

Water Board Executive Will Speak

DUNSMUIR — Col. Joseph S. Gorlinski, executive director of the Central Valley Water Pollution Control Board, will be the guest speaker at a special chamber of commerce dinner meeting at the Travelers Hotel Monday at 6:30.

In addition to chamber members, all concerned with pollution of rivers and streams and its effects upon the area are invited, Chapman Wentworth, chamber president, announced.

With the dangers of pollution heightened by the extensive highway construction work now in progress in the Upper Sacramento Canyon, an effort should be made to control unnecessary pollution, Reginato warned the chamber. Fishing in the Sacramento and its tributaries will be affected unless precautions are taken, he said.

Bazaar-Style Sales Planned

Downtown Merchants are planning to add color to the Fourth of July Weekend festivities in Klamath Falls in an original way. They are going to trundle their wares in front of their respective establishments and hawk them in the fashion of Omar Khayyam's day.

Plans for the street bazaar will be touched up at a meeting of the Downtown Merchants Association Tuesday, June 23, at 7:30 a.m. in the Chuck Wagon Cafe.

Leo Morstad, association president, and Noel Flynn, manager of Payless Drugstore, said they hope the entire Main Street business district and many other merchants will participate.

The idea has never been tried in Klamath Falls, but it has been successful in other towns.

"Customers get a big kick out of it," Flynn said, "and so do the merchants."

Tailgunner Wants New Crack At Reds

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP) — A U.S. Navy tailgunner wounded by Soviet-type guns off the North Korean coast wants "another chance" at the Communist plane that blasted him out of his turret.

Aviation electrician 2.C. Donald Corder also said he thought he could have gotten the Communist plane of unidentified nationality if it hadn't hit his turret.

Corder of Jacksonville and Farmer City, Ill., was the first crewman to spot the MIG that shot and crippled the Navy P4M1 Mercator some 45 miles off North Korea last Tuesday.

Speaking from a stretcher a few minutes after doctors gave him an injection to ease the pain of 40 to 50 shrapnel wounds and a broken knee, Corder told newsmen the MIG was about 500 feet directly behind him when it opened fire.

"There was quite a bit of confusion. Everybody was talking at once. I was asking the pilot's permission to return fire. I called several times. Either the second or third time, he heard me and answered, 'Tail turret open fire.'"

The order came as the MIGs were making their sixth pass, Corder said.

"I dropped the microphone and started tracking. Just as I was getting a line on the lead airplane, I got hit. It blew me out of the turret. I saw sparks and hot lead."

Asked if he considered the plane adequately armed, Corder said he thought so, but "Nobody who flies those missions ever thinks he is going to be attacked. I was more surprised than scared."

Six Charged With Rape Of Girl, 14

NEW YORK (AP) — Six Negro youths, aged 14 to 17 have been arrested in the Corona, Queens, school yard rape of a 14-year-old white girl. She was attacked three times.

The victim, a pretty blonde eighth grader in the junior high school, was assaulted Thursday night after attending a recreation program at the school. Her name was withheld by police.

The girl identified as her assailants John Rich, 16, Edward Jacobs, 17, and Jacob Bethea and Henry Stokes, both 16. All four were charged with rape.

Police said Rich and Bethea admitted assaulting the girl, but that Jacobs denied it. They said Stokes admitted holding the girl down while the others attacked her. Rich is employed as a messenger boy. The others were students at the Brooklyn Automotive School.

All four were arraigned Saturday in Ridgewood Felony Court. Arraigned Friday and charged with juvenile delinquency were a 14-year-old and 15-year-old boy. Their names were not made public. The 14-year-old, accused of being the lookout, was a student in a school for problem children. The 15-year-old was a student at Flushing, Queens, High School.

Police said Bethea was the youth who first grabbed the girl, hit her with his fist, and raped her the first time.

The victim's girl companions fled in panic. Police said the girl who was assaulted had been gagged, but that she managed to work the gag free and screamed. Her screams were heard by Mrs. Louis Clifford, director of the recreation program, who rushed into the school yard. The youths fled.

