

SOCIETY

By HELEN BECHEN
Herald and News
Klamath Falls, Oregon
May 31, 1959

A FIRM HANDCLASP is given the bridegroom, Victor Lasater, by his new father-in-law, Martin Swanson, as the young couple drink a toast to their new life together.

JUST MOMENTS after Mrs. Martin Swanson gave a final touch to her daughter's filmy veil, the bride was escorted into the church by her father.

MRS. VICTOR LASATER
— Photos by Ferebee

WHITE TAPERS which glowed in the background for the wedding ceremony were lit by Valerie and Steven Zamsky who pose with the bride before the service.

TWENTY FIVE YEARS of marriage were celebrated May 26 by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eberlein. They are pictured with the beautifully decorated cake which was served to friends and relatives at the home of Harold Eberlein on Ward Street. Mrs. Eberlein, the former Vernice Zetzman, is wearing the gown in which she was married May 26, 1934, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Zetzman. Their married life has been spent in this city where he is co-owner of Specialized Service. The couple has two sons, Alan, a junior at Oregon State College, and Neal, who will be graduated in June from KUHS. (Story on inside page). —Photo by Ellis

Barbara Joan Swanson Weds Victor Lasater In Presbyterian Church

Barbara Joan Swanson became the bride of Victor Lasater of Lakeview on Saturday, May 23, in a ceremony performed by the Rev. Robert C. Groves at the First Presbyterian Church at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Barbara Joan is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Swanson of 1951 Earle Street.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a lovely gown of white silk embroidered tulle over antique taffeta and ruffles of tulle. The fitted bodice with Sabrina neckline was outlined in embroidered scallops. Scallops also finished the tiny, draped cap and formed the panel trim of the skirt front, enhancing the length train. A fingertip veil of a half-crown, outlined in seed pearls. Dainty mitts of embroidered tulle completed the picture. She carried a cascade of stephanotis centered with a single white orchid. For tradition she wore a blue garter and a penny in her slipper given to her by her brother, Richard Swanson. Her veil was borrowed from Mrs. Richard Swanson, her sister-in-law. An heirloom filigree bracelet which had belonged to her maternal grandmother was her only jewelry.

Joanne Forbes, a college friend from Albany, Oregon, was maid of honor. A former roommate, with Adell McMillan of Eugene, was bridesmaid. They wore identical bouffant waltz length frocks of canary yellow chiffon. The cowl neckline in front formed a low V in back and a draped sash of the same chiffon fell to the hemline. Their tiny hats were of matching chiffon fashioned in graduated petal design, centered with medallions of seed pearls. They wore matching slippers and carried fan-shaped bouquets of yellow Marquette daisies.

The wedding party came down the aisle, laid with a white runner, to the altar where a basket of white chrysanthemums and white gladioli had been placed below the cross. Plaques of the same flowers were attached to four candelabra holding white tapers which lit the chancel for the double ring ceremony.

Valerie and Steven Zamsky, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Zamsky, were candlelighters. Valerie's dress was of canary in embroidered scallops. Scallops also finished the tiny, draped cap and formed the panel trim of the skirt front, enhancing the length train. A fingertip veil of a half-crown, outlined in seed pearls. Dainty mitts of embroidered tulle completed the picture. She carried a cascade of stephanotis centered with a single white orchid. For tradition she wore a blue garter and a penny in her slipper given to her by her brother, Richard Swanson. Her veil was borrowed from Mrs. Richard Swanson, her sister-in-law. An heirloom filigree bracelet which had belonged to her maternal grandmother was her only jewelry.

Mrs. Swanson chose for her daughter's wedding a gown of heavenly blue embroidered lace over taffeta with a fitted cummerbund of matching satin. With it she wore hat and gloves in a matching color and clear plastic sandals.

Mrs. Winters selected for the occasion a Dior blue costume with matching shoes, hat and white gloves. Both mothers wore a pink cymbidium orchid.

The young couple greeted wedding guests at a reception in the

WITH REGRETS Klamath Falls residents are saying farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Loney Jr. at numerous social affairs being given in their honor. He has been director of music education in Klamath Falls public schools for 17 years during which time they have been active in musical and civic groups of the city. Mr. Loney has accepted a professorship in the school of music at the University of Portland. Although they will miss their many friends here, their Portland move will bring them a bit closer to their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Sutherland and Dana, Monica and Patricia, who make their home in Seattle. —Photo by Ellis

AN INFORMAL RECEPTION honoring Edward J. Murray, followed impressive ceremonies in which he was made a member of The Knighthood of St. George the Great. Pastel shaded daisies decorated the parish hall and refreshment table for the affair attended by approximately 300 guests. Special guests included Superior Judge Herman A. van der Zee and his daughter, Eleanor van der Zee of San Francisco; Kathrine Crumlinde, Richmond; Ed Walsh, San Francisco; Martin McGrath, Lakeview. Pictured are nieces and nephews of the honored man, left to right, Walter P. Hannon of Medford; Bernadine Hannon, Klamath Falls; Sir Knight Edward J. Murray; Murray Hannon, Sacramento; Kathryn Hannon, daughter of Walter Hannon; M. M. Fisher, Klamath Falls. —Photo by Ellis

MRS. R. E. WALKER with her children, from the left, Jeff, 4, Stevie, 6, and Debbie, 3, left this weekend to join their home in Tacoma, Washington, where they will make their home. Ray Walker, a mechanical engineer, has been for eight years employed as assistant maintenance superintendent for Weyerhaeuser Timber Company. He has been promoted to project engineer out of the Tacoma office of the same company. Both Mr. and Mrs. Walker attended KUHS. He was graduated from Oregon State College in 1950 and later served 18 months with the Navy Air Force in Hawaii. He is the son of Mrs. Lucille O'Brien of Klamath Falls. Mrs. Walker, the former Pat Miffilin, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Theilman of this city. —Photo by Ellis

Continued on Page 2-B