

Many Klamath Falls Families Welcome Guests, Others Plan New Homes

CATHERINE V. O'CONNOR, a resident of Everett, Massachusetts, is the houseguest of her uncle, John D. O'Connor, with whom she is pictured. This is her first visit to the West and she has been shown many interesting sights by her uncle and a cousin, Mrs. Neil Hurley. Plans are being made by John O'Connor to accompany his niece on an extended trip to Ireland. They will leave New York by plane sometime in August. — Photo by Kettler

LT. COL. AND MRS. LLOYD LeMAY, at right, enjoy the bright sunshine on the patio of their Capehart housing home with their houseguests, Lt. Col. and Mrs. R. L. Carlson, center, and their two sons, Michael and Christopher at the left. The visitors are formerly of Headquarters Air Training Command at Randolph Air Force Base in Texas.

They have received a transfer to Germany where they will make their home in Sinboch. The Carlsons have made plans to make Klamath Falls their home when he retires in three years. They were greeted by many friends stationed at Kingsley Field during their stay with the LeMays. —Photo by Sgt. Charles Bennett

A POPULAR COUPLE, the Bob Harveys and their three daughters, are leaving the city to make their home in Caldwell, Idaho, where he will be manager of the new Penney store. Since coming to Klamath Falls from Oregon City eight years ago they have made many friends who regret their move. Mrs. Harvey has been active in the American Association of University Women, Roosevelt Parent Teacher Association and has been the leader of a Blue Bird group. Her husband is a Mason and a member of Lions Club and was active in sports and civic affairs. Their daughters are Carolyn, 9, seated, Ann, 7, standing, and Margaret, 3, on her mother's lap. —Photo by Kettler

FAREWELLS were said recently to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mack and their two daughters who have established a new home at 645 Wildwind Drive in Salem. Charles Mack is one of three Oregon State tax commissioners. Becky, at right, was graduated from Klamath Union High School in June and will enroll as a Freshman at Oregon

State College this fall. Marcia, to the left of her sister, will enter South Salem High School as a sophomore next year. The Macks, well known for their active participation in civic and social circles, were the guests at many affairs given in their honor prior to their departure. —Photo by Kettler

RECENT VISITORS at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest G. Hedlund, was Mrs. Robert Wade and her two young daughters. Mrs. Wade, the former Delora Hedlund, is pictured with Sue Ellen, 8, and little Jennie Ann, 6½ months. The Hedlunds drove the three to Oakridge on Sunday where they were met by the girls' father and returned with him to their home in Coos Bay. —Photo by Ellis
