INFLATION HITS ZOO

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI) — The high cost of living has reached the animal world, according to officials at Burnet Park Zoo. The Department of Contract and Purchase says the price of horse-meat, used to feed tigers and lions at the zoo, is two-and-one-half cents a pound higher this year than in 1958. The city contracted to pay 35 cents a pound for 21,000 pounds of the feed.

POWER OF THE PRESS

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI)—After a month of snowless winter weather, the Hartford Times printed a picture of a sled on barren ground with the caption: "Where's the snow?" Before the final edition, it started to snow and the next day the Times printed another picture of the sled, this time covered with snow, and the caption: "We asked for it."

SCAPEGOAT

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)—Charged with barroom brawling, Charles N. Gibson, 28, complained in county court that "everybody kept picking on me." The judge continued picking on him, sending Gibson to jail for six months. He'd been involved in fights in four bars on one night.

COACH SERVICE

GRAFTON, N.D. (UPI)—An unused railroad passenger car has been pressed into service here as the result of a fire which destroyed the regular Northern Pacific ticket office. Waiting passengers had to shiver in below-zero cold several days before a railroad crew could lay a special spur to accommodate the new ticket office.