The Corona section's population is about equally divided between white and Negroes. An unidentified detective told newsmen: "There was nothing racial about the attack. It was just a punk kid trying to prove himself in front of his friends."

Grass Tour To Be Held

Poe Valley Soil Conservation District will sponsor a grass field day on Tuesday, June 23. All farmers and ranchers interested in grass and range management are invited to attend.

The field day will be held on the old Crawford ranch on upper Buck Creek, now owned by Larry Chapman. The group will meet at Dairy Cafe at 1:30 and drive from there to the Chapman place.

Fred Greenfield, range specialist from the Bend area office of the Soil Conservation Service will conduct discussions, assisted by Gene Cox of the Klamath Falls office. Key forage plants such as bluebunch wheatgrass, Idaho fescue, western needlegrass and others will be pointed out to the group. Growth habits and production of these grasses will be discussed and other forage plants identified. The group will also see fields of pubescent and intermediate wheatgrass and ladak and no-mead alfalfa that were planted in 1957 and 1958 on soil bank land.

Since range management is such an important part of the conservation job in Poe Valley SCD the district supervisors urge all ranchers to take advantage of this opportunity to become better acquainted with their grasslands.

Suit Delays Mill Sale

EUGENE, Ore. (AP)—A suit is holding up an 80 million dollar transaction involving two western Oregon lumber firms, although the sale was approved tentatively earlier last week.

Springfield Plywood Corp., which earlier withdrew its request for an injunction to halt the sale of Booth-Kelly Lumber Co. to U.S. Plywood Corp., still has a suit pending against Booth-Kelly in the state circuit court.

Springfield Plywood is seeking a court order directing Booth-Kelly to turn over all its logs suitable for plywood manufacture.

Two of the nation's biggest plywood producers—U. S. Plywood and Georgia-Pacific Corp., which owns 81 per cent of the Springfield stock, have a stake in the outcome of the transaction.

Fir and hemlock were down $2 to $3 per thousand board feet from a week ago, with green fir figures below $75, compared to $80 four weeks ago.

NLRB Ousts Boycott Claim

PORTLAND (AP) — Secondary boycott charges against the Teamsters Union over its dispute with the Tillamook County Creamery Assn. have been dismissed by the Seattle National Labor Relations Board office, teamsters official William O'Connell said Thursday.

O'Connell, state representative of the Teamsters Joint Council, said the company has 10 days in which to appeal dismissal of the charge filed by the Tillamook-Portland Auto Freight Co.

The charge was one of nine which have erupted in the dispute. Six were filed against the teamsters, and three against the association.

Teamster drivers in the creamery's fluid milk department walked off the job last April after turning down a contract providing a 5 cent an hour pay boost. Pickets in 11 western states are now protesting the sale of Tillamook Cheese, the union said.

Tillamook Mayor Loren D. MacKinley has asked Rep. Walter Norblad (R-Ore) to press for a Senate labor racketeers committee investigation of the situation.

Groom Claims He Set Fires To Cut Tension

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — Police Saturday investigated a bridegroom's story that he set 11 fires causing $227,000 damage to relieve the tensions of honeymooning.

The groom, Jerome Winczewski, 21, told police that when the rigors of young love got to the point of lovers' spats, he and his wife of three months wandered through the city looking for fires.

Finally, he said, he started a fire and his wife got such a kick out of watching it he set 10 more within the next three weeks.

"I guess it was just to relieve the nervous tension," Palmquist said. "I felt better afterward."

For his wife, Delores, 20, watching the fires was "like a great pressure was being taken off me," she told police.

The couple was arrested at a lumber yard Friday, the bridegroom with a roll of tarpaper and newspapers under his arm, and the bride with a gleam in her eyes.

Winczewski said his wife always stood nearby and watched as he touched off the blazes because she "enjoyed them."

Police Lt. John Schroeder said there was "no doubt" that Winczewski started the fires, but he said a thorough investigation would be made before the couple was charged. They were held on suspicion.
