Dodger's Win Skein Snapped

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The National League's longest winning streak of the season covered seven games in seven days, lasted 12 innings and was all over on one pitch.

Jim Davenport and Willie Mays joined reliever Stan Williams' first two pitches for 13th-inning home runs Monday night, but Davenport's was a 6-4 decision that ended Los Angeles' streak and reclaimed second place from the Dodgers. It was Davenport's second homer of the night.

That was the only game scheduled in the NL and left the Giants two percentage points ahead of the Dodgers. Both are 1 1/2 games behind Milwaukee's league-leading Braves, who return to action at Cincinnati tonight.

SF 6, Los Angeles 4

Davenport now has homered twice in one game three times in the majors—each time at the Los Angeles Coliseum, where he hit five of his 12 rookie homers last season. Last night's pair, for a total of five this year, were his first against the Dodgers in '59.

The Dodgers who three times came from behind scored twice in the first, chasing Jack Sanford in his first appearance since June 11 because of injury, for a 2-1 lead after Davenport's leadoff homer. Willie Kirkland's 13th home run scored two for a 3-2 lead in the third against starter Roger Craig, but Gil Hodges' 14th home run tied it in the Dodgers' third.

Both scored in the ninth after Craig retired 16 in a row, the Giants counted on a single by Orlando Cepeda and Jackie Brandt's triple. But the Dodgers came back on a single by Gilliam and a double by Charlie Neal that chased reliever Stu Miller, and a sacrifice fly by pinch-hitter Carl Furillo off winning reliever Mike McCormick. The young left-hander, now 7-7, blanked the Dodgers on four hits the rest of the way, getting Don Demeter on an innie-ending fly with the bases loaded in the 11th.

Williams (3-3) came on after southpaw Sandy Koufax had struck out five in three perfect innings of relief, then was lifted for pinch-hitter Don Drysdale—who grounded into a doubleplay in the 12th.

Johansson Heads Home On Friday

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Ingemar Johansson said he will carry the world heavyweight boxing championship back to his Swedish homeland starting Friday, after a few days of Florida fishing and golf.

And his title won't grow dusty, the collegiate-looking conqueror of Floyd Patterson indicated.

"I definitely won't retire after two more fights. I'm going to be a fighting champion," Ingo said Monday as he and his brother, Rolf, and their fiancées alighted from a New York-Miami plane for a four-day vacation.

AL Contenders Face Crucials

Tigers, NY Tied For 4th

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The American League pennant race, so far a scramble of winning streaks and slumps, gets rolling tonight on what could be 10 telling days for the five contenders—Cleveland, Chicago, Baltimore, Detroit and New York.

In those 10 playing days, sandwiching the break for the All-Star game at Pittsburgh a week from today, two of the three western wonders will face each other every day.

Cleveland, first a game over Chicago, plays four games with the White Sox in that span and six against Detroit. The Tigers, four games behind and tied for fourth with New York after a 10-inning, 10-3 loss to Kansas City in the only AL game scheduled Monday have a half-dozen games with the White Sox.

That gives either of the three—the Indians, White Sox or Tigers—a chance to break away, but a stand-off is more likely. And a stand-off would give Baltimore and New York a chance to take charge.

The Orioles, third, 2 1/2 games back, and Yankees play each other only three times in the 10-day period. Baltimore splits a dozen games between Washington and Boston, while the Yankees have 10 with the Senators and Red Sox. A stand-off among the Injuns, White Sox and Tigers would make Kansas City the tie-breaker, and the seventh place A's could snarl things but good.

KC 10, Detroit 3

They jumped from behind for a 2-2 tie on Kent Hadley's ninth-inning home run at Detroit Monday then turned another batch of Tigers bobbles into a record-tying, eight-run 10th. The Tigers now have lost nine of their last 14 games, and while dropping three of their last five, 16 of the 30 runs against them have been unearned.

The A's eight runs tied the AL record for 10th inning scoring. The Tigers set the mark against Washington in 1943, and Cleveland matched it against Philadelphia 10 years later.

An error by losing reliever Barney Schultz (1-2) got the A's started. Then reliever R. G. Smith gave up a walk and the tie-breaking and winning runs came in when Smith threw wild on Dick Williams' bunt. Hadley, 3-for-5, singled Williams home and the A's went on to send 12 batters to the plate.

Bud Daley (8-5) was the winner with Ned Garver's relief after the Tigers, blanked for five frames, added one run in the 10th.

Right-hander Jim Bunning started for Detroit, but was sidelined for five to six days when hit on the right wrist by Jerry Lumpe's line drive in the third inning.

Most Lethal Weapon Since Trigger Advent

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Reflections on "THE" right hand:

Everybody still wants to know about Ingemar Johansson's right hand, the only difference being that since he knocked out Floyd Patterson to win the world heavyweight title they believe all the stories.

The punch, as seen from this corner with an over-Ingos-shoulder view, was readied much like Robin Hood pulling his bow to full leverage as he got ready to pink one of King John's henchmen.

Ingo's fist was the head of the arrow and all you can say in the final analysis is that it must be the greatest thing since TNT to have knocked Patterson flat on his back.

It was one of the most fearsome, driving punches these tired, old red-rimmed eyes ever have seen. It retrospect the mere fact that Patterson rose, again and again like a runaway yo-yo, is a testimonial to his instinctive courage and gameness. Because the man was really lathered.

... TREE TRUNK LEGS

One of the items which legislated against Johansson in the pre-fight speculation was that he was declared by some to have "tree trunk" legs which limited his agility. Those who saw the pictures of his fight with Eddie Machen knew, however, that he could move like a jack rabbit in a prairie fire.

