

THIS OLD WAGON at Wiard Park in the South Suburban District, originally came from Council Bluffs, Iowa, according to Harry Wiard, for whom the park is named. It was once used on construction work on the CB&Q (Chicago, Burlington and Quincy) Railroad, hauling dirt. It came to Klamath Falls by way of the Custer Battlefield in Wyoming, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, California and Mexico, brought here by Art Badorek and given to the park. All of the heavy iron bracings are hand wrought. The wagon, one of the few known to have been preserved, was linked with others and pulled with a steam engine.

Pupils Given Malin Diploma

MALIN—Twenty-one seniors received their diplomas at the Malin High School commencement last week in the school gymnasium. The procession and recessional were played by the Malin High School band under the direction of Charles Doherty.

The Rev. Ethen Whitman gave both the invocation and benediction. This year's salutatory address was delivered by Janet Drager and the valedictory address by Karen Rajnus. The mixed chorus, directed by Mrs. Cleo Lowry, sang "Green Cathedral" and "Finlandia."

Donald Miller's boys chorus sang "Moments to Remember" and "Wagon Wheels." The 1959 senior class gift was presented by Don Micka, class president, to Ed Stastny, student body president.

Robert Croft introduced the other five honor students of the class who gave addresses on the theme "Youth's Hope for Tomorrow." The topics chosen by Diana Price was "Our World Today," Nancy O'Riley, "To Live in Human Dignity," Jim Owens, "Toward World Unity," Nancy Kolkow, "Peace with Freedom," and Arlene Schneider, "Faith in Tomorrow."

Principal Jim Conroy presented the following awards: valedictorian and salutatorian medals to Karen Rajnus and Janet Drager; best citizen award to Ervin Oliver; tuition scholarship to Oregon State College to Karen Rajnus; tuition scholarship to Southern Oregon College to Diana Price; certificate of honor to Janet Drager; an alternate appointment to the Merchant Marine Academy to Jim Owens.

The scholarship award medal given to the student having the highest grade average, including citizenship in the high school during the past year was presented to Ed Stastny and the outstanding girl scholar for the year is Marcia Kenyon.

Baccalaureate services were held earlier in the week in the Malin Park with the Rev. Ethen Whitman of the Malin Presbyterian Community Church giving the main address, "Empire Builders." The mixed chorus, directed by Mrs. Cleo Lowry, sang "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked," "The Statues," and "Beside Still Waters," accompanied at the organ by Shirley Bunnell. Scripture selections were read by Mrs. Clayton Reber.

Top Russian Diplomat Asks To Visit States

WASHINGTON (AP) — First Deputy Premier Frol Koslov of the Soviet Union has asked to meet with President Eisenhower and other top administration leaders during a 10-day visit to the United States.

Eisenhower is expected to grant his wish along with a request to undertake a coast-to-coast tour of some half-dozen American cities in early July.

Koslov, 51, a fast-rising newcomer in the Kremlin hierarchy, is due to arrive in New York June 25, ostensibly to open the Soviet National Exhibition in the New York Coliseum.

The Soviet government appears to be making his visit a formal one, a tit-for-tat exchange for one Vice President Richard M. Nixon is to make to the Soviet Union July 25.

Nixon will open the American National Exhibition in Moscow's Sokolniki Park. While in the U.S.S.R. Nixon has asked to be allowed to tour Soviet cities, including some in Siberia, an area rarely opened to foreigners.

Top officials considering Koslov's requests, including an appearance before an American television audience, recognize that their answer may well determine how much of the Soviet Union Nixon gets to see.

Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Stenshikov formally asked the State Department Friday to help arrange Koslov's trip.

Menshikov's move in giving Koslov's visit a formal character was in sharp contrast to the unofficial label put on a similar trip to the United States last January by Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan. Mikoyan's visit was arranged as an informal call on his old friend Menshikov.

The hectic coast-to-coast tour which followed was pictured by the Soviets as an effort by Mikoyan to accept some of the invitations showered upon him by private American citizens.

Koslov, regarded as one of Premier Nikita Khrushchev's likely successors, has expressed interest in visiting Washington, Detroit, San Francisco, Los Angeles, and a city in Texas.

His call on President Eisenhower at the White House shapes up as a courtesy visit, depending on the status then of the East-West jockeying for a summit meeting.

Koslov has the reputation of being a forceful speaker, as well as a handsome, self-assured Communist party stalwart who helped Khrushchev beat down the challenge of Georgi Malenkov and V. M. Molotov in June 1957.

The only surviving member of the family, Roderick Kent, 4, was reported in satisfactory condition at a hospital.

Deputy Coroner William Crawford said a pickup truck rammed the Hinish car from behind and shoved it into the path of a truck loaded with bags of cement.

Neither the driver of the cement truck, Lester Hall of Clatsburg, Pa., nor the other driver, Theodore McMasters, 35, of Duncansville R.D. 1, was injured.

State police charged McMasters with drunken driving after he was pronounced intoxicated by Dr. R. M. McNeal, a Hollidaysburg, Pa., physician.
