when he come in."

He probably will tend to regard property—whether his own or the school's—as something to be used hard and worn out, rather than conserved.

His attitude toward money probably will be "catch as catch can," and his way of life will reflect a great reliance on fate or luck.

In the case of the middle class youngster: His parents probably belong to service and fraternal groups.

His older male relatives will generally wear suits and neckties on the job.

His family will probably save its money for future use. The youngster will do average or better work in school, or, if he doesn't, he will worry about it.

He will regard property as something to be maintained or improved.

His primary source of money will be a regular weekly or monthly allowance.

His way of life will reflect a strong concern for the future, and planning for the future.

The survey team said there is considerable mixing and overlapping of the lower and middle classes. The experts didn't even define an "upper class."

In the matter of mental health, the report found a big difference between lower class and middle class delinquents. Although the middle class produces only 15 per cent of all delinquents, two of every three of their number are emotionally disturbed. In the lower class, the figure is about one out of five.

The youth most likely to strike out against school and society, the report said, is the lower class youngster who wants to raise his status but can't.

The report breaks down the nation's juvenile delinquents this way: Seventy per cent are normal, lower class youngsters and five per cent are normal middle class youngsters. Fifteen per cent are lower class youth with some degree of emotional disturbance, and 10 per cent are middle class youngsters with emotional problems.

It is the lower class youngsters with emotional disturbances who are the hardest to treat, the experts said, because their parents refuse to recognize virtue or promise in clinical treatment.

"Even where clinical facilities are available," the report says, "they are likely to be rejected by parent and youngster alike."

Lawyers Bid To Aid Woman

LITTLETON, Colo. (AP)—Attorneys from five states have offered to defend Dixie Ann Gottfried, 30, a former beauty contest winner charged with armed robbery.

The charges were filed in Arapahoe County District Court Thursday. They stem from a drugstore robbery in which $131 in cash and narcotics were taken.

Dist. Judge Harold Harrison named a local attorney to defend Mrs. Gottfried.

Bill Maraggos, chief investigator for the Arapahoe County Sheriff's Office, said attorneys from Baton Rouge, La., Chicago, New York City, Louisville, Ky., and Oklahoma City had offered to come to this Denver suburb, at their own expense, to defend Mrs. Gottfried. Maraggos did not identify the attorneys.

Arraignment of the woman is set for next Tuesday, not far from Centennial Racetrack where she reigned as Miss Colorado Jaycee last July.

Her husband, William D. Gottfried, is serving a sentence in an Illinois prison.

GREEN THUMB GARDENERS

The meeting of the Green Thumb Gardeners of Henley was called to order by Mike Soran. We discussed what we were going to plant, and what the best kind of vegetable was.

All members paid dues. Present at the meeting were Jeanie McClay, Van Perry, Randy Warren, Therese Soran, Janice Soran, Patrice Soran, and Mike Soran. The meeting was adjourned.

PELICAN HAMS

The fourth meeting of the Pelican Hams was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Natale.

The meeting was called to order by President Tom Miles. The first order of business was to elect a new secretary — treasurer, Laura Miles, the old secretary-treasurer, expects to leave town soon. The club elected Cecilia Crouse to the office. She held the office of vice president. Tom Natale was elected to her old office.

Cecilia Crouse then called roll and collected dues. Each member as they were bringing their dues had a roll call topic.

There were reports given by Paul Watters on equipment; Jim Osland, John Barrick, and Don Ivie all reported on the different 4-H records.

The leader, John Edge, explained and asked for discussion on the various ways of feeding and tending the animals.

Enrollment cards were passed out to those having animals. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arch McClurg.

FOREST PRESERVERS

The 4-H Forest Preservers met at the Forest Rangers office in Crescent for their second meeting. April 27. Nicky Hiatt led the group in song.

Richard Hiatt, assistant leader, led a discussion on "Tree Planting." The group then planted approximately 150 Ponderosa Pines around the Forest Service premises, and those who wished to do so, took a tree home to plant.

The group then planned a hike for May 9, played a game, had refreshments, and the meeting was adjourned.

FREEZERETTES

The third meeting of the Poe Valley Freezerettes was held at Mrs. Bebb's home. Refreshments were served.

The meeting was called to order by President Susan Tubach. We saluted the flags. The secretary called roll. Secretary Susan Bebb read the minutes of the last meeting.

Old business was community service. There was no new business. Community service is that we clean up roadside. We have not decided on a date yet.

The meeting was adjourned. We learned how to freeze asparagus. Sherry Sherman News Reporter.

HENLEY ROOTERS

The meeting of the Henley Rooters was called to order by Steve Schmeck, president, at the home of Bill and Jim Turner. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Secretary Louise Arnold.

The record books for the year were passed out. Steve Schmeck explained how to fill out the record books. Steven, Judy and Karen Dixon and Jim Adair were enrolled on the enrollment blank.

Sherry Breithaupt explained how to get to her house where the next meeting is to be held. Steve Schmeck assigned reports on different kinds of hogs to some of the members. The meeting was then adjourned by Steve Schmeck.

WOULD ERASE RECORDS

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — Persons accused but not convicted of crimes could have their criminal records destroyed under a bill before the state Senate Friday.

The proposal also provides for erasing the record of a convicted criminal if no complaints are lodged against him for a 10-year period.

Japan Pair Betrothed

TOKYO (AP) — A 550-a-month bank clerk became engaged to Emperor Hirohito's youngest daughter Friday without seeing her and without a ring.

Hisanaga Shimazu, 25, and 20-year-old Princess Suga were officially betrothed at the moment their families exchanged traditional gifts of fish, Japanese wine and bolts of silk.

An imperial Chamberlain presented the Emperor's gifts to Shimazu and his widowed mother at their home at the same time as the young man's uncle took the Shimazu gifts to the palace.

Four hours after the exchange, Shimazu, descendant of a feudal lord, and his mother were formally received by the Emperor and Empress.

Shimazu then had a brief meeting with the girl he is expected to wed late this year.
