

Lodge Women Name Chiefs

New officers were recently installed for the Klamath Falls Chapter No. 467, Women of the Moose, at the Moose Hall.

Those to assume duties Wednesday, July 1, are Mrs. Vance (Ruby) Hawley, senior regent; Mrs. W. B. (Patricia) Hescock Jr., graduate regent; Mrs. Vic (Daisy) Douglas Jr., regent; Mrs. Grant (Wanda) Bailey, chaplain; Mrs. Leonard (Dora) Oberg, guide; Mrs. B. M. (Ida) Meggs, assistant guide; Mrs. George (Virginia) Babcock, argus; Mrs. Bud (Jean) Rodgers, sentinel and Mrs. Chris (Thelma) Litzenberg, pro tem pianist.

The event was called to order by chairman, Mrs. Melvin Douglas. Installing officers were Melvin Robinson, governor of Loyal Order of Moose No. 1106; Mrs. Ed Pulley, chaplain and Mrs. Clifford Rasmussen, guide.

Members of the lodge assisted with the ceremony. Mrs. Fred Coles sang two selections accompanied by Mrs. H. W. Moore. Mrs. C. C. Chapel and her committee served refreshments after the meeting. A dance climaxed the proceedings.

Paintings Set For Viewing

Three paintings submitted by Klamath Union High School students have been selected by the screening committee of the American Red Cross to be included in a "best of all entries" group. This group will be exhibited throughout the United States during the coming school year and will be included in exchange exhibits with 36 countries participating.

Barbara Alter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland K. King, 2405 Hope Street; Stephanie Bonotto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bonotto, Wocus, and Pat Carney, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Carney, 138 South Eldorado, submitted paintings of unusual merit.

Each picture is judged on technical skill, imagination and its value in correctly interpreting American life as it actually exists in the community to foreign nations. Miss Alter and Carney each selected a section of the downtown Klamath Falls business district for subject matter, and Miss Bonotto depicted an ice skating scene typical of the locality.

Pictures were judged in San Francisco by a committee of school art specialists from paintings submitted by junior and senior high schools of the 11 Western states as a part of the Junior Red Cross international art program.

All pictures submitted by the Junior Red Cross of the local chapter early in June were accepted for immediate foreign exchange projects. Mrs. Orson Stears, chairman, expressed appreciation for the cooperation of the students participating and to the art department of Fremont Junior High and KUHS under the direction of Gordon Kensler and Howard Hall.

CHAMBER COMMENTS

by GEORGE T. CALLISON

Assistant Mgr. KLAMATH COUNTY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

At the risk of sounding like a broken record, I would like to dwell a little further on the tourist promotion activities of the chamber of commerce. We are approaching the peak of our tourist season, and tourism is big business in Oregon.

Just how big was emphasized by Herald and News Publisher Frank Jenkins in a talk before the Klamath Falls Kiwanis Club this week. In his role as a member of the Travel Information Division of the Oregon State Highway Department, Mr. Jenkins pointed out that in 1958 tourists spent some 150 million dollars while they were in our state! All this at an average stay in Oregon of three-point-eight days. The problem now faced by the Travel Information group, he said, is to devise the means of increasing that average tourist stay by as little as one or two days.

To that end, Jenkins said, the advertising agency which has been retained to handle the state's tourist advertising for the next year has agreed to send representatives throughout Oregon to conduct tourist schools. The agency's intention is to meet principally with service station attendants and waitresses—the two groups who are first to greet tourists and who come into contact with more tourists than any other group — to school them in the methods of interestingly describing the tourist attractions of their particular region. The idea is, of course, that an enthusiastic description of such Klamath Basin fascinations as Crater Lake, Lake of the Woods and the Lava Beds National Monument could easily influence travelers into spending an extra day or two in the fabulous Klamath country.

A good idea—and one the chamber has been pursuing assiduously for some time—particularly this Centennial Year. As mentioned in an earlier column, we conducted "schools" with waitresses of the Klamath area last month, showing them our TV film, "Wish You Were Here," and going over the chamber's many pieces of tourist-promotion literature, including a booklet specially prepared for the use of waitresses and service station attendants. In addition to area maps, lists of accommodations and activities and sight-seeing tour suggestions, it contains answers to the most frequently asked questions by tourists.

At the moment, the chamber is engaged in personally visiting every service station located on a main highway in the Klamath Falls area, supplying them with the above-mentioned literature and information.

The same information, of course, is given out daily to scores of tourists who stop either at the chamber office or at the state line Centennial Information Center.

Speaking of the information booth, as of this Thursday, travelers had registered from 17 states, two Canadian provinces and three foreign countries . . . England, Australia and the Philippines are the three foreign lands represented . . . British Columbia and Alberta, the two Canadian provinces. Among the 17 states accounted for thus far are Hawaii, Florida, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Ohio and Michigan and New Mexico, to name a few. California outweighs its nearest competitor in representation — Washington — by nearly eight-to-one.

Which brings me back to where I started—with Jenkins' talk—in which he noted that 71 per cent of Oregon's tourist traffic originates in California, Washington, Idaho and Canada — those areas immediately adjacent to or near our state.

So welcome Californians, Washingtonians, Idahoans, Canadians—and all the rest of you travelers. We are happy to have you among us, and hope you will stay an extra day or two to completely appreciate the many splendors of the Klamath country.

FUCHS NOW EAST GERMAN

BERLIN (UPI) — Atom spy Klaus Fuchs, who was released from a British prison last Tuesday, has become a citizen of Communist East Germany, the East German News Agency ADN reported Friday night. Fuchs was flown to East Berlin from London after serving nine years and three months of a 14-year prison term for giving Western atom bomb secrets to the Soviets while working in Britain.

Frost Fowler Last Rites Held

GRENADA — Funeral services were held for Frost Fowler, 67-year-old Grenada resident on Saturday morning at Girdner's Funeral Chapel, with the Rev. Harold C. Coleman, Yreka Methodist minister as officiant. Interment was in the Evergreen Cemetery.

Mr. Fowler died Tuesday night, June 23, in the Siskiyou County General Hospital following an illness of two weeks.

Mr. Fowler is survived by the widow, Minnie, Grenada; three daughters, Mrs. Jewel McNames of Yreka, Gladys and Mary Fowler, Grenada, a stepdaughter, Mrs. Helen Ricketts of Morro Bay; a son, Emery Fowler, with the armed services in Germany; and two brothers and two sisters, James W. Fowler of Shafter and John Fowler, Texas, Mrs. Hattie Thomas of Russell, Arkansas, and Partheny Fowler of Chicago.

CONCERT SERIES

LAKEVIEW — An effort to re-establish the community concert series in Lakeview is being made by a local group, and a meeting was held Tuesday evening to discuss the project with Mrs. Gay Sandelin, Bend, who is representative for this region. Another meeting will be held later to spur a membership campaign set for the week beginning October 19. A balance of $205 remains in the treasury of the Lakeview group since the last series.

SCOUT NEWS

BLY TROOP 41

BLY — The members of Girl Scout Troop 41 of Bly are working on the "Help a Girl Scout go to Camp" project. Members Judith and Janice Hagne, Valerie Little and Cindy Ward are prepared to wash cars, iron, wash dishes, baby sit or do household chores. Their earnings will help pay expenses for a girl to attend Girl Scout summer camp session, which starts the second week in July. These girls may be reached by phoning ELGIN 3-2270 or ELGIN 3-2269. Peggy Snodgrass and Valerie Little, assisted by Barbara Rentle, are the leaders of Troop 41.
