MONTAGUE — At the recent monthly meeting of the Delphic 4-H club, plans were made to enter a float in the forthcoming Montague Junior Rodeo parade on Sunday, June 21, at Montague.

Reports were also given during the meeting by the safety committee on the results of last month's hazard hunt. Also read, were the scores of each member's livestock judging at the project tour.

One of the two demonstrations given at the meeting will represent Siskiyou County at the 4-H Regional Field Day at Red Bluff. It was given by Sandy Holloway, and the other demonstration was presented by Shirley Brooks, Connie Rizzardo and Nancy Robustellini.

MOTHERS TEA

BLY—The 4-H Mothers tea recently was sponsored by the Humming Birds and Good Cooks groups. This tea climaxed the 4-H year.

The tea table was set with a white damask cloth which set off the centerpiece of spring flowers and tapers. The silver tea and coffee service and crystal punch bowl added to the splendor of the setting.

Several of the 4-H members were dressed in Centennial fashion and the boys wore white shirts and black Centennial ties.

Assisting the girls and boys were their leaders, Mrs. Bell Cobb, Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell, Mrs. Jaunita Nelson and Mrs. Verla Larsen.

Members putting on the tea were Shannon Briley, Janet Harter, Dorothy Nelson, Janice Hague, Mickey Zittle, Susan Tikkanen, Dale Pratt, Larry Cobb, David Branham, Freddie Franklin and Terry Ward. Valerie Little, Cathy Brady, Judy Hague, Linda Murphy, Glenda Ashford and Barbara Gross.

LAKEVIEW—Forty Lake County 4-H Club members were recently selected as delegates to the 4-H summer school, which will be held in Corvallis from June 28 to 27. Seven were named as alternates.

forcing highway jobs to stop pending completion of the structures," he continued.

"As a result, in the immediate future we are faced with a complete stoppage of the highway and structural programs throughout the state which will force thousands of employees and material suppliers out of work."

nates. The trip will be made by bus.

Each delegate has won or will receive a $25 scholarship to cover expenses while at the school. In addition each delegate must pay $5 for transportation and insurance costs. Delegates are reminded that this summer school fee must be in by June 1.

Delegates are Doug Dameron, James Greiner, Joe Kaley, Kenneth Kudrna, Larry Maxwell, John Moran, Bill Parks, Mike Patrick, Maurice Odegaard, Wayne Sipp, Lonny Schadler, Dwaine Taylor, Wade Vandergaw, Marvin Wells, Fred Williams.

Alternates are Dell Swearingen, Dave Noble, Karen Kinsey, Mary Alice Stephens, Susan Brattain, Janet Taylor and Marcia Metzger.

LAKEVIEW—All 4-H'ers who are enrolled in spring fair projects must turn in a completion card to the 4-H office in the courthouse by June 1, according to Al Haselbacher, 4-H county extension agent.

This is the state deadline for completing spring projects and a member cannot receive credit for completing a project or receive a pin at the end of the year, unless he or she has turned in a completion card. These cards are blue and are the same size as the enrollment card.

Four-H club leaders with spring fair projects have been sent enough completion cards for all the members in their clubs. Club members should go to their club leaders for these cards, as the completion card must be signed by both the member and the leader. Individual members have their parents sign in place of the leader.

JUST IN CASE

Last summer it never did. But the store had some fine print to take care of that... "or July 15, 1959."

Analysis Set On Clothing

PORTLAND (AP)—Clothing from the bodies of two daughters of the Ken Martin family will be sent to FBI laboratories in Washington, D.C., for analysis.

Capt. Howard Kelly of the Multnomah County sheriff's office said this is to determine whether the family car is in the Columbia River near the Harvey Aluminum Co. plant at The Dalles.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Martin and their three daughters vanished Dec. 7 while on a drive. It is believed the family car plunged off the highway into the river.

King Dines With Debby

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Bachelor King Baudouin of Belgium met an array of glamorous movie stars Tuesday but he seemed to have eyes only for Hollywood's newest bachelor girl, Debbie Reynolds.

The 28-year-old ruler twice had the petite film beauty as his table partner, and both times he had little conversation with anyone else.

He and Miss Reynolds danced into the early morning hours at a dinner party Tuesday night held in his honor.

Earlier, at a luncheon in the MGM commissary, the King also met such beauties as Mamie Van Doren, but his attention was fully taken up with 27-year-old Miss Reynolds.

Only last week she was divorced by Eddie Fisher in Nevada so he could marry Elizabeth Taylor.

Miss Reynolds was one of the few unescorted women to attend the private dinner party for the King at producer Mervyn Leroy's secluded home in nearby Bel Air.

CAN'T QUESTION IT

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—Judge Elmer Peak dismissed a speeding charge against Benjamin Charlier, 31, Tuesday on the ground he was denied his basic right to face and cross-examine his accuser.

The "accuser" was an electric speed-timing device.

REAMES GOLF AND COUNTRY CLUB has been selected as the site of the 1959 Oregon Professional Golfers Association match play tournament to be held July 13 through 16. Shown here is part of the large committee appointed by Clark Good, club pro, to make plans for the PGA tourney. From left, Good, Barney Cavanaugh, Claire Ellis, Wes McNea, advertising and publicity; Jack Myers, transportation; Clyde Ritter, social; Don Robin, guest lockers and Jim Wells, reception. Top pros from Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana have been invited to participate. Klamath Basin residents are invited to view any or all of the matches. A complete schedule of all matches will be published later.

Bridge, Road Construction May Be Halted By Strike

PORTLAND (AP)—Bridge and related road construction throughout nearly all of Oregon and part of Washington may shut down.

Members of the Associated General Contractors at a special meeting here Wednesday agreed to the shutdown unless striking Portland and Astoria pile drivers return to work.

The stoppage—now idling 500 workers in the Portland area and others in various parts of Oregon—would blanket 95 per cent of Oregon and 5 1/2 counties of Southwestern Washington.

The Astoria and Portland area pile drivers rejected a three-year contract settlement accepted by pile drivers elsewhere in the area and carpenters throughout the area.

The pile drivers are asking a hiring hall clause and more travel pay. They are members of the same union as the carpenters, and when not employed as pile drivers work as carpenters.

The AGC also telegraphed the state Highway Department asking a halt to further contract awards until the work stoppage is settled. The department was scheduled to open bids Tuesday for 23 highway, bridge and other construction projects with a value estimated at $5,480,000.

The AGC said the striking pile drivers sporadically picketed jobs scattered in eastern, central and southern Oregon.

Bill Harding, AGC manager, said the fewer than 100 striking pile drivers is throwing hundreds of allied carpenters and other construction employees out of work despite the settlement.

Harding said the AGC "has kept faith with the other crafts and with the public in attempting to continue employment, but the picketing endangers a general shutdown of all construction."
