Ingemar Johansson Won't Get Homesick

By OSCAR FRALEY
GROSSINGER, N.Y. (UPI)—
One thing certain, Ingemar Johansson won't get homesick while training for his heavyweight title fight with Floyd Patterson.

This may well be, as pop-eyed

Sunshine Dismays Mrs. Paul

LONDON (AP)—American racehorse owner Mrs. Josephine Paul of New York today looked at the blue skies and sunshine of England—and sighed.

She was one of the few people in this land of rain, wind, and fog who was sad at seeing the sun shining from clear skies.

Her Epsom Derby entry, Arvak, likes a soft, yielding turf for racing. At the moment it's firm and fast.

"Given some rain my horse is absolutely set to beat the Aly Khan," Mrs. Paul said.

Arvak is a 40-1 chance in the field of 20 probable runners for the mile and half Epsom Derby Wednesday. He is a bay son of Supreme Court-Garden City.

Another American-owned colt, Dan Cupid, is a 20-1 betting pick. Dan Cupid, a chestnut colt by Native Dancer out of Vixenette, is owned by Mrs. P. A. B. Widener of Philadelphia.

Prince Aly Khan owns favorite Princillon, a 6-1 betting shot, and third favorite Saint Crespin III, 9-1. Faldigo, Parthia, Carnoustie, Shantung, 22-1; Casque, Regent II, 28-1; Re-actor, 33-1; Arvak, New Brig, 40-1; Josephus, Lindrick 66-1; Barby Pirate, Beau Tudor, Roussea's Dream, 200-1.

Complete betting odds: Princillon, 6-1; Thymus, 8-1; Saint Crespin III, 9-1; Faldigo, Parthia, Carnoustie, Shantung, 22-1; Casque, Regent II, 28-1; Re-actor, 33-1; Arvak, New Brig, 40-1; Josephus, Lindrick 66-1; Barby Pirate, Beau Tudor, Roussea's Dream, 200-1.

Aly Khan described Princillon as the "ideal derby type—light, handy and very well."

The Aly Khan is after his third English classic success of the season. He already has won the 2,000 Guineas with Taboun and the 1,000 Guineas for 3-year-old fillies with Petite Etiole.

Wednesday's race will be the 180th Epsom Derby—the richest ever run. Prize money amounts to 42,680—$119,504.

Ingemar Johansson puts it in "history." That's because of a mink and jewel resort setting where women, anathema to the fight mob, outnumber the men on the premises.

But the snow-happy Swedish heavyweight finds it completely satisfactory because:

1. Mama Johansson is on hand to do the cooking, a la Svenska.

2. Ingemar and his brother's fiancées, both pretty and both addicted to shorts, provide constant inspiration.

3. The entire Scandinavian delegation is quartered in a $150,000 mansion from where they "golf-off" and swim. (Ingemar "breaks the hundred, thank you.")

4. Ingemar gets the final homey touch because his training quarters are set up in the Grossinger ski lodge.

INGEMAR NOT LONESOME
Staring down from the walls are large, colorful posters of many of Europe's finest ski centers. But, the setup being what it is, Ingemar doesn't even get a lonesome light in his eyes when he looks at them.

"I only hope," he said, pointing to a poster in which two people slide perpetually down a snow-covered slope at Holmenkollen, Norway, "that at Yankee Stadium I do not take a fall like I did there."

Only one other time has Ingemar been down in his athletic endeavors—slugged off his feet a single time in the ring.

"I am fighting the Italian, Aldo Pellegrini, and in the first round he hits me, I think at the time, with a hammer," Ingemar growled, shooting his big right arm forth in a phantom punch. "I go down but I get right up."

OPPONENT DISQUALIFIED
Pellegrini was disqualified in the fifth round for fouling.

"He wants to bang heads like this," Johansson demonstrated cautiously on a very nervous sportswriter.

Ingemar did no damage with his display. His gentleness, actually, is one of the thorns in the side of Binstein.

"I wanna make a tiger outta him," Whitey growled. "But he says to me 'why hurt these sparring partners?' He shoulda seen Dempsey. That Dempsey wanted to murder 'em."

Johansson shrugged. "My right hand will be ready."

He says of the weapon which crushed Eddie Machen. "So will I."

His calisthenics also fracture Binstein. Ingemar works hard and his exercises include a hip swing comparable only to a Swedish hula, and a punching session against what he calls a "slung ballen." This is a 2½ pound leather bag stuffed with a hard substance which hangs from a two-foot leather strap. It could, if it hits you on the rebound, put your nose where your ears should be.

