YREKA—Basil Ray will assume the duties of building inspector for Yreka on July 1, when the current inspector R. L. Golf retires. The Yreka City Council elected him to the post at their regular evening session, and they also authorized the purchase of a new car to be used by his office. The city council also reached an agreement with the California Oregon Power Company for the removal of power poles and transmission lines, which are presently situated in the center of the site of the Greenhorn Dam, now under construction. Rights of way and easements will be furnished by the city, which further agreed to pay $450 to Copco in costs for moving the poles, and to indemnify Copco against any injury to its customers through power shortage during the moving. Three more rights of way from property owners were accepted by the council, for further widening of north Oregon Street. The city board also heard the proposition to change zoning on north Main Street, but was tabled for further consideration. The council gave its stamp of approval for further improvements to the Yreka City Park, which will include placing of basketball hoops in the park, the compacting and rolling of the Little League ball field and the replacement or repair of lights on the tennis courts.

Council Hears Permit Plea

DUNSMUIR—The Dunsmuir City Council approved $97,570 worth of building permits at its meeting this week. The permits covered a new $38,000 Methodist church, three $12,500 homes in Alpine Acres subdivision and a number of home improvements being made by Dunsmuir residents. Lee Huddle, chairman of the Methodist church building committee, asked the council if it could waive the $152.50 permit fee for the church. Howard Jones, city attorney, who is chairman of the new church fund committee, pointed out that the council does not have this option since the code provides that permit fees pay for the necessary building inspections. The council said it would announce its decision on the church fee at its July 1 meeting. The council also heard a complaint from property owners on the east side of Park Avenue that the narrow freeway lacks drainage provisions. It was voted to inquire about possible improvements from the state division of highways. Councilman George Wendell and Police Chief Lee Clark were asked to investigate traffic hazards on Caldwell Avenue. Al Hiland, a resident, complained about the narrow street, blind curve and children on foot and on bicycles. Shirts, pants and badges will be purchased for the 15 man auxiliary police force, the council decided, approving a $750 expenditure.

County Collects Taxes For City

YREKA—The city of Mount Shasta will save $1,428.96 in tax assessment and collection costs next year by contracting with the county offices to handle this portion of city business, according to L. D. Babe Taylor, Siskiyou County tax assessor. Assessed value of secured, unsecured property and utilities in Mount Shasta totals $2,083,805. On the basis of a 2.65 per cent assessed valuation, the city collected $55,220. According to figures provided Taylor, it cost Mount Shasta $1,754.51 to assess and collect these taxes by using a city assessor, collector, assistants and office supplies. The county has contracted to do the job for one per cent of the first $25,000 and one-fourth per cent on the remainder of the city's assessed value. The county charge will be $225.55, Taylor said. This includes all costs except collection of delinquent taxes and the cost of tax roll binders in which the tax roll is bound and kept. Taylor felt this cooperative agreement between the city of Mount Shasta and county would prove efficient and economical.

Weather Man Given Pin

FORT ROCK — Merritt "Bud" Parks, cooperative observer for the U.S. Weather Bureau at the Poplars station, Fort Rock, has received a 15-year pin in a recently established service award program. The Poplars station was set up in December, 1941, to record precipitation and daily maximum and minimum temperature readings from May, 1947. Later the recording precipitation gauge was added. This device charts the time of day and intensity as well as amount of rainfall. Central Oregon boasts several long time observers. William L. Dehne, Fremont station, Fort Rock, was awarded a 40-year pin in 1958. Phil Brogan, associate editor of the Bend Bulletin, has a 36-year record and presentation of a 35-year pin was a recent event. Dehne is first and Brogan second in Oregon in years of service. Others include Mrs. Hattie Goodnight, Prineville, 32 years; George Rufener, Grizzly, 20 years; C. W. Jensen, Redmond, 15 years and G. A. Douglass, Dufur, 14 years. D. E. O'Connor, Paisley, retired this month after completing 24 years of service on June 1. The records kept by these observers are on permanent file in the National Weather Archives and furnish a valuable source of data for research.

Smog Experts Hold Meeting In Southland

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Smog experts were told Monday in smog bound Los Angeles that there is no evidence to show that smog has caused sickness or death in Southern California. About 1,000 of the experts, from the U.S., Canada and Mexico, attended the opening session of the 52nd conference of the Air Pollution Control Assn. Dr. John R. Goldsmith reported that a five-year study he did for the California Department of Public Health failed to indicate that smog could kill humans. He added, however, that lung cancer, chronic bronchitis and other ailments should be studied in relationship to any effect smog might have on them. Goldsmith, citing three smog attacks in the summer and fall of 1954, said the daily number of deaths among those over 65 did not appear to fluctuate during the attacks, nor did the total deaths increase including those due to cardiac or respiratory causes. He said a year later that smog preceded and followed a period of high temperatures and that deaths rose during the high temperature period and fell with lower temperatures although smog remained. "We were unable to find much of an association between asthma attacks and air pollution levels," Goldsmith said.

UPI Sacramento Reporter Reviews Brown's Program

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—California didn't know it at the start of this year, but as of now they will be paying $16,375,000 more in state taxes in this calendar year. Besides this, banks and corporations will add another $60,650,000 and insurance companies $55,000,000 to make it $222,025,000 more the state will collect in new revenue for the 1959 calendar year. The reason is the ambitious tax increase program Gov. Edmund G. Brown fought through the Legislature. This calls for an overall increase of 11.5 per cent in state revenue from taxes. Brown asked for $256,000,000 a year in new taxes to get the state budget out of the red. He got a $222,725,000 boost per fiscal year, losing only a two per cent sever-

Cal-Firpine Awarded Bid

YREKA—Cal-Firpine Inc., whose president is L. C. Handley, was the high bidder on an estimated six million board feet of timber in the Hamburg Gulch Unit, Horse Creek Working Circle, located four miles up Horse Creek on the Klamath River, John Murray, Klamath National Forest Bidding officer, announced Thursday, June 18. Sale was by sealed bids as required for sales set aside for preferential bidding by small business concerns. Species, volumes in board feet, advertised prices, and Cal-Firpine's high bid prices were as follows: For ponderosa pine 1,148,000 $7.75 per thousand board feet, $7.75 per M; for sugar pine, 1,246,000 $10.70 per M, $11.70 per M; and for Douglas fir 3,000,000, $14.85 per M, $29.50 per M. Total appraisal value of the sale was $75,779, and the high bid value was $129,852. Nominal amounts of white fir and incense cedar were also included in the sale at $2.15 per M, but these species were not subject to bidding. Other companies bidding were J. F. Sharp Lumber Company, Wes Graves, Jess Lee, and Hi-Ridge Lumber Company. Murray also announced that bids will be received up to 2 p.m., July 7, for the Six Mile Unit, located in the Salmon River Working Circle on the Callahan-Cecilville Access Road, which will be a set-aside sale with sealed bids. —A boost in inheritance taxes will bring in an extra $8,000,000 to the state. This will come from legacies to relatives, aunts, cousins, more remote uncles and non-relatives. Of the other two taxes in the Brown program, the Legislature voted to speed up collection of insurance company gross premium taxes from November to June. This will bring in $55,000,000 this fiscal year and $3,000,000 in following years. The bank and corporation tax was raised from 4 to 5 1/2 per cent on net income, making payable for this calendar year an extra $60,650,000.
