

Arrowhead Display Set

LAKEVIEW—Twenty five thousand dollars worth of arrowheads, a display of cattle brands and scale model of a uranium concentration mill are features of the Lake County booth at the Oregon Centennial Exposition Center.

The arrowheads, arranged in a covered wagon and Indian head design, are valued at more than $25,000 and are considered one of the most valuable collections of its type in the nation. Complementing the arrowheads is a display of semi-precious stones and rare rock formations which are indigenous to the county. Although no cash value has been placed on the stones, they are considered extremely valuable.

A display of over 40 cattle brands gives the viewer some idea of the flourishing cattle industry in Lake County. While totally unrecognizable to the non-cowboy type individual, the brands give an authentic taste of the Old West.

Highlighting the exhibit is a model of the new uranium concentration mill near Lakeview. The mill is one of the many new industries moving into Lake County.

Also on display in conjunction with the Lake County booth is an exhibit by the Order of the Antelope. The Order of the Antelope is a group of Lake County men dedicated to preserving scarce antelope herds. On July 17, 18 and 19 the order will have its annual meeting at the Hart Mountain Antelope Refuge. Representatives from almost every state in the union are expected to attend the invitational affair.

One of the most distinctive souvenir pieces for Centennial visitors is available at the booth. Nationally known as the Lake County "Buck," the souvenir is a leather cowhide dollar.

Girls' Trip Made In Vain

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Two girls hitchhiked here from St. Louis to see TV's Wyatt Earp, actor Hugh O'Brien, only to learn that he's in Laconia, N.H., playing in summer stock.

The hikers are Jean Thacker, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Thacker, Vienna, Ill., and Jean Holman, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Holman, London, England.

They met in St. Louis at a Salvation Army hotel for girls while working at vacation jobs. Finding a mutual admiration for O'Brien, they headed west on U.S. Highway 66 Wednesday night.

"The only man who got fresh was the first one who picked us up," said Miss Holman. "He's still driving around St. Louis with two black eyes."

Monday they thumbed a ride from Earl Abbott, 40, an engineer, who telephoned his wife, who said bring them home. She manages a Hollywood apartment house.

Former Cuba AF General Sought By Government

By HAROLD K. MILKS
HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's government today sought the arrest of Maj. Pedro Luis Diaz Lanz after he resigned his command of the Cuban air force and charged that Communists had infiltrated Castro's armed forces.

The whereabouts of Diaz were a mystery. There was speculation that he had gone underground or fled from Cuba.

Diaz turned in his resignation to President Manuel Urrutia and leveled the Red charges after returning to duty from a month's absence attributed to typhoid fever.

Maj. Juan Almeida, who commanded the air force in Diaz's absence, was named to succeed him. A few hours later Almeida ordered his predecessor's arrest and accused him of desertion, treason, robbery and dealing with members of ex-president Fulgencio Batista's regime.

Diaz in his letter of resignation had accused Almeida of trying to supplant him because of his outspoken opposition to Communist influence on Castro's government and his army.

Almeida ordered Diaz's arrest after conferring with Castro and his brother, Maj. Raul Castro, commander of Cuba's armed forces.

The new air force chief said Diaz had been under investigation for crimes "to which he must answer before revolutionary tribunals." He charged that Diaz had raised the cry of Communist infiltration "when he saw he was unable to continue with his robbery."

Almeida added that, as a result of Diaz's defection, some persons already had been arrested.

Diaz's charge was the first from a member of the revolutionary high command. Castro has repeatedly denied similar charges from outside the ranks of his revolutionary forces.

Meanwhile official sources said that a police raid on the home of a former U.S. Navy pilot had foiled a plan to invade Nicaragua by air and sea.

The raid on the suburban home of Capt. Paul Hughes of Atlanta, Ga., who had been an adviser to the Cuban rebel air force, led to the seizure of a large arms cache and the roundup of nearly 200 volunteers—most of them Nicaraguans—for the reported expedition against president Luis Somoza.

Two other Americans were reported detained with Hughes. They were identified as Efran R. Pichardo, a Miami attorney, and Joseph Bardor of Los Angeles, who said he was a movie producer. Police also picked up a British free lance journalist identified as Carl John Wilson.

Phone Chief Will Retire

Frank A. Dresslar, vice president and general manager, Oregon area, for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, has announced his intention of retiring from his position with the company on August 31, 1959, stated Thayne W. Cole, Klamath Falls manager. He will have completed over 40 years of service with the company.

He has been active in many civic affairs, serving as vice president of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, president of the Oregon Highway Lifesavers, president of the United Fund, and has served on the boards of Standard Insurance Company and Title and Trust Company.

It is planned to appoint F. M. Mitchell, presently assistant vice president and general manager, to succeed Dresslar, effective September 1, 1959.

Following his graduation from Oregon State College in 1927, Mitchell joined Pacific Telephone at Corvallis and has come up through the ranks in various management capacities in Pendleton and Portland. For the past eight years he has been assistant vice president in Portland. He also has taken an active interest in many community affairs.

Lemonade To Cool City

BLUEFIELD, W. Va. (AP)—Free lemonade will be on tap today in this mountaintop city, thanks to an overheated thermometer.

Bluefield, often called "Nature's Air-Conditioned City," likes to boast that a temperature of 90 is seldom reached. The Chamber of Commerce has a standing offer of free lemonade to all comers when that occurs.

The chamber was caught unprepared by Tuesday's 90-degree reading but promised free lemonade today.

The last time the chamber went into the lemonade business was in mid-July 1957.
