House Schedules Action On Labor Control Bills

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prospects of House action on labor control legislation this session rose sharply today as the House Labor Committee began show-down sessions behind closed doors.

House leaders, reflecting new optimism, appeared convinced a bill of some kind now will come out of committee despite the "forlorn hopes" accorded its chances earlier.

After weeks of hearings, the committee faced the difficult task of reconciling clashing and widely divergent views among its members. These ranged from no legislation at all to enactment of rigid restrictions on union operations.

Chairman Graham A. Barden (D-NC) said, however, he expects a compromise will be worked out enabling the House to debate the first major labor bill to reach the floor since passage of the Taft-Hartley act a decade ago.

But whatever bill the committee recommends could be just a convenient starting point for a floor fight. Many Republicans and Democrats alike expect the final decisions to be made in a legislative free-for-all.

One of the factors which increased chances of House action was a surprise switch by James R. Hoffa's Teamsters union from its earlier stand against enactment of any labor legislation.

Spokesmen for the Teamsters told the committee on Tuesday they not only favor legislative action, but volunteered their own version of a labor "bill of rights."

As a further conciliatory gesture, the Teamsters agreed to send to the committee by next Monday a draft of their own idea of a bill.

Committee sources said they saw little chance the House would accept the bill passed by the Senate.

PROBLEM SOLVED

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Mrs. Hsu Shih-hsien proposed to the Formosa Provincial Assembly Wednesday a novel plan for reducing the number of Formosa's prostitutes — let the government arrange marriages between them and retired servicemen. Gov. Chow Chi-jou rejected it. He said the servicemen might not consider the prostitutes ideal spouses, and the prostitutes might not be enthusiastic for marriage.

Broke, But Proud Comedian To Team Up With Oldtimer

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Comedian Bud Abbott, broke but too proud to declare bankruptcy, said today he and oldtimer Eddie Foy Jr. were teaming up as a new comedy act.

The 63-year-old straight man of the famed Abbott and Costello comedy team told United Press International that he and Foy, 54, were trying to work out a routine for the nightclub and television circuit.

Foy is one of vaudeville's "seven little Foy's."

Abbott, when he announced recently that he was deeply in debt, said there was "no use trying to work. They (the government) don't split the salary. They take it all, and you gotta pay taxes on top of it. I owe them half a million in deductions they didn't allow."

"Some people," he said today, "have written me asking me why I don't go into bankruptcy. But I wouldn't go into bankruptcy for a million dollars. If everybody doesn't crowd me, maybe I can straighten these debts out."

"Maybe I can work out some deal with the tax boys. If they'll only leave me a little, that's all I want. I gotta have some action."

Abbott's money problems have led him to put up his $75,000 home for sale plus most of his other assets collected during the rich years in the 1940s when he and Costello were show business's hottest comedy team.

"But I'm no fool," he said. "I'm not sure if Eddie Foy and I are perfectly suited to each other yet. That's something we have to work out. But he's a fine dancer and has wonderful pathos as a comedian."

"I know I said I didn't see the sense of teaming with another partner after Lou died (last March 3), but the letters from all the people who read about my money troubles convinced me the public would accept me with someone else."

Missing Girl Returns Home

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—"Everyone has been so wonderful," the wildly happy mother sobbed. "We just can't thank them enough."

Her 19-year-old daughter, Linda Millar, was returning home after a 10-day disappearance climaxed by her father's written appeal to return, distributed to newspapers, radio and TV.

Her parents are mystery writers Kenneth and Margaret Miller. She is the couple's only child. The tall, dark-haired girl is an honor student at the University of California.

A psychiatrist who treated her recently said Linda is haunted by a feeling of guilt—she has been on probation since she killed an 11-year-old boy with her car three years ago.

Armand Girola, a private detective hired by the family, said the girl spent 10 days wandering aimlessly around Reno and northern California gambling resorts. She "just wasn't herself," he added.

He said the girl read the father's appeal and telephoned her mother. The father contacted Girola, who picked up the girl in Reno Tuesday night.

WARNING!

ALL DRIVERS NEED SUN GLASSES AS STANDARD SAFETY EQUIPMENT!

5 KILLED BY GLARE!

Glare Can Kill!

A Central Point driver, apparently blinded temporarily by the setting sun, was one of the victims of the southern Oregon tragedy, as his car swung head-on into another in which a driver died, according to reports.

Proper Sun Glasses are not a luxury but a MUST for safe drivers. Glare causes general fatigue, adversely affects your reflexes, makes it difficult to judge safe passing distances. DON'T TAKE CHANCES—IF YOU DRIVE, combat deadly glare with scientifically fitted glasses. We can supply them for either daytime or night-time use.