"Slung ballen," Binstein growled. "Dames... furs... diamonds... feeciness... I'll tell you, if this big guy hits Patterson with a right, the fight racket ain't never gonna be the same."

Neves Reported Getting Better
INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)—Jockey Ralph Neves, given a less than 50-50 chance to live last Saturday, was reported today to have passed the critical stage.

The veteran 41-year-old rider suffered a fractured skull and fractured vertebrae Saturday when he was thrown from a horse during a race at Hollywood Park.

Doctors expressed grave concern for his life after an operation, but his recovery has been so speedy that yesterday he was allowed to talk with his wife, Midge. He was still kept on the serious list, however, because of the delicate nature of the surgery performed.

TIME OUT

"Remember, Head down, ball in line with left heel, elbows in, firm grip, knees flexed, back slow shifting weight to right foot, wrists bent at top of swing, pause then follow through. Now RELAX and hit it!"

With the count standing 15-6 for Moyina midway in the fourth, one run and one inning short of winning the game because of the 10-run margin rule, the Eastside squad moved back with five runs in the last of the fourth and virtually exploded for 15 markers in the bottom of the fifth to wrap it up.

The damage was done off the combination of 11 walks and seven hits dispensed by three shaky Moyina hurlers.

Eastside experienced much the same type of difficulty in the fourth when the Cinderellas countered their 13 off 11 walks, a hit batter, a pair of wild throws and two hits.

Credited with the final victory for Eastside was catcher-pitcher Jay Paxton. The ultimate loser was Henry Newland who moved in from second base for the Moyina crew.

The longest hits of the game were Eastside's first baseman Bill Kennitzer's home run in the first and a triple in the second. Teammate Dave Stippich, third sacker, who took over as catcher during the fourth also poked a three-master and a double. Starting pitcher Grover Dahn collected three singles.

Honsberger said later that he will not know until Wednesday whether he will be able to play in the open tournament at Marmonock, N.Y.

If Honsberger can't make it, then Ken Still of Tacoma will go in his place.

Still got the alternate's spot by winning a three-way playoff Monday.

After the regulation play ended, Still, Joe Greer of Yakima and Ed Oldfield of Astoria all were tied at 146.

Still won on the third hole of the playoff with a par 4.

Other scores in the Monday qualifying here included:

Chuck Congdon of Tacoma 147, Larry Montez of Daly City, Calif., 149, and Bob McKendrick of Oswego, Ore., 152.

In 1st Night Games

Babe Ruth League 1959 baseball got off to a running start Monday night as the Eastside Electric nine erupted for 15 runs in the last of the fifth inning to stomp the "Cinderella" team, Moyina Heights, 26-13, while Baisigers snatched an 11-10 eighth inning victory from K. Amusement on the opposite end of Conger Field.

The Cinderellas swung into a first inning 2-lead, fell behind 6-2 by the end of the third, then made a serious threat to refuse to return to the "pumpkin" when they paraded 13 men across home plate in the top of the fourth inning.

With the count standing 15-6 for Moyina midway in the fourth, one run and one inning short of winning the game because of the 10-run margin rule, the Eastside squad moved back with five runs in the last of the fourth and virtually exploded for 15 markers in the bottom of the fifth to wrap it up.

Heavyweight Machen, who was knocked out in the first round by Johansson when the two fought at Goteborg, Sweden, last Sept. 14, contends that Johansson is bound to give him a return bout according to a contract which was signed by Ahlquist.

A court ruling in Machen's favor could force Johansson to meet Machen before going through with plans to fight Floyd Patterson for the heavyweight championship here June 25.

Machen argues that Ahlquist acted as Johansson's manager, and therefore Johansson is bound by the pact Ahlquist signed.

Johansson contends that Ahlquist is only his "adviser"—that his manager actually is his father, Nels Johansson.

Ahlquist was expected to arrive in New York early this morning by plane from Sweden and to take the stand sometime during the day. It was also possible testimony would be heard from Machen and from Bill Rosenhorn, promoter of the Patterson-Johansson bout.

Sid Flaherty, manager of Machen, testified Monday that he asked Ahlquist "if he had the authority to sign (for Johansson) and the power of attorney."

"Ahlquist said he did," said Flaherty.

Johansson also contends that the pact signed by Ahlquist on the eve of the Machen-Johansson bout is invalid because it was signed "under duress." The Swedish champion argues that Flaherty threatened to pull Machen out of the sold-out bout unless Ahlquist signed up for a return.
