Weddings Are Hard Work Says Marryin' George Feen

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—"Dress-ing ushers for a wedding is tough work. They're the dumbest things you ever saw. They can't put a button in a collar or a pair of cuff links in their sleeves."

"You take the smartest guy in the world, talk to him at a wedding and all you get out of him is uh-uh-duh!"

And that is why the wedding specialist of one of the nation's most high-faluting men's clothiers turns up at fashionable weddings in a tee shirt and tennis shoes.

"I strip right down and get busy," said George Feen, who has handled more than 150 weddings for the more wealthy customers of J. Press Inc.

One anxious bridegroom paid for Feen's plane ticket to British Columbia to oversee a wedding, but his most exciting trip was to a huge society wedding on Long Island.

Feen, driving from New Haven with his car jammed with specially tailored cutaways, took a wrong turn. Instead of arriving at noon, he was still tearing toward the church at 1:45 p.m. The wedding was at 3 p.m.

But the bride's panicky father had called out the state police, who collected Feen and sped him—sirens screaming in a special motorcycle escort—to the scene.

"I got 'em dressed and to the church on time."

The wedding's dearest to Feen's heart are those where the bridegroom, best man and ushers all invest in expertly tailored tails or cutaways to the tune of about $150 for each complete outfit.

"But if they insist on renting, we recommend an establishment," added the practical Feen. Even so, the purchase of shirts, ties, socks and collars mounts up.

"We average $150 to $200 on little last-minute details," he said. Feen throws in his services—which cover a wide range.

"I have my wedding suitcase. I have a needle and thread—bridegrooms and ushers always have loose buttons—shoe horns, shoe polish, aspirin and smelling salts."

"I've had bridegrooms pass out on me so many times it isn't even funny. Fathers of the bride, too. One fellow, I tied his ascot with one hand and waved smelling salts under his nose with the other."

"I've got common pins, extra collars and shirts in a whole range of sizes, spare ascots and shoe laces. Men get all fussed at weddings and they're always ripping

Rainbow Girls Install Officers

DUNSMUIR—"Anchor of Hope" was the theme of the installation ceremony at which Marjorie Green was installed as worthy adviser of the Dunsmuir Assembly, Rainbow for Girls.

Blue and white were the colors of the evening and the Blue Room of the Dunsmuir Masonic Temple was decorated with baskets of flowers and white styrofoam anchors.

The officers that will serve with the worthy adviser are Margie Grenvick, worthy associate adviser; Donna Parsons, charity; Linda Lockart, hope; Carolyn Clark, faith; Carol Wagner, recorder; Adele Kenny, treasurer; Susan McClure, chaplain; Noralyn Caswell, love; Judy Murphy, religion; Darlene Wylie, nature; Wilma Jean Champlain, immortality; Patty Rodley, fidelity; Sandra Edwards, patriotism; Margaret Ake, service; Vickie Jones, musician; Peggy Johnson, choir director; Patsy Herrin, drill leader; Janet Mechling, outer observer; Donna Johnson, confidential observer.

Installing officers were Jo-Anne Kelby, worthy adviser; Katherine Nelson, Linda Coppi, Nancy Swift, Patsy Brunel and Adele Kenny. Mrs. Opal Morgan was hostess for the evening and Mrs. Mina Kimble, pianist. Musical interludes were provided by Mrs. Helen Chiment, vocal soloist.

Before taking her obligation of office, Marjorie Green was presented with flowers by her sister, Kathy.

Honored guests were Mrs. Dorothy Egaas of Redding, grand deputy of District 2, and Mrs. Roma Miller of Alturas, grand deputy of District 1. Donald Ake and Lee Gass, DeMolays, presented the American and Rainbow flags. Refreshments were served in the Maple Room following the installation.

KABOBS

For outdoor cookery, alternate frankfurters (cut into five pieces) with pineapple chunks on skewers. Brush with salad oil or barbecue sauce. Cook over charcoal, turning until browned. Serve by placing in split frankfurter rolls which have been buttered and heated. The skewers are so easy to remove this way.