This was proved indisputably by the fact that, while he floored Patterson seven times in the third round, it was only 2:03 when the slaughter was halted. Which means that there still were 57 seconds remaining and if Ruby Goldstein hadn't intervened, Ingo might have destroyed the champ.

It seemed like the longest round in history, as it was, and you kept wondering why the bell didn't ring. The answer was in the speed of Ingo's "tree trunk" legs. They moved him in and out with the frenzied grace of a berserk ballet master. The man can really sprint.

The eutest question thrown at Ingo during the post-fight press party was: "What's wrong with American training methods?"

HARPOONED ABOUT RIGHT

During his training, the Swede was harpooned from all sides and even his own trainer, Whitey Bimstein, mildly criticized his refusal to throw his right hand as well as the ladies' day and home-cooking atmosphere in Ingo's camp.

Ingemar trained at Grossinger's one of the swankiest Catskill resorts, and the hotel received a lot of unfavorable and unfair mention as contributing to his boxing delinquency. Ingo did see several of the floor shows and he did tackle the rumba several times with his fiancée. But there was no monkey business with his training regime and no demands were made on his time. He simply figured himself that a bit of relaxation was good for him.

Ingo only grinned when they asked "what's wrong with American training methods?" Then he merely replied that "everyone should train as he sees fit, which is what I do."

Johansson did feel alien and suspicious as the result of all this sharp-shooting and was highly reluctant to discuss his plans and his training. Thus that right hand was the best kept secret of the boxing ages.

Yet Ingo did tell the truth when he said he didn't want to hurt his sparring partners. If he had thrown that right in training they'd have been the most busted up batch of back benders in ring annals.

Because the punch he finally did put on display was the most lethal right hand since invention of the trigger finger.

The top team climbed higher and the bottom club got stomped a little deeper in Babe Ruth League baseball at Conger Field Monday night, East Side Electric padded their lead with a 10-5 decision over the Crater Lake Machinery Cats while K Amusement had an 11-run celebration in the sixth inning to blast Moyina Heights 16-0.

Electrician winning pitcher Kent Hunsaker survived a wildness that saw him permit 11 walks but allowed only two safe hits while his teammates collaborated on five errors.

The loss was charged to the Cat's Jim Lancaster who was removed in the first inning after the Electric nine had counted four big tallies. Lancaster, however, was credited with both the Crater hits.

Hunsaker spearheaded his own win with a triple and a pair of singles in four trips to the plate. Shortstop Teddy Crutchfield added three one base knocks to the East Side account.

K Amusement chucker, Jim Puter, dealt misery to the Moyina Heights batters for the first five innings, holding them hitless and striking out 12. He gave up the only three Cinderella bingles in the bottom of the sixth but was still credited with a shutout.

A rash of extra base hits and five walks in the top of the sixth were the downfall of losing pitcher Jack Webb. Six hits, including triples by Lyle Phelps and Ben Gonzales, a double by Puter and singles by Phelps, Roy Denham and John Faulkner helped to push 11 runs across the plate.

Webb, Dave Friberg and Jim Douglas collected the only Moyina hits.

McCloud Contest Suffers Rainout

McCLOUD.—The McCLOUD town baseball team vs. Susanville game was rained out after the first inning at Susanville Friday evening. The local team was leading 5-1 when the game was called. Bob Paolentti hit a 450 foot homer over the centerfield fence for a grand slammer.

The June 28 game with Redding at McCLOUD was canceled by Redding. Susanville will meet the local team July 19 and August 16 here. The Loggers travel to Susanville for a July 10 night game.

Hank Aaron of Milwaukee had baseball's longest hitting streak of the 1956 season. He hit safely in 25 straight games.

KF Legion Lineup Intact For Medford League Test

The Klamath Falls American Legion baseball team got a shot in the arm Monday night when regular centerfielder Rich Depew got the doctor's okay to come back to work.

Depew, who has missed a number of Legion contests because of a finger smashed when, by his own admission, "I doped off trying to punt," picked up a practice bat Monday night and found that he hadn't lost his eye during his layoff.

Said coach H. Hatfield, "This is a good time for Rich to come back. We've got a tough slate this week. His hand doesn't really seem to bother him now—but I imagine it's a little tender when he connects with one way out on the end of the bat."

"The boys have been playing real good ball. We won four out of five games in a three day period, all of them on the road, and that's quite an accomplishment," Hatfield smiled.

The return of Depew to the lineup coincides with the return of regular shortstop Steve Binney. Binney has been attending engineering school for the past two weeks.

With both Binney and Depew back, the lineup figured to go against the talented Medford Legion nine at Camp White Wednesday night finds Dave Saks catching, Blake Griggs (3-1) pitching with Central Point and is then off to Sweet Home for a two-day two-game stand against the Sweet Home nine.

The next home appearance for the local squad comes at the end of next week.

Griggs is holding a 308 for his nine games to date while relief pitcher Gary Bobber has racked up a cool 400 in four games.

Slated to get the nod from Medford coach John Kotenz as the crew most likely able to knock unbeaten KF squad off its perch are catcher Jim Barry, pitcher Jerry Anderson, first baseman Lowell Dean, second sacker Ray Stewart or Ray Konapasek, third baseman Cal Dean, shortstop Ken Durkee and outfielders Wayne Thompson, Sam Oedingen, Bob Quinney or Konapasek.

Following their Wednesday match with Medford the K Falls nine returns across the Green Springs for a Friday night test.
