Cancer Fund Gets Benefit Of Millionaires' Gaming

By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP NEW YORK (UPI)—A luxury liner load of millionaires threw a gambling party for charity Monday night that was "really far out" — about 20 miles in the Atlantic. Society swarmed 500 strong to dine, dance, and respond to the croupiers' inviting "place your bets" on a gala seven-hour cruise of the French Liner Liberte to its North River pier to Ambrose Lightship and back. It was a unique event for New York where gambling is illegal, but the gaming for the benefit of the American Cancer Society had been cleared with police. The winners were paid off in luxury prizes instead of legal tender. Big, big names — Harkness, Uhllein, Drexel, Ford, Bostwick, Lowell, and Cassatt — crowded around the green baize tables in the Liberte's palatial lounge to throw more money after the $100 a head they paid to attend the first one-night cruise aboard a luxury liner in the history of the port of New York. "What are they playing?" asked actress Shirley Booth, who wandered into the brightly lit casino from the dimly lit ballroom where French Chanteuse Lilo was undulating in a pair of long white gloves and little else. Industrialist Alfred P. Sloan Jr. told her roulette, craps, blackjack and bidge. "That's enough, honey!" she exclaimed with a wide-eyed look of astonishment. "When they announced games, I thought we were going to play parlor games." Very few took anything away but the conviction that the last of the social season's great parties, from which several hundred would-be subscribers had been turned away, had perhaps been the best. Certainly no other event could boast a background panorama of Manhattan's skyscrapers and the Statue of Liberty gilded by the setting sun and the distant lights of Brooklyn and Staten Island twinkling after nightfall. It was a clear, moonlit night, the sea calm and perfect for sailing. West Side sium dwellers and scores of sailors gawked at the fashionably dressed crowd, including the Lawrence Rocketeers, Harvey S. Firestones, William P. Arden, and Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein II, at the French Liner pier. Benefit chairman Mrs. Edward F. Hutton, wife of the financier, welcomed the guests who were escorted to their tables in the liner's main dining room by scarlet-clad footmen. After working through a Parisian lamb dinner from Caspian caviar to coupe glace Romanoff washed down with carafes of red and white wine, the celebrants got down to the serious business of the evening — gambling. The night ended about 2:30 a.m. with the raffle of a Buick station wagon, won by department store tycoon Bernard Gimble, and an old French custom — a serving of onion soup all around.

ALTURAS—Alturas Allemanders presented the fourth annual square dance jamboree at the Modoc Union High School on Sunday, June 14, at 1:30 p.m. with Doug Fosbury of Medford as master of ceremonies. Club callers were Hank Fields, Lyle Dunn and Ronnie Telford. Jamboree callers were Charles Stanton of Montgomery Creek, Shasta County; Hank Kuempel and George Jaska of Lakeview; Bill Mayhew and Lyle Steers of Klamath Falls; Howard Jones and Ruth Jones of Dunsmuir, Siskiyou County; Gene Fisher of Red Bluff, Tehama County; and Reno callers Arlene Byassee and Tom Zeme. Fosbury directed the grand march which opened the program. A jamboree breakfast Sunday morning was served at the Hotel Modoc. Earl Quigley is president of the Alturas Allemanders and was assisted in arrangements for the affair by Mel Demick, vice president; Della Pace, secretary; Faye Stahl, treasurer; Mrs. Lyle Dunn, publicity chairman, and Lyle Dunn, square dance instructor. Every Tuesday from 8 till 10 p.m. is dance night for the Alturas dancers, and dancing is at the Alturas grammar school all purpose room. An autopsy was ordered to determine whether the girl had been attacked. No explanation was offered for the stabbing. Charlene was stabbed once in her neck, once in the upper abdomen, twice in her chest and once in an upper arm, apparently with an instrument similar to a screwdriver. Detectives said she was well liked and apparently had no enemies nor steady boy friend at Santa Maria High School. She had gone to a movie Sunday night with a girl friend and the friend's father, and then returned to her home. Mrs. Wray, separated from her contractor husband, said there were no signs of a struggle.

Man Undergoes Treatment For Bottle, Knife Wounds

A Reno man, Frank Alexander Cowan, was taken by Klamath Falls police to Klamath Valley Hospital early Tuesday morning with such severe facial wounds that police were able to follow a trail of blood to an apartment where Cowan was slashed with a knife and a broken bottle. Officers said Richard W. Lasalle of Portland admitted assaulting Cowan. The latter broke into an apartment occupied by Manuel Moe, 445 Market Street, where several persons, including Lasalle, were visiting, Moe said. Cowan crawled through a window, and Lasalle and another man hit him with fists, a bottle and a knife, then threw him out of the apartment, Moe said. Police found Cowan, bleeding profusely, wandering at Market Street and Elm Avenue. He and Lasalle were booked for drunkenness. Officers also were investigating a report by Arnold Gralapp, superintendent of city schools, that vandals broke windshields, side windows, headlights and rear view mirrors on four school buses while they were parked at Alameda Avenue and Monclair Street sometime over the weekend. The damage apparently was done with pellet guns. Mark Dunn of Cunningham and Rickey Motors, 677 South Seventh, reported that thieves broke into the company building over the weekend and burglarized candy, cigarette and coffee vending machines. He said the culprits entered the building through a broken window. Fran Ramsey of 524 North Second Street, complained that someone stole a high powered pistol from a showcase in the Scott Loan Company at 611 Klamath Avenue where he works, over the weekend. Gregory Granillo, 1820 Wantland Avenue, told officers someone stole a car engine he was storing in a vacant lot adjacent to his home Monday.

