Stassen Wins Party Nod

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP) — Harold Stassen easily won the Republican nomination for mayor Tuesday, with Republican backing that had been denied to him in his bid for governor last May.

His 56,530 votes were more than twice as many as the combined vote of his two opponents. They were Ralph C. Morrone and Joseph A. Schafer, both GOP city committeemen.

He will face incumbent Democratic Mayor Richardson Dilworth in the November elections. Dilworth, seeking a second four-year term, ran unopposed in the primary.

It was sharp contrast to the party's reaction when the former Minnesota governor resigned last year as adviser to President Eisenhower and announced he wanted the Republican nomination for governor. He ran as an independent in the GOP primary last May and was thoroughly defeated.

As expected, Pennsylvania's primary drew only about 30 per cent of the 5,135,580 registered voters. There was only one battle for a statewide post.

The governor, who was accompanied by his wife, said he hopes to leave the hospital June 2 and return to Juneau about 10 days later.

Junior Week Celebration Salutes Cities In Oregon

By MYRTLE WIMER
FORT KLAMATH—An event of the class of 1960 Junior Week celebration, the traditional annual canoe fete, was held at the University of Oregon in Eugene on Friday evening, May 15. Theme of this year's fete was "Oregon Trail Marks" and 11 cities of historical interest in Oregon were saluted at the celebration. Symbolical of each of the cities, floats were built by university students, and participated in the canoe fete.

This year, Fort Klamath was honored by being selected as one of the cities with rich historical backgrounds, and Mrs. Elizabeth M. Loosley represented the town at the festivities on May 15.

Making the trip to Eugene were Mrs. Loosley, her granddaughter, Mrs. Howard Holliday of Klamath Falls, and Mrs. Lloyd Nicholson of Fort Klamath. The three women were presented with courtesy tickets to all Friday and Saturday events, and were royally entertained as guests of the university. Among affairs they attended were the representatives' dinner held at 5:30 p.m. Friday in the Erb Memorial Student Union building on the campus, with many dignitaries in attendance as well as the representatives of cities honored during the fete. The trio attended the canoe fete held at 8:30 p.m. Friday, and after spending the night in Eugene, returned home the following morning, bringing back glowing accounts of the memorable occasion.

Mrs. Loosley at one time took extension work at the university, and her late husband, Edward K. Loosley, was also a student there. Mrs. Nicholson is an alumna of the University of Oregon, majoring in business administration with a bachelor of arts degree. Her husband graduated the same year in the same major, with a bachelor of science degree. The campus romance developed into wedding bells, and with their three children, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson make their home in Fort Klamath.

Mrs. Loosley's lifetime hobby is history, and she has written much

Dimes Drives Has New Chief

Leo Zell was elected to succeed John W. Insley as chairman of the Klamath County Chapter of the National Foundation at an annual meeting of the March of Dimes organization Wednesday evening, May 13.

Also elected were Robert S. Wilson, vice chairman, James Ray, secretary, and Robert S. Rice, treasurer.

Elected to the chapter board were Insley, Mrs. Gail Putnam, Mrs. Howard Strode and Mrs. Alice Vitus.

The new officers will participate in a state level chapter leadership conference in Bend, Tuesday May 26, at which the new patient aid program of the organization will be detailed. As The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis the chapter has led the fight against polio in this county since 1938.

It was announced last July that the organization had changed its name to just The National Foundation and would undertake new patient aid programs in juvenile rheumatoid arthritis and congenital malformations.

The research program of the National Foundation will continue its study of polio and its prevention and undertake new and extended studies in the new fields as well as in virus research and disorders of the central nervous system.

The next board meeting will be Tuesday, June 11, at 7:30 p.m. in the Crater Room of the Winema Hotel.

Tick Control Insecticide Told

LAKEVIEW — Rotenone is the best approved insecticide for tick control on lambs within 30 days of slaughter, according to Oris Rudd, county extension agent.

Dieldrin, while being very effective against ticks should not be used on lambs intended for slaughter within 90 days of treatment.

Sheepmen who didn't control ticks on the ewes last fall are finding many ticks migrating onto the lambs. Where populations of ticks are heavy enough to warrant, dusting with Rotenone will give fair results. Repeat dusting at seven to 10 days for best results. Rotenone five per cent dust will do an effective job of control.

Dusting lambs after ewes are shorn should insure getting most of the ticks.

After the lambs are all sold then it will pay to dust the ewes with one and one half percent dieldrin dust for the best type of tick control, Rudd concluded.
