

Fishing Just Fine Off Link River Bridge

A GOOD MANY visitors from the south get their first personal impression of Klamath Falls when they cross the Link River Bridge coming into the city. On most days, for most of each day, the bridge is lined with vacationing kids trying to tempt fish from the world's shortest river within a city limits—if not the world's shortest river, period. Most of the available treasures are chubbies, which are fine for the sport. But a few young anglers manage to produce rainbow trout, a real prize. Herald and News photographer Don Kettler stopped by the bridge to record the summer scenes here. In the large photograph at lower left, Ralph Warner, 13, 1022 Lytton Street, has moved just up the river from the bridge on the south side. Conger Street lies behind the trees across the river in this setting remarkable for anybody's city limits. Views of how it's done are provided in the top row. At left, Kathy Kirkovics, 11-year-old visitor from San Mateo, California, sees how Mara Maloney, 11, 1962 Manzanita Street, baits a hook. In the next picture, results are being hauled out of the river by Jerry Blankenship and Gary Valentine, 12-year-olds who live at 2414 Eberlein Street. The products of Ralph Warner's expedition to the river's edge are shown in the third photo from left. A very commendable catch. In the last photo above, Bill Godsey, 12, a visitor from Oakridge, Oregon, leans way over the bridge while Jim Draw, 11, 1759 El Dorado Boulevard, tries the extended arm technique. In the center picture, bottom row, young Draw has moved beneath the bridge to try the fish in that corner. The last photo shows what Godsey was leaning over for in the shot above. Admitting his catch is Ken Dugan, 1405 El Dorado Boulevard.

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — A man accused of beating his wife while she slept told police Thursday it was unintentional. Police kept the husband in jail although he contended that he had been dreaming of "revenue men sequestering our property. I waved my hands excitedly and apparently my wife's face got in the way."

Presidential Aspirant Got Two Votes In City Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — Testifying without the Uncle Sam suit he wears in campaigns, Lee (America First) Daly got all the time he wanted Friday to fight for the equal time rule on newscasts. Daly's hopelessly unsuccessful campaign for mayor of Chicago led to hearings on changing the controversial rule. He began his testimony before the Senate Commerce subcommittee by demanding three or four hours to state his case.

The chairman, Sen. John O. Pastore (D-RI), told him:

"If your testimony takes 15 hours, you'll be given all the time necessary. But no man is going to threaten this committee."

Daly did not take 15 hours or even three or four to testify, but he did talk at length. He mentioned, among other things, that he received only two votes in the election for mayor and that he plans to run for president in 1960.

Daly electioneered for mayor wearing a big sign marked "perennial candidate."

He demanded that a Chicago TV station devote as much time to his news programs to him as it did to the Republican and Democratic candidates.

The station refused, but the Federal Communications Commission later ruled that under present law Daly was entitled to as much time in newscasts as any other candidate. Despite a plea by Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers and a comment by President Eisenhower that the ruling was ridiculous, the FCC stood by its interpretation of the law.

Congress has been asked by radio and TV network officials to change the law. The networks said the FCC ruling makes news coverage of political campaigns impossible.

The subcommittee seems to lean toward exempting TV and radio newscasts, commentaries, and special events from the equal time law.

One bill before the committee, proposed by Sen. Vance Harke (D-Ind.), would also exempt debates and panel shows. It would set up definite standards as to who may be considered a legitimate candidate for public office.

This bill received the support of publisher Eugene C. Pulliam, who testified after Daly. Pulliam is the publisher of the Indianapolis Star and Indianapolis News, the Arizona Republic, Phoenix Gazette and other papers.

He accused the FCC of having "taken unto itself the right of censorship over radio and TV broadcasts," and added:

"In many areas of federal bureaucracy we already have government by decree, regulatory order or a fantastic interpretation of some law such as the Daly case."

Dalai Lama Okays Parley

MUSSOORIE, India (AP) — The self-exiled Dalai Lama of Tibet said Saturday he would welcome a meeting between Prime Minister Nehru of India and Premier Chou En-lai of Red China to thrash out a solution to the Tibetan problem.

The fugitive god-king told his first news conference since he arrived in India two months ago that he was undecided about his future but would not stay in India indefinitely.

The Dalai Lama said he was pleased that India, his host country, had championed Tibet's cause, as it did that of Algeria, Morocco and Tunisia.

He said he would welcome a summit meeting between Nehru and Chou En-lai "if the actual events in Tibet were considered in their true perspective."

The Dalai Lama added he would also welcome "the support of all countries of the world, including Soviet Russia," for the Tibetan cause.

Five Boys Shot By Neighbor

DETROIT (UPI) — A coal dealer who said he was having trouble with youngsters and his next-door neighbor shot five teenage boys Friday night, wounding one seriously, police said.

Homicide Bureau detectives identified the assailant as Willie Jeter, 40.

Officers said Tommy James, 18, was the most seriously injured of the five victims. He was operated on at Receiving Hospital early today for removal of shotgun pellets from his face and neck.

The other youths, Joe Travis, 17; Lenris Pullen, 17; Willie Driver, 16; and Allan White, 15, received superficial wounds, officers said. Travis was shot in the neck. The other three were hit in the body.

Detectives Lawrence Bleach and George Jackson questioned Jeter. They said he told them the trouble began about 11:30 p.m. when a group of 12 boys surrounded his home on the near West Side.

Jeter claimed he heard someone say, "let's get him, let's take him."