Law Probes Girl's Death

SANTA MARIA, Calif. (UPI)— Detectives today checked all possible leads in the mystery death of Charlene Wray, 15, who was stabbed to death in her home, probably with a screwdriver. The pretty, auburn-haired teenager was found dead Monday by her mother, Stella Wray, who had just returned from a trip to near-by Paso Robles. The girl was lying on the living room floor, a bag of popcorn still clutched in one hand. An autopsy was ordered to determine whether the girl had been attacked. No explanation was offered for the stabbing. Charlene was stabbed once in her neck, once in the upper abdomen, twice in her chest and once in an upper arm, apparently with an instrument similar to a screwdriver. Detectives said she was well liked and apparently had no enemies nor steady boy friend at Santa Maria High School. She had gone to a movie Sunday night with a girl friend and the friend's father, and then returned to her home. Mrs. Wray, separated from her contractor husband, said there were no signs of a struggle.

Final Passage Scheduled On Benefits To Workers

By JAMES C. ANDERSON United Press International SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Organized labor with the help of a Democratic Legislature moved closer today to winning its greatest increase in years in benefits for the working man. With Senate approval Monday of a bill increasing maximum payments for disability insurance, labor could count safely on material increases in three major categories of financial help to workers. Two bills yet have to win legislative approval. But in the waning days of the session, it appears certain both houses will vote for substantial increases in unemployment insurance and a 13 week extension of payments in lieu of being employed. The latest bill to win approval of the Senate and Assembly boasts from a top of $50 a week to $65 a week the payment to a worker who is disabled by on the job injuries. The new maximum, however, would apply only to those who earn more than $88 a week. Already on the governor's desk and awaiting his certain signature are bills sponsored by the AFL-CIO which will boost workers' compensation benefits and will permit supplemental unemployment insurance benefits. The most important bill approved by both houses would increase maximum benefits for temporary injuries from $50 to $65 a week and the payment for permanent injuries from $40 to $52.50 a week. The employer will pick up the tab for the increased benefits for injured workers and it will cost about 25 million dollars a year although the benefits to workers will total about $15,400,000. Yet to win final legislative approval are bills which would boost jobless pay benefits from $40 to $55 a week. Labor originally asked for a top of $65 a week but the $55 figure represented a compromise between labor and management representatives. The other bill awaiting final action in the Legislature would add to the present 26-week maximum for payment of unemployment insurance an additional 13 week period. The 13 week extension would apply automatically when unemployment rises to six per cent of the labor force. Other developments: Cigarette tax: The Senate fol-

Group Kills Power Bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A proposal to restrict the power of public agencies to condemn land outside the boundaries of the agencies was killed Monday by the Assembly Judiciary Committee. The bill by Sens. Edwin Regan (D-Weaverville) and Stephen P. Teale (D-West Point) was sent to an interim committee. Under present law all public bodies, from the federal government to the smallest irrigation or recreation district, have the power to take land anywhere in California through condemnation proceedings. The proposal by Regan and Teale would have permitted condemnation by an agency in a county other than its headquarters county only if the board of supervisors of the affected county agreed to the plan. The bill would also have required public agencies to pay taxes on condemned land outside its home county. Teale said the bill was designed to stop irrigation and water districts from "invading" water rich areas. However, Assemblyman William Biddick (D-Stockton), chairman of the committee, complained the bill would give county supervisors "an absolute veto over the right of condemnation."

Mom, Daughter Hurt In Crash

McCLOUD—Mrs. Alice Price, 30, of Dunsmuir and her daughter Deores, 8, were taken to McCloud Hospital for treatment of head lacerations after a car in which they were passengers went out of control Saturday noon, rolled down a steep embankment and smashed into the McCloud Elementary School a mile west of town. Richard Price, the driver, and Vickie Price, 5, received bruises and were treated and released from the hospital. The little girl also suffered shock. The Price boys, James, 9, and Woody, 5, escaped injury. The car was totally wrecked.

BABY FOOTPRINTING

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The taking of footprints of newborn children and fingerprints of the mother soon will not be compulsory in California. The governor signed into law Monday a bill by Sen. Stephen P. Teale (D-West Point), who called the print taking "unsatisfactory and unsanitary."

NAMED CHANGED

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown has placed his signature on a bill changing the name of Soledad State Prison to Soledad Correctional Training Facility. The name change stemmed from a 1957 law permitting the placement of about 600 youth authority wards at Soledad.
